'SPIRIT OF GOODWILL COULD SETTLE CRISIS'

VIENNA (AP)—UN Secretary-General U Thant said today the Viet Nam problem could be settled on the basis of the 1954 Geneva agreement on Indochina "if there only is a spirit of goodwill on the part of all concerned."

Thant made the statement at a press conference after a two-day meeting of the United Nations administrative committee for co-ordination in Vienna.

Asked to comment on the Soviet agreement to take part in an East-West conference on Cambodia, he said:

"The calling of an international conference to consider and discuss the neutrality of Cambodia is a very useful step toward stabilizing this area in Southeast Asia."

Quake Damage In Millions; Schools Close

SEATTLE (AP)—Washington State counted five dead today, scores injured and damage in the millions of dollars in the wake of the Pacific Northwest's worst earthquake in more than a decade.

In Seattle, the hardest hit area, Frank Brock, assistant superintendent of schools, said the loss to the system "should easily be in excess of $1,000,000."

Eight public schools were closed and two may not be back in operation for some time, he said.

Ensley Llewellyn, state civil defence director, said it was impossible to give an accurate damage estimate until reports from around the state had been compiled.

Llewellyn estimated damage to light fixtures and elevator shafts in the state Capitol building at Olympia at $200,000 and damage to road and railway in the area at possibly another $200,000.

BRIDGES SWAYED

Some roads heaved upward, others sagged downward; bridges swayed and some freeway ramps buckled as the tremor rolled through at 8:29 a.m. Thursday.

Raymond Haughton, 52, and Eugene Goulet, 40, were near a 14-storey tower at the Fisher Flouring Mills when a 50,000-gallon wooden water tank atop the structure exploded. Torrents of water and twisted timbers cascaded down upon them. Haughton died, Goulet was critically injured.

Adolphus Lewis, 60, was killed downtown when a concrete parapet fell on him.

Mrs. James Johnson, 56, of Seattle, died while talking on the telephone. Mrs. Ethel Webb, 75, Tacoma, and Zenola Lorenz, Olympia, were found dead. All were victims of heart attacks.

More than 30 persons were injured and treated at hospitals in the Seattle area. Dozens were reported to have suffered minor injuries elsewhere.

Seismologists said the earthquake registered 6.5 to 7 on the Richter scale. The Alaska earthquake of March 27, 1964 was rated at 8.3 on the Richter scale. That one killed 113.

TREMOR KILLED EIGHT

Sixteen years ago the Pacific Northwest was jolted by an earthquake that registered 7 on the scale. That tremor April 13, 1949, killed eight persons and did $25,000,000 in property damage.

The epicentre of Thursday's quake was in the vicinity of Dabob Bay on Hood Canal, about 30 miles west-northwest of Seattle.

Buildings swayed and windows rattled on Vancouver Island and 300 miles inland at Trail, B.C. It was felt in northern Idaho, western Montana and Oregon, but no injuries or

Indian Terms Rejected

A government spokesman said the Indian-Pakistan fighting could not end on terms suggested by Indian Prime Minister Shastri.

India demanded restoration of the status quo before the fighting erupted April 9. This would mean Pakistan would have to withdraw from areas it considers to be Pakistani.

London and Washington are both trying to bring an end to the fighting in the barren wasteland about 150 miles southeast of Karachi. British and American envoys in both countries have been actively working for a ceasefire.

An official Indian spokesman charged in New Delhi Thursday night that a Pakistani brigade—about 3,000 fighting men — was moving southwest from Biar Bet deeper into Indian territory in the Kutch and was being shelled by Indian guns.

Pakistani Defence Minister Y. B. Chaven would not give details of the fighting, saying "it would not be in the interests of the security of the forces fighting there."

An official Indian spokesman said the Indian Army would make a stand "at a place advantageous to us."

India has claimed 300 Pakistanis have been killed, wounded or captured. It put Indian losses at 65. The Indians also claim to have destroyed 10 U.S.-supplied Pakistani tanks.

Pakistani Maj.-Gen. Tikka Khan said 350 Indian troops have been killed. He said 45 Indians have been captured, including two officers.

Canadians Quit Santo Domingo

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has been in contact with all Canadians in the Dominican Republic to find out whether they want to be evacuated from the country because of civil strife.

The external affairs department reported today that all Canadian women and children in the capital of Santo Domingo, except for one family have been evacuated.

Canadians 'Prisoners' For 3 Days

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says that close to 1,000 tourists including Canadians were virtual prisoners for three days in a Santo Domingo luxury hotel during the civil strife in the Dominican Republic.

In a story by Martin Goodman from San Juan, Puerto Rico, the paper says Stanton J. Burkett of Leaside, Ont., and T. Gordon Ramsay, a Canadian living in Nassau, Bahamas, were playing golf at Santo Domingo last Saturday when shooting broke out in the capital.

Accompanied by their wives, they were attending a convention of the Master Brewers' Association of America. They were called back to the sanctuary of their hotel.

'Friendship Can Stand Frankness'

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

BURLINGTON, Vermont — Prime Minister Pearson said here today it was not inconsistent with good neighborhood for Canadians to be "worried at times about the decisions which the United States government may make and which are bound to affect and even involve Canadians."

The prime minister was referring to the critical situation in Viet Nam. He had just received an honorary degree of doctor of laws at the honors day convocation of the University of Vermont. It was presented by U.S. Senator George Aiken (Rep.—Vermont), a strong critic of President Johnson's bombing raids policy in Viet Nam.

Mr. Pearson reaffirmed the right of Canadians to criticize in a friendly, good-neighborly fashion the policies of the U.S.

But the speech was a far cry from the outspoken vigorous statement on American Viet Nam policy he made earlier this month in Philadelphia, proposing a "pause at the right time" in American bombing of North Viet Nam.

ANNOYED LBJ

That Philadelphia proposal was reported from Washington to have aroused the annoyance of President Johnson. And the Burlington speech was non-controversial in comparison and contained a strong plea that Canadians and Americans continue to judge each other more criti-

Big Battle Raging In Capital

SANTO DOMINGO (CP) — U.S. marines with five tanks at their command today established an "international zone" of nine square miles in strife-torn Santo Domingo, capital of the Dominican Republic.

Without incident, they set up their lines to protect American lives in a strip running three miles along the waterfront and inland for 15 blocks to the U.S. Embassy.

Officials said the situation was rapidly approaching anarchy—a total absence of government law and order.

As the marines moved into Santo Domingo, 1,000 troops of the U.S. 82nd Airborne Division were landed at San Isidro air base 20 miles east of the city. U.S. officials said in all 4,000 will be landed, swelling U.S. forces in Santo Domingo to more than 5,000.

The Organization of American States was said to have sanctioned the international zone for the safety of refugees while rival Dominican forces fought on.

The U.S. said the troops were landed only to protect American lives and property.

A major battle was raging in Santo Domingo between leftist rebels and loyalist forces, a U.S. embassy spokesman said.

The official said casualties totalled several hundred dead and wounded.

Before today's fighting, estimates of casualties in the civil war ranged between 400 to more than 1,000 dead and more than 1,200 wounded.

ASKED FOR HELP

The military junta formed two days ago announced it had appealed for intervention by American troops to help restore order, but U.S. officials said action other than to protect American lives and property would require authorization from the Organization of American States.

However, President Johnson's administration was authoritatively reported in Washington to be on the alert for action to meet any Communist threat to take over the Dominican Republic or plunge it into a Communist "war of liberation."

The rebellion was launched by a group of young army artillery officers seeking to return ousted president Juan Bosch to office But U.S. officials in Santo Domingo and other observers believe no one now is in control—or could regain control—of the armed rebel bands, which include many young civilians.

U.S. officials hinted strongly that it would be necessary for U.S. troops to occupy Santo Domingo to end the fighting.

Armed with light machineguns and other automatic weapons, several thousand rebels were reported still holding out in the centre of this bullet-

U.S. URGES ALLIES TO GIVE ASSISTANCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States pressed its OAS allies today to take up immediately the task of saving lives and restoring peace and order in the revolt-torn Dominican Republic.

Officials said that, under action by the Organization of American States, Washington would welcome quick participation by the troops of other American states in the Dominican rescue operation.

Steel Takeover Gamble Pushed By U.K. Labor

LONDON (UPI)—The British Labor government announced today in a white paper it plans to nationalize 13 of Britain's biggest steel firms.

Wilson's white paper came one day after the announcement that Britain's private enterprise steel industry set a new output record in 1964 of 25.8 million tons. The industry is propelled largely by the 13 firms affected.

A nationalization bill to be presented to Parliament later is expected to touch off one of the most explosive political battles here in years. Some observers believe it could bring down the Wilson government which has only a four-vote majority in Parliament.

Wilson campaigned on a platform calling for nationalization of steel. Both the opposition Conservatives and the Liberals came out strongly against it. Wilson's majority is expected to be cut to three in a local election next Thursday—and three Laborites do not go along with steel nationalization.

The price tag is expected to run between $1.2 billion and $1.4 billion.

STATE CONTROL

A 14th firm, Richard Thomas and Baldwin, also was named in the white paper. But all but a small part of that firm was nationalized 15 years ago and has been under state ownership since. Inclusion was believed to be merely a bookkeeping detail.

The 13 firms named, plus Richard Thomas, own all 22 integrated iron and steel works in Britain and 42 other iron and steel works. From their plants come more than 90 per cent of Britain's annual production of iron ore, pig iron, crude carbon steel, heavy steel products and sheet steel.

Another 300 firms will be left in private hands but they are only the small fry of the industry.

WIRE BRIEFS

Jobs Seeking Trained Men

TORONTO (CP) — William Thompson, director of the National Employment Service, says Canada is confronted with the tightest labor market for skilled workers since 1958.

Mr. Thompson said in an interview the shortage, particularly in professional and semi-professional categories, extends across Canada.

Special U.S. Message

NEW YORK (AP)—Pope Paul will deliver a special message to the American people Monday in a live television broadcast from Vatican City, via the Early Bird satellite, NBC announced today.

Canada Not Asked

OTTAWA (CP) — There has been no suggestion made to the government that Canada supply military personnel or equipment in Viet Nam, External Affairs Minister Martin said today in the Commons.

U.S. Warning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The state department said today the United States would take defensive measures if necessary to protect U.S. planes flying over international waters. The department issued the warning in condemning what it called an "unprovoked attack" by two North Korean MiGs on a U.S. RB47 reconnaissance plane Wednesday.

Canal Completed

QUESNEL (CP)—Workers today completed a canal to divert flooding Baker Creek from West Quesnel. However town officials said a state of emergency would continue for about three days.

Marine Landing Arouses 'Bitterness' Among Latins

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The U.S. landing in the Dominican Republic aroused criticism and bitter memories among Latin Americans today. "They'll be stoning U.S. embassies all over," said one Latin American diplomat at the United Nations.

President Raul Leoni of Venezuela, in telegrams to President Arturo Illia of Argentina and Eduardo Frei of Chile, was reported to have termed the U.S. action an "invasion" and a "violation of the treaties of the Organization of American States."

Frei replied that he agreed completely.

Argentine Foreign Minister Angel Zavala Ortiz said he wouldn't pass judgment on the American action—"the Organization of American States must do that."

"Perhaps the United States had reason in this occasion to intervene in the Dominican Republic with the purpose of protecting its citizens," he said.

(Article 17 of the OAS charter states that the territory of any member state "may not be the object, even temporarily, of military occupation or of other measures of force taken by another state, directly or indirectly, on any grounds whatever.")

URGES COMMON ACTION

Frei called for "common action to bring to an end the bloodshed among the Dominican people . . . and to avoid a dictatorship of any kind."

Peruvian Foreign Minister Fernando Schwalb said it was understandable that the U.S. government wanted to protect its citizens." But, he added, "in this case this has been done in detriment of the sovereignty of an independent nation."

The Mexican foreign ministry, referring to previous U.S. marine occupations of the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Nicaragua and Mexico's Veracruz, the ministry said it "regrets, without disregard to the humanitarian reasons invoked, that the U.S government has been forced to order a step which evokes painful thoughts among several countries of this hemisphere."

Latin American diplomats at the UN greeted with public reserve U.S. chief delegate Adlai E Stevenson's letter to the Security Council stating "U.S. forces had been sent to the Dominican Republic "to protect American citizens still there and to escort them to safety from the country."

But privately the diplomats predicted that the public reaction in Latin America would be bad. Some said the affair would help Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

From the Communist camp came the expected condemnation.

DISGUISED BEATRIX RECOGNIZED BY PHOTOGRAPHER

Princess Tours 'Red Light' District

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (UPI)—Salvation Army Maj. Alida M. Boshardt admitted today it was "stupid" for her to enter a cafe in the heart of Amsterdam's "red-light" district with Crown Princess Beatrix.

The Dutch princess, an eager student of social welfare conditions at all levels, donned a pair of old-fashioned spectacles, a shabby overcoat and a wig, took an armful of Salvation Army pamphlets and accompanied Major Boshardt on her usual round through the red-light district Wednesday night.

One of the cafes they entered was "Hoppe's," known to be a meeting place of journalists and photographers. It was there that Princess Beatrix was recognized by Peter Zonneveld, a photographer for the Amsterdam daily newspaper "Ce Telegraaf."

"It was very stupid for me to enter that cafe," Major Boshardt said. "I should have known better."

The Salvation Army woman officer said the trip had been agreed upon two years ago and that the princess had been warned of the risks involved, such as drunks and fights. But Princess Beatrix insisted on going and so the two women went out on the town Wednesday night.

Two plainclothes policemen who discreetly followed the two women convinced Zonneveld that he had recognized the princess, despite her disguise. He knew the policemen from past assignments.

When the photographer suddenly started taking pictures of her, Princess Beatrix leaped on the back seat of Major Boshardt's bicycle and the two women fled down a dark street.

Major Boshardt said she and the princess visited a few prostitutes in their rooms. They also visited the apartment of a large destitute family where the birthday of the youngest member was being celebrated.

Princess Beatrix was served coffee and cake and took part in the conversations with the family after Major Boshardt introduced her as "someone interested in the social work of the Salvation Army."

It was only the next morning that the mother saw the pictures of the princess in her disguise in the Telegraaff.

Major Boshardt said the woman telephoned to ask her, "I haven't said anything crazy, have I."

WASHINGTON—The marines like cantle pieces and that's one reason why the U.S. government spends hundreds of thousands of dollars too much on raincoats, says Comptroller General Joseph Campbell.

A cantle piece, Campbell explained to a joint economic subcommittee of Congress, is a triangular piece of cloth sewn into a man's coat at the back vent, and its original purpose was: "To provide a rider on horseback with additional protection from inclement weather since it spreads over the cantle or back part of the saddle when the vent opens."

Campbell didn't go into the question how many present-day marines ride horses, but he did say the army has agreed to give up cantle pieces on its raincoats while "the marine corps has decided to retain the cantle piece, in our opinion, without adequate justification."

If the marines would surrender and use the back-pleat design adopted by the army, auditors said, marine raincoats would cost 51 cents less. Navy raincoats have a slit vent, while air force coats have no vent at all. If all the services used the air force design, the auditors said, $711,700 could be saved during the next three years.

ELMWOOD, Ill. — Frank Dismang, a 66-year-old former truck driver, sat down for breakfast Aug. 10, 1963, and hiccupped. He hasn't stopped since.

"It's not only monotonous, it's just about gotten me down," Dismang said Thursday.

He has been to three hospitals and has undergone one operation without success. The doctors, Dismang said, are stumped.

"I'm not a drinking man," said Dismang, "but I drank whisky out of an aluminum pan and drank lemon juice and vodka and things people told me would cure my hiccups. They didn't work.

Dismang, who now works as a porter, estimated he hiccups twice a minute. He said he tries to hold his breath to control the constant strain, which tends to make him nervous.

"It's not funny," said Dismang.

LONDON — British lawyers now are permitted to appear before the House of Lords in what to traditionalists must rank as devastatingly informal attire. To be precise, shortie wigs have been approved.

The House of Lords, besides being the Upper House of the legislature, also acts as Britain's highest court of appeal. In the old days, whenever a case got that far, counsel had to appear before their lordships in full-bottomed wigs which dangled down to the collar.

Now they can use the ordinary legal wig which, as worn in ordinary courts, nestles comfortably above the ears.

The old style was much criticized on the ground that its weight made for scratchiness on a bald pate and its length contributed to hardness of hearing.

VENICE, Italy—The gondoliers of Venice, fed up with motorboats, went on strike Thursday in protest against the machines that threaten to put them out of business.

The 54 gondoliers who operate from St. Mark's Square protested the issuance of a municipal docking permit for four motorboats.

The pier has space for only 36 gondolas and the motorized competition is just too much to bear, the gondoliers complained.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—"Boy, this place is like an oven!" Mrs. Richard D. McCormick said Thursday that she returned home after a week's vacation with her two children and found her house baked to a turn.

Mrs. McCormick blamed a faulty shut-off furnace valve for raising the temperature to 200 degrees for seven days, practically cooking every item in the home. Her husband was away with a golf team.

The heat loosened glue in all the furniture, split plaster in the walls and ceilings and melted phonograph records and golf balls. It even cooked stored food—including 700 pounds of meat in the freezer.

"Doors won't open, windows won't shut," she added. Walls, lamp shades, rugs and furniture all were baked an even light brown.

"If the children and I hadn't come back a day early, the place would have blown up, I'm sure," said Mrs. McCormick. Her chemistry professor-husband and firemen agreed.

Loyalist planes under the command of Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, the maintay of government support against the rebels, were reported to have bombed rebel positions in Santo Domingo today.

One unit of marines guarded the U.S. Embassy. Thursday they killed two rebel snipers who fired at them from a rooftop and apartment windows.

Embassies of El Salvador, Peru, Mexico and Ecuador reported similar sniper attacks.

SEEKS CEASEFIRE

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, attending a meeting of the OAS council which lasted until the early hours today, proposed that the hemispheric organization send a peace committee to Santo Domingo to seek a ceasefire.

The OAS called a meeting in Washington Saturday of foreign ministers to deal with the "grave situation."

In Santo Domingo, U.S. Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett said he had conferred several times with leaders of both sides in quest of a ceasefire but had failed in each attempt.

Thousands were reported injured in the fighting or in strafing and bombing attacks by planes operating from the junta's headquarters at the San Isidro air base, 20 miles from the centre of Santo Domingo.

In many cases, emergency surgery was performed without anesthetics. The city was largely without electricity or water.

SET UP CENTRE

The U.S. marines had set up an evacuation centre at a polo field near the posh Embajador (Ambassador) Hotel on the outskirts of Santo Domingo U.S. officials said Thursday night that 1,400 refugees had been evacuated. They said 650 were waiting at the hotel and at the polo grounds, and many others were still in Santo Domingo.

Evacuees taken to the polo field waited for helicopters to take them to the aircraft carrier Boxer offshore.

AFTER FIVE-DAY PARLEY WITH FRENCH

Close, Converging Views Says Gromyko

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS (AP)—Foreign Minister Gromyko of Russia said today he had been happy to learn that the French position on Germany "starts from the existence of two German states."

Later, French officials said Gromyko had used language that could lead to a misunderstanding. "The French government accepts the fact that Germany is still divided and this does not imply on its part any recognition of the East German Republic."

Gromyko spoke at a press conference ending five days of talks with French President de Gaulle and other French officials.

Concerning Germany, he said he was happy to learn of the "realistic position of the French government, whose position starts with the existence of two German states."

Since the Second World War, the official position of the Western Allies has been that the only legal government in Germany is that of West Germany and that it ultimately will be reunited with East Germany.

Gromyko said France and the Soviet Union had "close and converging" views on two aspects of the German situation.

One, he said, was the unchangeability of frontiers determined by four-power agreements after the war and the other was "prevention of the nuclear armament of the federal government of (West) Germany."

He added that East Germany repeatedly had proposed that West Germany join in an agreement to ban nuclear arms from both territories.

He reiterated the promise of Soviet aid to North Viet Nam to defend itself against U.S. bombardment and again demanded withdrawal of all American troops from Viet Nam.

While he agreed that a conference should be called to settle the problem of Viet Nam, "the decisive settlement rests directly with the parties most directly concerned—the United States and Viet Nam," Gromyko said.

New Yukon Highway

NDP MOTION

Absent MPs Help Liberals Survive Vote

OTTAWA (CP) — Members of Parliament took time out from the Stanley Cup finals telecast Thursday night to sustain the minority Liberal government in office by a vote of 106 to 90.

The Liberals were saved by the absence of 37 opposition MPs, including 28 Conservatives, as a New Democratic non confidence motion came to a vote on the second day of the budget debate.

The motion criticized the government for failing to boost old age pensions to $100 a month from $75 and failing to increase basic income tax deductions to $3,000 from $2,000 for married taxpayers and to $1,500 from $1,000 for single persons.

Attendance in the House dipped to about 30 before the vote as MPs congregated around office and portable TV sets to watch the sixth game of the Montreal-Chicago National Hockey League finals.

Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson and his three colleagues from the West were the only opposition MPs to vote with the Liberals. Their spokesman in the debate, Bert Leboe (Cariboo), said they supported the aims of the motion but would vote against it to avoid precipitating a general election.

Many other opposition MPs are known to oppose an early election. A government defeat on a non-confidence motion would provoke the immediate dissolution of Parliament.

ENDORSE THE MOTION

The NDP motion was endorsed by 63 Conservatives, 15 New Democrats, 10 Creditistes and the two Quebec independents, Leon Balcer and Remi Paul New Democratic Leader Douglas was among the absentees. Three Conservatives said they were paired.

Opposing the motion were 102 Liberals—26 Liberals were absent—Mr. Thompson, Mr. Leboe, H. A. Olson (SC—Medicine Hat) and A. B. Patterson (SC—Fraser Valley).

Three Social Credit MPs from Quebec missed the vote and two others abstained—Guy Marcoux (Quebec - Montmorency) and Marcel Lessard (Lac St. Jean).

Mr. Lessard said he is not convinced that the Conservatives or the NDP could perform better than the Liberals if they were in office.

The government, six seats short of a clear majority in the 265-seat Commons, now has survived four tests of confidence in the new session. The next test will come Monday when the House divides on a Conservative motion.

Larry Pennell, parliamentary secretary to Finance Minister Gordon, said the NDP motion was irresponsible and would reduce federal revenues by $1 150,000,000 annually.

'WOULD BOOST TAXES'

To make up for this loss, the government would either have to boost corporation taxes by 24 per cent or increase the sales tax to 18 per cent of the value of goods from 11.

Colin Cameron (NDP—Nanaimo-Cowichan — the Islands), who introduced his party's motion Wednesday, questioned Mr. Pennell's figures.

Alvin Hamilton (PC—Qu-appelle) said Mr. Gordon hurt Canadian exporters and ignored advice from the Economic Council of Canada by failing to repeal the sales tax on production machinery.

There was a serious threat of inflation and the 10-per-cent income tax cut announced in Monday's budget would add to the danger.

He called for tax concessions to "family firms" earning up to $100,000 annually and to exporters. More co-ordination was needed between the federal and provincial governments and various departments to develop trade.

Gilles Gregoire, Creditiste financial critic, said the economy is not as rosy as the budget speech claimed. Unemployment was more widespread than official statistics indicated.

Mr. Leboe said smoking is harmful to health and cigarette advertising gives youngsters bad ideas.

DECLARED WINNER of the United Steelworkers Union presidential election is I. W. Abel, 56, who defeated long-time chieftain David McDonald by 10,000 votes. Official tally after marathon count was 308,910 to 298,768.

B.C. Accidents Show Increase Over Last Year

Accidents, fatalities and property damage on B.C. roads rose sharply during the first three months of this year, the Motor Vehicle Branch reported today.

Accidents climbed by 801 over last year's corresponding total of 8,176 to produce an increase of 10 per cent.

Fatalities rose 7 per cent with a jump from 72 to 77 but injuries fell 3 per cent to a total of 3,312 for the period.

Property damage rose 14 per cent to a total of $4,685,476.

Mississippi Hammers Reinforced Barricades

QUINCY, Ill. (AP)—The Mississippi River hammered at western Illinois, eastern Iowa and northeastern Missouri today as reinforced dikes held back the surging waters.

The crest receded from its 22.48-foot record at Rock Island, Ill., and advanced toward Keithsburg, Ill., a town of 963 and 55 miles downstream from the Rock Island - Davenport, Iowa, industrial complex.

At Fulton, Ill., Governor Otto Kerner called out 30 more National Guardsmen to help the 3,400 residents in the town surrounded by water.

The Red Cross estimates the Mississippi flooding has made more than 38,000 persons homeless. Red Cross workers are feeding 11,650 flood volunteers and housing 1,375 evacuees in 19 shelters along the Mississippi

DIKES GIVE WAY

Most of Quincy's 45,000 residents live on a high bluff overlooking the river. But the dike protecting an industrial complex along the river burst Wednesday night.

Later, three secondary levels also gave way, one developing a 300-foot gash. But most of the 5,500-acre area remained undamaged behind sandbags.

Quincy has become a railway centre because of the floods. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad and other carriers rerouted their main lines through the city because Quincy is one of the few points where they can cross the river.

The river hit a 24.81-foot crest at Muscatine, Iowa, and immediately began to drop.

At Hannibal, Mo., boyhood home of writer Mark Twain, the river is due to crest Sunday at 25 feet, the highest in the city's history. Six to 18 inches of water covered 15 city blocks, forcing 23 Hannibal families from their homes.

Spacemen Plan Peek-a-Boo

WASHINGTON (AP)—Project Gemini astronauts reported Thursday they plan to open their space craft and stick their heads out on the next mission, if equipment is available in time.

They will not, however, venture outside the craft as did a Russian cosmonaut on the most recent Soviet flight.

St. John Plans Annual Field Day On Saturday

St. John Ambulance will present its 25th annual field day Saturday starting at 10 a.m. at Central Junior High School.

Following the junior events in the morning the senior competitions will begin at 1:30 p.m.

First and second prizes will be awarded in all events, but trophies will not be presented to any team making less than 75 per cent. The St. John Ambulance Association textbook (first Canadian edition) will govern all senior events. The junior textbook will govern all junior events.

Teams from south of Ladysmith will compete for the right to represent lower Vancouver Island in the provincial First Aid Competition sponsored by the Workmen's Compensation Board.

OBSERVATORY HOURS CHANGE

Public visiting hours at Dominion Astrophysical Laboratory Saturday nights will be 9 to 11 in future.

The time has been put forward one hour to coincide with daylight saving.

Taxes for Schooling

THE ARITHMETIC OF THE INcrease in Greater Victoria civic and municipal taxes this year can be explained simply.

School District 61 costs have risen 3.62 mills over last year. This is the major cause of the boost in tax rates. The rise in school costs is attributable to five factors.

The portion of teachers' salaries to which the province makes no contribution—including the recent salary increase — represents the equivalent of 1.51 mills of the 3.62.

Higher costs in the operating section, including administration, supplies and maintenance, account for .70 of a mill.

Net current capital charges, covering additions to schools, among them facilities required by the new vocational courses, add another .97 of a mill.

Combined, these represent 3.89 mills. But the figure is reduced to 3.62 by subtracting the local share of the surplus from last year and by the reduction in debt service charges.

In cash the school district has to provide $926,000 more this year.

Because assessments in the school district went up to $256,000,000 from last year's $241,000,000, the district automatically takes more from the total number of property owners through the statutory 15.91 mill rate established throughout the province for basic education.

Adding to costs, of course, is the natural increase in the student population. At January 1 this year there were 1,543 more pupils in all the district's schools than at January 1 the preceding year.

Last year the board calculated the per-pupil costs at $389.98, of which the board paid slightly more than half, the provincial government slightly less, or $186.15. Had the per-pupil cost remained the same this year the extra pupils would have called for government payments of $287,229. Instead, the increase in the provincial government grants was $113,097—less than half.

Overall per pupil costs are higher this year and the province can argue, of course, that it is also providing 22.5 cents on the dollar to the city's 10 cents for implementation of the vocational programs in secondary schools. The federal government pays the other 67.5 cents. But the cost of "streaming," which involves provision of new facilities, is necessitated by the program initiated by the government, not the city or municipalities.

The fact of the matter is that improvements in the public educational system cost money and the extra load thrown onto municipalities is becoming increasingly onerous. It will continue so until a more generous attitude is adopted by the province through allocation to education of a larger portion of provincial revenue, collectable from sources other than real estate in cities and municipalities.

The statement has been made this year that higher municipal taxes in this community will be offset by the increase in the homeowners' grant, that $15 more apportioned to most, though not all, homeowners will meet the rising costs.

This is the familiar and specious argument Mr. Bennett and his supporters have been peddling for years. By now it is generally realized that this way of buying popularity for the government is in reality merely a means by which the Social Credit administration is returning to some taxpayers some of the money collected from them as Mr. Bennett builds up annual surpluses.

Green Light on the Wards

IN RATHER STARTLING CONtrast to the controversy which raged a comparatively few weeks ago, the Royal Jubilee Hospital has announced that work will begin immediately on a $1-million program of renovation and new construction.

This is good news, for it promises an important step toward the alleviation of the bed shortage which has required three-month waits for non-emergency surgery. It includes, too, a move to increase the facilities for nurses' training, and thus should help to meet the shortage of trained staff which reportedly has been a major cause of restricted hospital accommodation.

The public may be a little bewildered by the sudden resolution of the apparently insoluble problems which brought hospital authorities, doctors and the government into heated controversy. There obviously has been some hasty reconsideration of Health Department positions, but of less importance than analysis is the fact that the needed improvements are now under way.

Completion of the new wing, renovation of the older ones, removal of the isolation wards from long-used "temporary" structures to the main block, erection of a new instruction building, provision of a new heating plant—these developments will do much to meet many of the Royal Jubilee's problems and provide a still better service for the public of this area.

The handsome gift of $150,000 from the P. A. Woodward Foundation deserves special note. This is an example of public spiritedness which has been even more notably demonstrated in Vancouver, where Mr. Woodward, of the well-known merchandising firm, a year ago announced the gift of $3.5 millions to the proposed UBC health sciences centre, and later a substantial sum to endow a new medical library at the University. Greater Victoria is now to reap the benefit of this most altruistic policy through a generous grant to the nursing school.

These improvements, plus the extensive additions being carried out at St. Joseph's Hospital, should brighten the Victoria hospital picture and ensure a continuation of the excellent service both institutions have rendered to this community. Given the tools, they will do the job.

Reaffirming De Gaullism

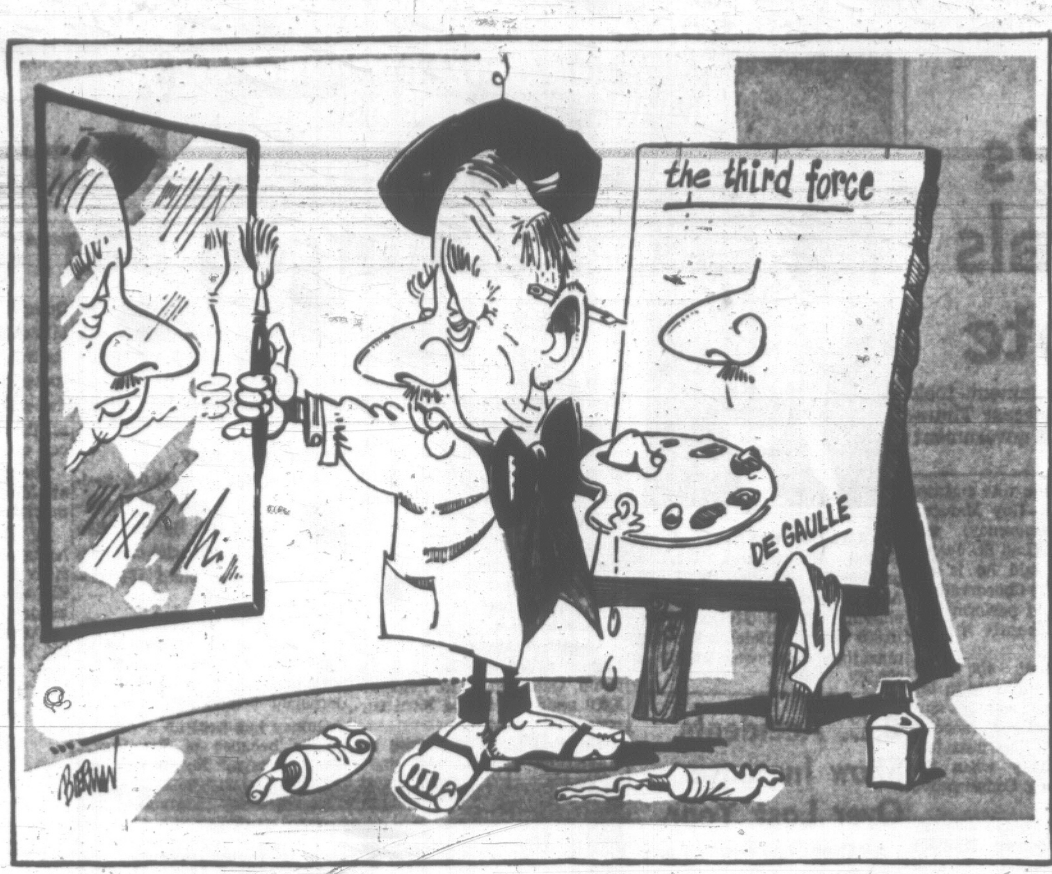
GENERAL CHARLES DE Gaulle has used a widely publicized radio and television address to reaffirm his principles of national and international policy, but has refrained from direct announcement of his intentions regarding the next French presidential elections.

The newspaper account of his speech again emphasizes his determination to preserve the identity and sovereignty of France, his unwillingness to let the Ango-Saxons establish a dominant influence in Europe or in other non-Anglo-Saxon countries, and his thesis of France-above-all.

But although the president failed to say whether he will or will not run for re-election, his restatement of the de Gaulle attitude is taken as an indication that he will again seek office. This assumption is based on a widely held belief that General de Gaulle is the only Frenchman who could impose his point of view on his countrymen.

Support for that opinion is found in the recent French municipal elections, where candidates favored by the president fared indifferently. Add to this the recent public opinion polls indicating re-election of General de Gaulle if he stands, but not of a Gaullist successor, and the conclusion is that if de Gaulle policies are going to be continued it will have to be by General de Gaulle himself.

The speech held no suggestion of conciliation to the United States, to those supporting an Atlantic community, or to those favoring a federalized Western Europe. And it is viewed, through its omission of any retirement suggestion, as a probable indication that the head of state, now in his 75th year, may be around for some time to defend his vision of French glory.



The Grand Design

—Bierman, Victoria Daily Times.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Johnson the Field Commander

Alsop

FOR members of the White House staff a fairly common morning greeting nowadays is a hint that they are slug-a-beds compared to their master, who is perfectly likely to announce: "I was up at 5 waiting to make sure that all my boys got back from that mission."

It is hard to believe but it is a fact that the President follows the bombing missions attacking North Viet Nam almost in the manner of a field commander.

He is customarily notified when the planes have gone out. He often stays up, or has himself called, or is wakened by his own internal alarm clock, to hear the mission's results. And when pilots are reported missing he has been known to stay awake through the small hours to sweat out the final recovery of the missing men by the Air-Sea Rescue Service.

All this is decidedly sympathetic, although someone ought to persuade the President that it is quite unnecessary. He has been looking a bit tired recently, and no wonder! For his new role as a field commander of operations halfway around the world must clearly cut substantially into his always minimal daily allowance of rest.

But persuading Lyndon B. Johnson to mend his ways, for his own good or for any other reason, has always been an up-hill task. The significant point to note is that the President, in some sense, really is the field commander of these remote, delicate and crucial military operations.

All targets are, in the first place, personally approved by him in committee with the secretaries of state and defence. The operational plans for each attack, the choice between approved targets dictated by weather and other considerations, the estimates of forces needed for each mission—all these matters, very naturally and properly, are left to the air officers and naval officers on the spot who have direct operational responsibility.

Informed In Detail

But even the decisions about these matters, when reached, are also reported to the President promptly and in detail. He and Secretary of Defence Robert McNamara keep a minutely close watch on the whole process, particularly including contingent orders to the pilots participating in the missions about what to do if, for example, they encounter Chinese fighter aircraft—as they have done once already over the Gulf of Tonkin.

It is a striking proof of the increased political maturity of the American armed services that there has been no grumbling or sneering about this "back seat driving," as it would surely have been called in the old days. The military leaders have seen that these operations are as much political as military. Hence there has been nothing even remotely resembling the tantrums of the higher naval command in the second Cuban crisis.

The military leaders are not the only persons who have changed markedly, however. The phenomenon is hard to define, but these last months have clearly somewhat changed the President himself.

Perhaps the best clue is the familiar experience of the man who has never been in combat; who gets into combat with the self-doubts that any normal man feels in these circumstances; and who then finds he can do what needs doing in a quite satisfactory manner. This is a truly liberating experience, as all know who have had it.

Like the man who has never been in combat, President Johnson before Pleiku had never taken quite the sort of decision that he took when the attacks on North Viet Nam were ordered at last. He now tells all and sundry that this decision involved no change of policy, that all had been foreseen and so on and on. Maybe he believes this himself. But, in fact, a very major Rubicon was crossed.

Crossing it gave the President none of the exhilaration that another sort of national leader might have felt. Being field commander now does not excite him as it would have excited Franklin Delano Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy. As someone or other remarked, "Johnson is not the sort of man who will collect ship models after he is out of office."

But one suspects, nonetheless, that he has somehow been liberated, and even enlarged, by making a cruelly hard decision that was foreign to his previous experience and by taking a task in hand that is not really to his taste. Certainly he looms much larger in the world today than on the day of his triumphant re-election.

In Moscow and Peking, in Paris and in other quarters where it is desirable to have the President of the United States regarded as pretty formidable and not to be lightly tampered with, the upward revision of the going estimates of Lyndon Johnson has been almost an audible process. And rightly so, too; for he has removed that last doubt that with any luck at all his time in office may prove to be one of the major Presidencies.

ODD APPLES OF B.C.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Caricature and Character

Hutchison

MR. ALEXANDER ROSS, an able young Vancouver journalist who defected to Toronto and Maclean's Magazine, has masked his treason and salved his conscience by writing the usual caricature of his native province. That queer Republic, as he calls it, is inhabited exclusively by Premier Bennett, a tribe of barbarous millionaires and a mass of gibbering lunatics without enough sense to come out of the drenching coastal rain which, in their peculiar mania they seem to enjoy. Poor devils.

This is good, clean, harmless sport. It won't shake the western Republic. It won't endanger the nation's unity. It wouldn't be worth considering if it didn't involve a Canadian phenomenon more important than all the wrangles of politics and all the headlines in the newspapers.

The nation, we say, is governed and held together by a constitution, 11 governments and certain laws. If we had nothing stronger than that to preserve the state it would have fallen to pieces long ago. Happily, like all nations, we have something else; in fact, many things that no constitution can define and no government can articulate.

Surrealist Portrait

Among these things are just such jolly absurdities as Mr. Ross' surrealist portrait of the far west. They may annoy a few twittering spinsters and chamber of commerce secretaries in British Columbia, they may even mislead a few prairie and eastern Canadians. But they will only make most people smile and rejoice to hear that Canada is not the stodgy, sterile conforming society, the bland gruel, of the conventional legend.

The repeated discovery that we are all so diverse and improbable, so incurably eccentric and sometimes so crazy in our local ways, does not divide us, as frightened professors of political science imagine. On the contrary, it unites us because we share a common secret. Better still, we share a joke.

Such invisible forces, not the visible apparatus of the state, make this or any nation possible. To tell the truth, most citizens distrust the state and frequently loathe it, especially in the income tax month of April. They accept the state as a necessary evil but they love the country, though according to the rules of the secret they seldom admit it.

Thus, the inside of Canada, or any man for that matter, is quite distinct from the outside, almost the opposite. It is the outside, however, that concerns the newspapers and the politicians. By the nature of their trade they cannot go much below the surface. If they try to burrow more deeply they end with monstrous parodies like Mr. Ross' Republic. The joke goes sour, as all great things do, once we expose and handle it too much.

If this sounds fanciful, consider some specific facts, if you must have facts which are generally misleading.

Mr. Ross, for example, presents a series of statistics to prove that British Columbians are more addicted to crime, promiscuity, divorce, alcohol and drugs than the people of the nation at large.

His figures doubtless are accurate, and practically meaningless. If a student is to use facts he should fasten on the significant ones but they are too dull for publication.

What would the reader of this newspaper say if, on the front page today, he found a big, black headline breathlessly reporting that 99 per cent of Canadians, even including the demented British Columbians, had never indulged in bigamy, burglary, murder, arson, bribery or narcotics?

Not News

Or suppose that instead of reporting a crime or a political oration (which are sometimes nearly indistinguishable) the paper reported the average daily behavior of the average citizen. It would hardly make a front-page story.

Joseph Doakes rose at seven this morning, ate his breakfast glumly, complained of the coffee, exchanged abrasive words with his wife, told his teen-age son that the younger generation was going straight to hell, caught the bus, arrived at his place of employment, did an honest job, came home with candy for the children, embraced his wife with ardent affection, praised her dinner, watched the hockey game on television and went to bed in excellent humor.

There is the most important and reliable story of this or any day in Canada. It is so reliable, indeed, so normal and routine, that no paper prints it.

Or if it were possible to record Mr. Doakes' mental process every moment of the day what would we find? Certainly nothing like a reproduction of today's front page, not the public problems disturbing the statesmen, businessmen, economists and assorted experts.

No, a different picture entirely would appear on the mental film of the average Canadian. It would be found, I suspect, that he devoted about five minutes, all day, to alarm about the future of the nation, that the French Canadian spent no more time than that worrying about Quebec's autonomy.

The rest of the day would be spent in purely private concerns that are none of the state's, or the newspaper's business. Mr. Doakes may be crazy, at least if he is a British Columbian, but not crazy enough to forget that he is a human being and, in the condition of all humans, remains forever alone with his anguish and his joke.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"MOM! COME AN' TRY THIS NEW CHAIR NOW! I THINK YOU'LL SAY IT'S LOTS SOFTER!"

Looking Back

From The Times of April 30, 1890:

New York: Strikes were taking place in the United States and Europe backing demands for an eight-hour day. More than 50,000 men were on strike in Chicago while several companies in New York said they are prepared to grant the shorter day. Police prevented planing mill workers in Chicago from going to work where non-union men were keeping things going. In Louisville, 1,000 carpenters struck for an eight-hour day which will be granted.

Voices Of Quebec

Montreal Le Devoir

"English, and no other language but English, shall be the sole language of instruction in all schools . . ." This is Article 203 of the Saskatchewan School Act. The use that is to be made of it is already becoming clear . . .

When a government uses legality to maintain an injustice, the same things always happen. When you want to break a strike, you start by declaring it illegal. Then you charge the strikers individually with illegality, bringing them before the courts and condemning them in good conscience, civil authority not being able to tolerate such flagrant violation of the law.

Ottawa Le Droit

The NDP has notoriously more doctrinaire socialists in its ranks than the other parties, but in the eyes of the partisans of free enterprise it is rendered less dangerous by the fact that Liberal and Conservative governments have been outbidding each other in socialist legislation for 40 years. . .

The jostled citizen undeniably counts mainly on the state to solve his individual and collective problems in the midst of onrushing urbanization and industrialization, without perhaps much considering the consequences of his abdication. Thus socialism is in the air and one ends up wondering if it should not be applied by men who really believe in it, especially since most socialists have a seductive intellectual honesty and the courage of their convictions.

And indeed it looks as if the NDP will pick up thousands of votes next election from people disgusted with the Conservative party's leadership and disappointed by the Liberals' bumbling in Parliament. . .

The doctrinaire socialist justifies his ideas in the name of human dignity, but what becomes of human dignity when we all have serial numbers like steers or lambs for the slaughter, when you can no longer do what you want with your income, when the bulk of the fortune you have built for your children goes to the state after your death, when you will soon not be able to take any initiative without the permission of a state which considers you not an adult, but a suckling child?

Sherbrooke La Tribune

The volume of our exports last year —up 19 per cent compared with 1963— is all the more impressive in that 1964 was the ninth consecutive year that saw such gains. It goes without saying that all this is most satisfying, even though certain things have been working in our favor, such as the growth of the American economy, in which we necessarily share. Our sales of wheat to the Soviet Union, China and other Communist countries also have played an important role.

But there's a factor somewhat less spectacular though deserving of consideration in this connection. This is the stability of our prices compared with those of most of our competitors. Here, Canada's manufacturers deserve praise for holding the line on prices. Last year they also increased their exports to Great Britain, the United States and the Commonwealth, and to other countries as well. All in all, it was the penetration into new markets that was largely responsible for the bigger exports.

Quebec Le Soleil

The 17th anniversary of the founding of the Organization of American States should remind Canadians, and especially their government officials, that this country still is not a member of the hemispheric group.

Membership would involve responsibilities and obligations, but there also would be advantages. Our country already is playing an active role in Latin America, especially since 1941. But our trade with nations in that area makes up only five per cent of our shipments to foreign countries. Membership in the OAS would make it possible for us to conclude more beneficial treaties with Latin American states even though considerable aid, in a variety of forms, would have to be forthcoming from Canada to begin with. . .

Now the moment seems ripe for Canada to strengthen its Latin American ties, to join up with the OAS, no matter how costly this duty may be. It would be a matter of helping the hemisphere's weaker countries to escape from their misery and, at the same time, to fight Communist attempts at infiltration. We should think of increasing and diversifying our aid to these nations. It is possible to strengthen our cultural and commercial relations with them. . .

Viet Nam and Hungary

Recent correspondence in your columns concerning Viet Nam has concentrated on either the legality or the morality of the United States policy, officially supported by Canada, in that area.

Some consideration might also be given to the expediency of that policy.

If it furthers our aims in Asia, then regardless of its illegality or its immorality that policy is unlikely to be abandoned. So far, the war has been a remarkably cheap war—only about 140 Americans were killed in action in south Viet Nam in 1963, and expenditures in that area amounted to only about 4% of the total U.S. military budget. If this policy enables us to win friends and influence people in Asia, as its supporters assert, then the policy will be maintained and extended. If, on the contrary, as columnist Walter Lippman convincingly argues, American policy has alienated most of our friends in Asia, and has forced them to unite their very divergent interests in a common anti-Americanism then that policy ought to be reversed.

Since neither party to this argument is able to accept the other's interpretation of the Asiatic reaction to American policy, it may be useful to consider the analogous situation, and a very close analogy exists, in the situation in Hungary in 1957-58.—C. S. Burchill, 1350 Dallas.

'Pop' Art and the Budget

OTTAWA — Pop artist Andy Warhol, who pads down in a loft in Greenwich Village, had a finger in Finance Minister Gordon's Monday budget. Mr. Gordon gave him no credit. Like, man, it's the Liberal government that sees the beauty in a case of Campbell's soup.

Warhol's influence is in the announcement that "The duty free item for original sculptures is amended by substituting a minimum of $75 for the requirement that the sculpture be certified as being of a cultural nature."

This harkens back to the bid of Toronto art dealer Jerrold Morris to import some of Warhol's boxes—his replicas of packing cases for soup, soap and scouring pads — as duty-free sculpture. The National Gallery's Dr. Charles Comfort said no, they weren't sculpture within the "cultural" item in the Tariff Act—and got himself called an artistic clot.

Now, thanks to Mr. Gordon's artistic sensitivity, if it's worth $75 it's duty-free art.

On the economic side, it's a pump priming budget — only I'm not sure the pump needs priming. Neither, I suspect, is Mr. Gordon. So the tax cuts smack of double-barreled political insurance. One barrel: in case the government is forced into an election this year. The other barrel: to make sure that the economic upswing now in its fourth year lasts through a 1966 election.

I would be loath to argue against the 10 per cent tax cut—but I would have liked some reassurance about inflation. Tax cut are inflationary. Price pressures are increasing, as any comparison of consumer prices this year and last quickly shows. But Mr. Gordon didn't mention inflation.

I'd also like something more than Mr. Gordon's pious hope that the provinces won't hike their taxes to put the total tax load right back where it was—say, to combat inflation!

"I would not expect provincial governments to move in to raise their income taxes," Mr. Gordon said—a comment that, to Quebec, may be something like a red flag to a bull.

But the provinces don't have to increase income taxes. They can boost gasoline taxes, cigarette taxes, sales taxes, liquor prices and so forth in the comforting knowledge that after July 1 we can all afford to pay more.

Mr. Gordon dresses up the economic nationalism of the Canada Development Corp. fairly respectably by emphasizing that capital in the amounts Canada needs may not always be available from foreign sources. True—and there's still an appeal in the homely virtues of thrift, savings and self-reliance. But the investor-voters will want dividends from their CDC investments, and the politicians will want dividends paid. Especially before an election!

Having outlawed foreign capital in the newspaper and magazine publishing businesses, the government seems under some moral obligation to ensure alternative sources. This suggests the CDC. Mr. Gordon says the CDC will "stand on its own feet, free of government control." But the government will be the largest shareholder, with 10 per cent of stock, and will swing an awful lot of weight on the CDC board. So perhaps the CDC wouldn't be an altogether desirable source of publishing capital.

The budget overall: Sugary, play it safe, don't rock the boat.

Whites Must 'Smell Racial Fear' To Understand Afro-Asian Problems

By PATRICK KEATLEY
Of The Manchester Guardian

"Numerous overseas garrisons are not consonant with the independence of Afro-Asian States today, nor with modern military conditions." —M. Pierre Messmer.

"In the military sense, the only base we retain for the defence of Africa is France herself."—M. Habib Deloncle.

Two of De Gaulle's chief policy makers spoke these words in July, 1964, at the time of the decision to close down the whole structure of military bases in Africa and to bring 21,200 soldiers home to metropolitan France. M. Messmer is Minister of Defence; M. Deloncle is the Quai d'Orsay's chief expert on Afro-Asian affairs: It is rather as if Mr. Healey and Mr. Bottomley were to join forces and announce the removal of British bases east of Suez—though let it be noted that south of Suez, across the whole sweep of black Africa, this is precisely what Britain has been doing.

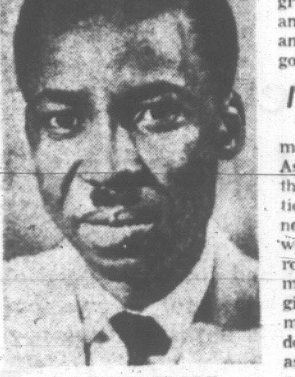
It is only fair to note also that the French pull-out from Africa is being done in stages. After the 21,200 soldiers have been air-lifted home there will remain—by agreement with the governments concerned—light detachments at four places. But these, too, are due to go; it is simply common sense to keep them on as an interim security measure while the main French force is being withdrawn.

The success of the French in sensing the new mood of Asia is one of the most striking things for any political observer who travels east of Suez today. The policy-makers in Delhi and Rawalpindi should also recognize this—not in a heavy-handed or invidious way, because relations with Britain are excellent—but simply in reference to a new diplomatic phenomenon. And the new image of France has just been implanted in Asia in a dramatic, personal way by the tour of India and Pakistan by M. Pompidou. It is an uncomfortable fact that if one goes down the list of rich Western industrial nations France is the only one whose prime minister has carried out such a journey east of Suez in many years.

In his restless pursuit of la gloire de Gaulle is, of course, possibly the greatest imperialist of them all. But he grasped the basic ground rule of Afro-Asia today, which is that the era for a military Western presence is past (how you pull out, however, is not all that easy to devise). Paradoxically the West can hope to maintain an economic foothold in countries east of Suez on a much firmer basis if the military one is relinquished. In Asia, these clumps of armed white foreigners are becoming more and more a positive irritant in domestic politics—weakening the position of the very regimes they are designed to protect. After the U-2 affair in 1960 President Ayub flatly forbade any further American operations out of Peshawar — the airfield is silent today — and accelerated his moves towards diplomatic entente with Peking. The nagging thought that haunts the leaders of democratic, pro-Western regimes in Asia now is that we in the West may again take a unilateral decision to move in new military toys.

To many of our friends in Asia, men educated in the West whose values are our values, the West presents a puzzle of perversity. We refuse to give the United Nations authority by admitting nuclear China; we are camped physically — with no indication of any departure date — on selected bits of Asia; we are prepared to by-pass the UN to extend nuclear confrontation into the Indian Ocean; and we lost no time in airlifting paratroops to save white lives in Stanleyville though we show no parallel interest in airlifts when those in danger are black people south of the Zambesi.

Dr. Julius Nyerere, the President of Tanzania, quoted an East African proverb when he was recently the guest of Mr. Chou En-lai in Peking: "When elephants fight, it is the grass that gets crushed." From this he went on to develop the thesis that Afro-Asian peoples today "long with all their hearts to build, not to destroy or be destroyed."



JULIUS NYERERE

No Threat

To us in the West it may seem odd or naive that most leaders of the small powers in Afro-Asia do not fear the Chinese bomb as we do. But they see it as no threat to their territory; rather it is China—which has shared their experience of being occupied by white men—restoring an ancient balance. We need to make a leap of the imagination to comprehend the intensity of Afro-Asian feelings about this, for we have not been through the humiliation of having armed men of a different skin color marching into our streets and houses and snatching away our national dignity.

Yet deep in our own race consciousness—for the root of this whole thing is racial—there is an episode that corresponds: the Saracen onslaught on Europe. Just the phrases—Saladin, Acre, Lepanto, the Song of Roland—are enough to stir ancient fears that still haunt the European subconscious. There was an episode in AD 732 when a Saracen spearhead force, led by Abdur Rahman, reached a point near Poitiers, a bare 200 miles from the channel. For many a Christian travelling in Asia today the evening call from a minaret is enough to conjure up the sack of St. Sophia and the Turk at the gate of Vienna.

Only if we smell that racial fear in our nostrils, that nausea in the stomach, can we grasp what it is that Africans and Asians have been through and why they never want to go back.

Imagination

The formula for an accommodation with the new Afro-Asia starts with something that costs nothing: imagination. If we can visualize how newly-proud peoples feel, then we are half way to "a positive role east of Suez" that will mean something. We may not give up our military bases tomorrow, but we might aim to do without them fairly soon—as Swedes, French, West Germans, Canadians and others do already. Their salesmen are now frequently outselling ours in the Asia of today, and the two things are connected. Lastly, for the white man venturing into Asia, be he Harold Wilson or Patrick Gordon Walker, may I recommend four lines from Burns:

O wad some pow'r the giftie gie us,
To see oursels as others
see us!
It wad frae mony a blunder
free us,

To the Point

"On the strength of the Biblical text, 'surely the murderer shall be put to death' (Numbers xxxv 16), members of a fundamentalist group in Toronto have decided that capital punishment for murderers should be retained.

"How do they feel about witches? Exodus xxii 18 reads: 'Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live'."—Editorial in the Financial Post.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

Have you ever had the feeling that somehow you had passed back in time and were living in a bygone age?

I've been experiencing something of this sensation as I've read a thin black book filled with neat, spidery writing, entrusted to me by Richard (Dick) Ferrie, who lives on what was once the Puckle Farm in Saanich.

This book holds the reminiscences of Mr. Ferrie's great-great-grandfather, Private James Gunn, Black Watch Regiment, who took part in the Peninsular War of 1793-1814 and the Battle of Waterloo in 1815.

Pte. Gunn didn't write his reminiscences until 1863. He was 80 years old then but his penmanship is clear and steady, his words lucid and his style of description factual in every detail.

He starts at "The Rock" (Gibraltar) from where his regiment set sail for Portugal to stop the French from "adding this jewel to the Bonaparte crown."

The transport was becalmed for two days and Pte. Gunn writes of entertainment arranged for the men and of "a few reels danced in the cool of the evening."

Indeed, he says "the colonel's lady was aboard and some soldiers' wives."

The regiment landed at Fort St. Julian at the mouth of the Tagus River and from there went "up to Quilla-camp out of lisbon, about three leagues" where Sir John Moore was commander-in-chief of the British army.

The little book records the advance of the British into Spain in the autumn of 1808, the troubles with unreliable Spanish troops, the way company sergeants foraged for billets each night and how the men "found" extra rations.

It speaks of "disappointing" brushes with the enemy and finally records that on Christmas Day of that year "we commenced our retreat to Corunna."

It had been an unusually severe winter and the roads were in thaw. Baggage carts got stuck at the fords, men were soaking wet most of the time, snow fell and ice was in the rivers.

Pte. Gunn said, it had been Sir John Moore's intention to embark his troops immediately but through some misunderstanding the ships rendezvoused at another port.

By the time they arrived the French were forming for battle and Sir John was forced to meet them.

Pte. Gunn's position was rear rank man next to the colors of his regiment and he records that Sir John, who had been reconnoitering the enemy's position "appeared and stood at our colors."

At first, he wrote, they could not see the enemy although they knew "they were coming on in battalions."

Finally, he said, "we were ordered to stand up, give one volley and charge."

Both Sir John and his second in command, Sir David Baird, were mounted and they followed the French as they moved off to the right. "The French commanders could see they were superior officers," wrote the private, 55 years later, "and so, the sad result!"

As everyone who ever read a history book knows, Sir John Moore was fatally wounded and was buried below the Corunna citadel ramparts at dead of night "with his martial cloak around him."

"The battle waxed hotter and hotter and the volleys continued until dark," says the reminiscences, " . . . the French doing their utmost to gain the high road to Corunna and the British as determined that they should not."

Darkness coming on "there was a hush on both sides . . . all being quiet now we were ordered to fall back to where we started."

Then came the business of "deceiving Frenchie" by leaving pickets and some men around the various campfires while the main body of troops slipped down to the beach where they were loaded into boats and taken out to the ships.

"Toward daylight the pickets and fire-watchers were withdrawn, anchors were up and we were set to sail, with each ship ordered to make the best of her way to England."

Pte. Gunn ends this part of his story with the fact that his transport "lay in Plymouth Harbor for about a month during which time we were occupied in cleansing ourselves of Spanish vermin, the only plunder we took from them . . . and well could they spare it, for surely they had a touch of Pharoah's curse!"

Problem of Election Expense Gets Consideration in Canada

By F. S. MANOR
Of The Winnipeg Free Press

In Canada the question of electoral expenses has been intermittently debated in Parliament, and it is the subject of Bill 90, which was given its first reading on April 5, 1938.

Various watered-down versions of this bill have been submitted since then, but nothing much happened until Oct. 27, 1964, when the present government announced that a committee had been established to study the question of election expenses. "This is a very complex problem which affects the basis of our democratic system," said Maurice Lamontagne in making the announcement, and he was supported in this by John Diefenbaker and members of all other parties who also approved the composition of the committee. It consists of Francois Nobert of Three Rivers, president; M. J. Coldwell, Ottawa; Gordon Dryden, Toronto; Arthur R. Smith, Calgary, and Prof. Norman M. Ward, Saskatoon.

From time to time, various suggestions were made in Parliament on how to control election expenses. Sen. C. G. Power suggested, for instance, that expenditure should be subject to a ceiling — he suggested 10 cents per voter. Moreover, the senator would have insisted on full disclosure and the disqualification of a candidate if he failed to reveal all his contributions.

Same As U.S.

Here the problem is the same as in the United States — that of committees. How can a candidate be made responsible for what private individuals may be inspired to do for him? A solution to this problem was attempted, however, both in Bill 90 and in the Quebec electoral law.

Sen. Power, who throughout the years has submitted various proposals for reform and control of electoral expenditure, now favors a system that would shift at least some of the burden of the electoral expenses to the Crown. For example, every party has to maintain agents in the various polling booths, and this might be a proper expense for the country to bear.

Modern Trend

Bill 90 did not foresee government participation in electoral expenses — a modern trend this—but it would have imposed strict control upon all electoral expenditure. Its purpose was towfold: (a) To define a procedure through which the source and distribution of all contributions for federal political purposes would be available to the public; and (b) to set a limit on expenditures which might be incurred in promoting the election of any candidates for federal office.

The bill defines a "political corporation," an entirely new concept that would cover all political bodies. For instance, an individual candidate could proclaim himself a "political corporation." Any collection of funds other than by a political corporation would be illegal. The only exception would be transportation expenses paid by the candidate out of his own pocket. No money over $5 could be contributed for political purposes except by paying it to a political corporation, which would have the statutory obligation of issuing a receipt.

A limit would be set on the amount that could be spent on broadcasting. Although this act was drafted before the advent of television, the intent of the committee and of Parliament was to set a definite figure as a limit. Any spending above such an amount would be a statutory offence both for the political corporation and for the broadcasting station.

Put In Bank

All monies received by a political corporation would have to be deposited in a chartered bank and where a deposit was made in currency, the political corporation would have to submit an additional deposit slip to the inspector-general of political corporations—a statutory post to be established under this bill—giving the names and addresses of all persons from whom such currency was received, the circumstances under which it was received, a statement that the donor was the actual owner of the currency, or who was believed to have been the actual owner, so that the contribution could be traced to the original donor.

The question of committees that can cause expenditure to be made on behalf of the candidate would be resolved by the bill which would prohibit any corporation making any payment during the election period with the exception of three political corporations in regard to any one candidate. From the time an election was called until it was over there would be only three corporations representing any one candidate: the local association, the provincial organization, and the national organization.

The candidate would have to work through these three organizations; any money advanced to him would have to be channelled through one of these organizations and expended by them so that control could be kept on the three political corporations.

No Amount Set

No amount was set in the draft bill as being the maximum amount allowed to be spent by each candidate, this having been left for discussions. However, suggestions ranged from 15 to 25 cents per elector.

The electoral law of Quebec, enacted in 1963, has embodied many of these suggestions as well as experiences from other countries. And, for the first time in Canada, a part of election expenses is defrayed from public funds.

The act, which is most comprehensive, containing 427 sections, has yet to be tested in a general election.

Communicating With Space Poses Enormous Problems

By TOM MARGERISON

LONDON—"Quasar CTA-102 Calling Earth" announced the headlines of the newspapers last week. Of course it was all a false alarm, a bit of Russian nonsense demolished with a stern word or two from Western scientists.

But suppose the hissing and clicking in the Russian astronomers' loudspeaker really was a message from outer space, how would we know? How would we reply? And if we wanted to search for such messages where would we look?

A lot depends on how far distant these other beings are. Dr. Stephen Dole of the Rand Corporation calculated that there are probably some 640 million earth-like planets of some other sun in our own galaxy.

If they were uniformly distributed in space this would put about 50 earth-like planets within 100 light years of us. (A light year is 5.8 million million miles, the distance a flash of light or a radio signal would travel in empty space in a year.) The chance that one of these planets will contain life is fairly high.

But of course the farther away the other people are the more difficult it is for them to communicate with us. First, they need higher powered radio transmitters (assuming that they would choose to use radio). With our present technology and given unlimited funds we would find it hard to communicate over even 10 light years.

Secondly, the space people must have reached this stage of development, when the message left their planet around the year 1465. If we look still farther out in space the inhabitants, if they are to communicate with us, must be still further advanced in their technology.

Assumptions

Having got so far in developing mammoth radio transmitters and wanting to communicate with fellow inhabitants of the galaxy, we must assume that the space people understand radio-astronomy and have already discovered all the various kinds of natural radio sources. Their aim must be to compete with nature and produce a signal which will travel the greatest distance, be clearly distinguishable from natural radio sources, and of a character which would show that its originators were intelligent beings.

The main difficulty is to decide what wavelength to choose. Anybody who has searched the short wave-band looking for a particular station knows how difficult it is to find without a label on the dial. What wavelength would the space people choose? American scientists have favored searching on a length of about eight inches, a wavelength familiar to every radio astronomer because it is emitted by hydrogen gas in space. The Russians have suggested the space people would be more subtle than this and would transmit on a range of wavelengths centred on the ones known to travel best and farthest.

Either way the real problem is what type of message would they send? If they sent a rapidly repeated signal, on off, on off, it would be readily lost in noise. A much slower repetition would be readily confused with natural radio sources, some of which vary cyclically. So, presumably, the space people would choose a rather more complicated pattern unlike any natural one, transmitted fairly slowly.

The real trouble begins when we decide to reply. Detecting signals from extra-terrestial space is one thing. Carrying on a conversation with someone 500 light years away is another. Whoever sent the message we received today was around 100 years before Galileo was born. Our reply would not arrive until April, 2465.

Beermanship is the art of learning inside-information about beer.

Beermanship had its real beginnings 50 years ago.

In those days a man's pouring technique was as important as his fishing technique. A good beer-pourer could gather a crowd almost anywhere he went.

Nowadays many men are too busy to give their beer the attention it deserves.

Well, this modern age has robbed us of too many good old things. It's time we fought back. It's time we revived pouring as a prideful thing.

Take a tip from our brewmaster. Pour your beer boldly into the centre of the glass, so that it gets a good head. This releases the bouquet. Doubles your enjoyment.

VICTORIA 'LEADING' IN RE-DEVELOPMENT

Special projects director Roderick Clack and scale models of Victoria civic redevelopment should go to Ottawa with the mayor in June, city council committee agreed Thursday.

Canadian Centennial Commission is willing to pay expenses to have Mayor R. B. Wilson and Mr. Clack tell the Victoria story at a special seminar on urban and rural planning and improvements.

Beautification committee was told by the mayor:

"Victoria stands out alone over other parts of Canada in relation to urban redevelopment."

The mayor referred to a brochure prepared by the commission to encourage improvement projects across the land. Victoria is prominent in the examples.

Mayor Wilson has accepted an invitation to give a 25-minute presentation at the seminar. He suggested Mr. Clack should take part in a workshop discussion.

FIVE-YEAR PLAN

Isolation Ward Only Temporary

Royal Jubilee Hospital's decision to rehouse the controversial isolation ward under a $1,000,000 improvement plan, is only a stop-gap measure.

Administrator George Masters explained this Wednesday shortly after announcing the scheme.

He said the isolation ward would probably serve in the new quarters for five years.

By that time it is expected there will be sufficient demand and adequate funds to establish a seperate isolation department.

The wards are to be shifted from the present wooden buildings to a new ward in the main building.

Another major change to be made in the next year under the scheme will be a new school of nursing at a cost of around $500,000.

When complete, the school will be able to handle 250 student nurses. At present 180 students receive training in the army huts behind the hospital.

The modern, two-storey building is the first major addition to the school in 40 years.

No additional living accommodation is proposed as plans are in hand to allow third year students to live out.

Mr. Masters said it is also hoped the present three-year training program will be cut to two years in the future, the third year being served as an intern.

Money is being furnished by federal and provincial governments, local municipalities and the P. A. Woodward Trust Foundation.

A further $20,000 will be raised by public subscriptions though no plans have yet been made for a fund drive.

Other projects planned include a new boilerhouse and boilers, new clinical laboratories and rehabilitation of older parts of the hospital building.

1st Cornerstone To Be Unveiled

The original cornerstone of Royal Jubilee Hospital will be unveiled in a ceremony May 13 attended by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

The old cornerstone was laid in 1889 where the new wing now is. The stone, set in a cairn, will be uneviled in the ceremony.

The Mark II is livelier

We've boosted the power output by giving the engine a new camshaft—a new 4-branch exhaust manifold and a new distributor.

Put your foot down and the new Spitfire 68 BHP engine drives you from 0 to 50 in 10 seconds. Over 90 m.p.h. on the track. Gearbox 4 forward speeds and reverse. Synchromesh in second, third and top.

Smoother, safer ride

Each wheel is independently sprung. The result—safer, faster cornering. And on rough surfaces the wheels alone (not you) soak up the bumps.

Fade-free brakes and safety steering wheel

The Spit's front disc brakes are big, powerful and self-adjusting. They're fade-free and unaffected by rain for safe, sure stops. And maintenance is minimal—new pads can be fitted in minutes.

The steering wheel collapses on severe impact for extra safety.

Spitfire Mark II turns in a 24-foot circle

The tightest turning car anywhere. With rack and pinion steering. In city parking, you'll squeeze in where others fear to try. In rally driving, the tight turn gives you an advantage over competition that's positively unfair!

Space age luxury (comfort at high speed)

New comfortable contour seats (like TR4A) make you part of your car. They're padded deeper—and upholstered with 2-way stretch Ambla cloth.

Door-to-door deep pile carpeting and carpet panels at base of doors give protection to lower trim.

The windows wind up and down. And in convertible position, the top disappears out of sight when down.

The Mark II is also available with optional hard top at extra cost.

Extra body strength for hard driving

The Spitfire chassis is double backbone, channel section with outriggers. Light, but incredibly strong—braced at every point to keep the car in shape throughout the hard life a sports car should be built for.

Pope Hits 'Growing War' In Reference to Viet Nam

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul condemned guerrilla warfare and "ever growing" acts of war today in clear reference to the Viet Nam conflict. He appealed for "conversations and negotiations at all levels."

In the second encyclical letter of his reign, the pontiff noted that the month of May is especially dedicated to Mary. He said that it should be a time for special prayers to her, with the international situation "darker and more uncertain than ever, now that grave new threats are endangering the supreme benefit of world peace."

In an Easter Sunday speech, Pope Paul had spoken of "war and guerrilla operation" in an obvious reference to Viet Nam. His encyclical today was broader.

It denounced "acts of guerrilla warfare and of terrorism" as well as the "practice of holding hostages and of taking reprisals against unarmed civilians."

He also made a comment that appeared aimed at any policy of escalation in Viet Nam or at any recruitment of volunteers by Communists outside Southeast Asia. Entire nations, he said, "are subjected to unspeakable sufferings caused by agitation, guerrilla warfare, acts of war, ever growing in extent and intensity, which could at any moment produce a spark for a terrible fresh conflict."

PLEA FOR DONATIONS

Moore Reverses Stand on U-Fund

Jack Moore, the labor official who earlier withdrew support of the Three Universities Capital Fund, today issued a strong plea to individual members of union locals to support the fund.

Mr. Moore, who is regional president of the International Woodworkers of America, resigned his position with the mainland fund shortly after Murray Drew, Victoria president of the IWA, resigned his position with the fund.

Both of the men had been co-chairman of the employees division of the fund.

At the time they said they quit the fund because they believed the government was responsible for higher education.

In an apparent reversal, Mr. Moore said in a statement released today:

"I have expressed my willingness to assist with the campaign to the extent of contacting shop stewards in various plants to back up the in-plant solicitation."

"It is essential that we make these facilities available to our young people who have the inherent ability to absorb such education and not just the few whose parents can afford the price."

Mr. Moore also said until the governments accept their long-range responsibilities toward education, people will have to fill the gap by contributing to drives such as the Three Universities Fund.

Youth Supplied Girls With Wine

A bearded youth was fined a total of $60 Thursday in Saanich court for supplying teen-agers with liquor and failing to obey a restriction on his driver's licence.

Ralph T. Paul, 19, of 2830 Seaview Road, was fined $50 for supplying teen-age girls with a gallon of wine which he bought from the Humboldt Street liquor store.

He was fined an additional $10 when stopped on Mayfair Drive, driving without glasses.

DOUBLE POPULATION

Pr. George Seeks Municipal Status

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—The City of Prince George will petition the lieutenant-governor-in-council for disincorporation and reincorporation as a district municipality.

Action is being taken under terms of an amendment to the Municipal Act passed by the legislature this spring.

If completed as planned, some 20 small water districts and subdivisions would become part of the district municipality. Its boundaries would form a rough rectangle 24 by 20 miles in area.

The present estimated city population of 18,500 would be approximately doubled. The move would bring three pulp mills, a projected oil refinery and chemical plant plus a Pacific Great Eastern industrial subdivision now under development within municipal boundaries.

This increase in assessable property would be bolstered by about 25 miles of CNR trackage, Westcoast oil and gas lines, plus large B.C. Hydro and B.C. Telephone installations.

City Manager Arran Thomson would not estimate the total increase in possible assessment but said Thursday the legal borrowing power of the city would be increased five times from its present $7,000,000 by 1971.

Purpose of the proposal by the city is to provide for regulation of growth in the area and to bring integrated services and amenities with costs spread over a wide taxation base.

Iran Blames Reds

TEHRAN (AP) — Iranian security authorities Wednesday accused a leftist group with close ties to China of being responsible for an attempt to gun down the shah of Iran. In a communique, the security officials said the group persuaded a conscript soldier to fire a submachine-gun at the monarch as he entered his palace office 18 days ago.

JUDGE WILL RULE MAY 20 ON DUPUIS CASE

'Saw Husband Off to Ottawa With $5,000 in Cash'

By RUSSELL PEDEN

ST. JOHNS, Que. (CP)—Judge Andre Regnier is to decide May 20 whether to commit Yvon Dupuis for voluntary statement on influence-peddling charges arising from attempts to build a racetrack in his federal riding of St. Jean-Iberville-Napierville in 1961.

The judge set the date for his ruling late Thursday, after the Crown completed its case against the former federal minister without portfolio at preliminary hearing.

Voluntary statement is a stage in Quebec legal proceedings at which the defence may present evidence in an attempt to have the charges dismissed without a trial.

Defence lawyer Raymond Daoust has said he will present a defence at voluntary statement if the case reaches that stage.

The charges against Mr. Dupuis allege that he accepted $10,000 in cash for using his influence to support a 1961 application to the Quebec government for a racetrack charter.

The charter, which would have authorized the operation of a racetrack at nearby St. Luc, was never granted.

It was sought by a group led by chiropractor Roch Deslauriers of St. Johns, who has testified he gave Mr. Dupuis $10,000 in Ottawa May 9, 1961, and who declared himself bankrupt earlier this year.

During the 10th and final day of preliminary hearing Thursday, Mrs. Deslauriers testified she saw her husband off to Ottawa on a May morning in 1961 with $5,000 cash in his pocket.

She said he told her the cash, which he carried in an unsealed envelope, was for Mr. Dupuis. He had planned to borrow another $5,000 in nearby Laprairie and then take the cash directly to Ottawa.

Mrs. Deslauriers, 29, also told of visiting Quebec City two or three weeks later with her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Dupuis, on which occasion Mr. Dupuis was to give $1,000 of the money to an unnamed revenue department employee.

She said Mr. Dupuis left his three companions in a restaurant, saying he was going to meet the man.

The two couples visited Quebec City again in November of 1961, she said, this time for a Liberal party convention. On that occasion, Mr. Dupuis had pointed out a man in the lobby of the Chateau Frontenac Hotel whom he described to her as "one of the guys who shared the $10,000."

Music Prodigy Killed

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Ferriccio Burgo, 26, former child prodigy who at 10 had conducted famous orchestras in such places as New York's Carnegie Hall, was killed Monday in an automobile accident. He also conducted symphony orchestras in Canada until he was 13. In recent years he was a travelling musician playing Italian provincial theatres with small orchestras.

Area-Wide Vote Favored On Fluoridation of Water

By ROGER STONEBANKS

And a majority also favors holding an area-wide referendum rather than one restricted to a single municipality.

So far, none of the six councillors and Reeve Hugh Curtis has given consideration to introducing a motion to council calling for a referendum.

Such a move was made by Oak Bay councillor Dr. Harold Carter an da vote is expected to be held in June.

But one Saanich councillor, Doug Crosby, said he "could" give consideration to such a motion because he has seen "terrific" results in the use of fluorides.

And Coun. Gregory Cook, while admitting he hasn't given "the subject any particular thought lately, said he would have "no particular objection" to introducing such a motion.

COUNCIL POLLED

In a poll of the entire council, four approved of fluoridation, one disapproved, one had no opinion and one was prepared to go along with the majority.

Five favored an area-wide referendum and two did not.

The only councillor opposed to fluoridation, Ed Lum, said "the benefit hasn't been proved beyond a doubt to me."

Coun. Harold Todd took neither side while Coun. Leslie Passmore said he would go along with the majority.

Those most in favor of fluoridation were Couns. Cook and Crosby.

'NECESSARY'

Said Coun. Cook, a teacher: "It is necessary, there is no question about it."

He called Victoria a bad area for teeth problems and thought Oak Bay's action was a good example of the need for a better system of discussing problems that affect the entire community.

He felt the subject should have been discussed on an inter-municipal basis with the idea of a referendum in the Greater Victoria area.

If Oak Bay got no support from other municipalities, then it could go ahead on its own.

Reeve Curtis said the Oak Bay vote, expected in June, would be a testing of area feeling and "it might be best to see what happens there."

The last area-wide referendum was held in 1958 and defeated with only 37 per cent voting approval. The vote needed 60 per cent to pass.

Engineer Union Now Re-Admitted To Labor Group

The 14,000-member International Union of Operating Engineers will be re-admitted to the Canadian Labour Congress effective Saturday.

International representative Ed Callan said this morning he received the information from the union's Washington office and the Canadian director, Rowland Hill of Toronto.

The union, which has 7,000 members in B.C., was expelled from the congress in 1958 for raiding the membership of another union in the east.

There are about 140 members of the union's stationary division in Local 918 in Victoria.

It will be up to local unions to re-affiliate with labor councils and Mr. Callan said there is no doubt this will be done.

Court Suspends Jail Sentence

A man who earlier pleaded guilty to three charges of indecent exposure was given a year's suspended sentence Thursday in Saanich court.

Gary Edward Vaughn, 741 Audley, was also required to seek psychiatric help by Magistrate William Ostler.

The magistrate told Vaughn his problem was now in the open "and you can now discuss it frankly."

cally than anyone else, "because we usually expect more of each other and we know our friendship is strong enough to stand the test of frankness."

Mr. Pearson said if Canada appeared to be "unduly concerned with international policies" Americans should remember that their outcome might mean the difference between peace and war for Canadians as well as people of the U.S.

"The U.S. is bearing a load with resolution and courage. A heavy burden of responsibility in helping to maintain international peace and security. My own country—which has made a tragic sacrifice of her finest young men in two world wars—is in a smaller way also engaged in peace-keeping in far-off climes," he reminded his American audience.

"I assure you, however, that—even though at times we may worry about and even differ about some of the tactics adopted or moves made—we in Canada know that the purposes of American policy in the world are neither selfish nor aggressive, nor imperialistic," Mr. Pearson said.

The prime minister arrived from Ottawa aboard a Canadian government department of transport aircraft.

TIGHT SECURITY

Security precautions in this small (40,000 population) American city were tight. FBI men had moved in earlier in the week from Washington and laid down strict regulations to protect the prime minister. The security precautions were much stricter than when he spoke three weeks ago in Philadelphia and last month in New York.

A small delegation of six students from the University of Vermont was on hand at the airport carrying banners to greet the prime minister.

The banners slapping violently in a cold stiff breeze read "Support Senator Aiken—End the Bombing in Viet Nam," "Let's Face It U.S. Policy in Viet Nam is a Bomb." "Pearson Press for International Arbiration," "Unconditional War Does Not Lead to Unconditional Negotiations."

CLOSE TO CANADA

Mr. Pearson said he could not imagine a better place than the state of Vermont in which to talk about "good-neighborliness." He pointed out that Vermont was very close to Canada—"commuter-close." Most of the people of Vermont know Canadians personally and know what is happening in Canada. The University of Vermont has a Canadian studies course.

Referring to U.S. international policy he said, that the U.S., "is immensely powerful, carrying the most massive international responsibility and giving inspiration and leadership to freedom's cause."

Neither Canada nor the U.S. should act on the assumption that it fully understands the other's national interests and attitudes. Both countries should seek always to increase real understanding in each country of the other's problems, policies and attitudes.

'DEAD' FROM BULLET IN BRAIN

Child's Recovery 'A Miracle'

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Richard Wayne Baker, 2½, picked up a .38-calibre pistol and fired a bullet into his forehead and through his brain.

That was six months ago and a doctor says the child's recovery "is a miracle."

"He was dead when I picked him up," the child's father, James Baker, said Thursday in recalling the accident.

En route to hospital, Baker recalled something he had seen a doctor do to a heart-attack victim at a football game.

"I hit him on the side away from his heart as hard as I could. He gasped and started breathing and I could feel his heart beating."

Doctors performed surgery immediately but said there was little chance of survival.

The doctor who called Richard's recovery miraculous gave this explanation of the injury:

"The brain is divided into hemispheres separated by a natural groove at the top of the head. The bullet's path through the brain followed this groove and didn't injure any portion vital to life."

Richard bears two signs of the accident—a slight indentation in his forehead and lack of full control over his left leg. Doctors believe therapy will restore full use of the leg.

DENNYS OF VICTORIA

CONVOYS ALWAYS ESCORTED

Always 'Accidental' On Hot Little Island

By PETE LOUDON
Times Staff Reporter

CANADIANS CONVOY GREEKS THROUGH TURK AREAS . . . but "accidental" shots are fired anyway.

NICOSIA — Two shots were fired by Turkish-Cypriots today as United Nations soldiers escorted a party of Greeks through the mouth of the Kyrenia Pass.

I was in the convoy but we went through so quickly I didn't hear them or know of the incident until later.

As I write, riflemen of the QORs who came here recently from Victoria were trying to sort out the incident. No one was hit. And chances are, if the culprits are found, they will claim the firing was "an accident."

Everyone on Edge

But it's the sort of thing that keeps everyone on edge during the convoys twice daily run between Nicosia and Kyrenia. Nicosia is dependent on the road which links the two Greek-Cypriot communities. It runs through the strongest pocket of Turk-Cypriots on the island.

We formed up the convoy behind the Greek-Cypriot checkpoints. We had four Danish and Canadian Ferret scout cars, ours manned by Royal Canadian Dragoons, armed with 50 calibre machine guns, fully loaded.

There were only three Greek-Cypriot cars and a station wagon to escort today because tensions are building again.

Two Killed

Last week two labor leaders were killed here and suspicion fell on the Turk-Cypriots. The Greek-Cypriots then closed their entry points in this divided city to Turkish travellers and supplies. Now the Greek-Cypriots fear the Turks will seal off the road to Kyrenia in reprisal, or molest Greek-Cypriot travellers.

C. Company of the QORs sends a jeepload of riflemen with the convoy and in the villages along the road more QORs are stationed at every side road, stopping all other traffic until the convoy passes. The second village is Geunyely. I had talked earlier to Pte. Donald MacDonald and saw him standing there now with his rifle at the ready and his finger on the trigger as we whistled through. It was in Geunyely that the two shots were heard. It is in Guenyely that Turkish regulars (sent over from their homeland) are stationed.

There was one other tense moment. Coming out of Kyrenia and deep in the mountains between bands of Turkish-Cypriot guerrillas who jeer and spit at the convoyed Greek-Cypriots, a car driven by a young woman school teacher broke down.

The QORs in the jeep pulled out of the convoy and positioned themselves around the car. There was a look of terror on her face as we passed. But they brought her into Nicosia without incident.

Other perils face the QORs, too. At battalion headquarters this morning RSM Ken McLeod and CSM Fred Thomas showed me a dead adder or coofee snake. It was killed in the sergeants' mess after Pte. Barney Hupe found it under a keg of nails, within a foot of where he had been standing.

You can last six hours after an adder strikes you, no more—unless you have medical attention. The order went out today for all troops in the area to wear high-topped ammunition boots.

Two other QORs, Sgt. William Halpin and Pte. R. Kube spilled out of a jeep on the mountainous Kyrenia road when a Turkish car was left broadside across it. Pte. Kube is back on the job. Sgt. Halpin has a broken pelvis and will be returning home to Victoria to mend.

Flying Centenarian

VANCOUVER (CP)—Air line officials were taken aback Wednesday when 101-year-old Max Lyman of Vancouver bought a plane ticket to Edmonton where he plans to visit his great-grandson. Air Canada officials said it will be the first time a centenarian has travelled on one of their flights.

'SEMI-SECRET' CATTLE PACT

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—The Expositor says thousands of cattle will be exported from Canada to Cuba this year in a "semi-secret" move negotiated between a Cuban buying mission and leading cattle breeders in Ontario and Quebec.

The newspaper said four-figure prices are being paid for prize bulls and quotes "authoritative sources" as saying the sales have been kept under cover "to avoid annoying the United States."

'Ridiculing' Russia Brings Jail

BELGRADE (Reuters) — Prof. Mihajlo Mihajlov today was sentenced to nine months imprisonment for distributing banned press material and for ridiculing a foreign country.

Mihajlov was brought to trial for an article he wrote in which he claimed the first death camps were set up in Russia, not Nazi Germany.

He had faced a possible maximum penalty of 15 months in prison.

Mihajlov told the court at Zadar Thursday that 10,000,000 persons died in Russian camps. He compared this with the 5,600,000 Jews he said were killed by the Nazis.

AT THE WHEEL

Raciness Plus in the New Marlin

There was a time when car designers could satisfy the hungry public with nothing more elaborate than a tin body on wheels.

The main thing was an engine which ticked and wheels which stayed inflated.

Today it's different.

The motorist has come to expect an efficient engine. He takes for granted such things as comfort and reliability.

Consequently the multi-million dollar car sales business leans more and more towards styling.

Latest people to realize this are Rambler.

Turning Point

The car is the Marlin.

Unlike anything Rambler has produced in the past it embodies all the comfort of a family sedan, the sleek lines of a sports car and the glamor of more expensive automobiles.

There is no denying the Marlin is little more than a straight crib from the drawing boards of the Chrysler Corporation from whence the Barraccuda originated.

Rambler has done the same—the front end of the Marlin embodying the lines of their '64 Classic series, with no noticeable changes.

Although some people disagree, Rambler has made a better job of their remodelling.

One noticeable feature of the Marlin is its tear-shaped rear windows which help give the overall impression of raciness.

Unfortunately the production line is not yet geared up to roll the new baby off in any great numbers.

Short Supply

Only a few hundred will be on the market this year.

Although orders are being taken, there is no set delivery date.

"Fastback" aside, the Marlin is a competitive automobile that hits the streets at a not unreasonable price of $4,100.

The test model incorporated most of the optional equipment, including power brakes and steering, automatic shift, bucket seats, de luxe pile carpets, wire wheels, and the large 270 horse-power V-8 engine, bringing the total price to $5,234.

The floor shift has the advantage of an automatic with the control of a stick shift.

The driver has a choice of first, second and drive, allowing him to slow down by use of the revs.

The 270-horse engine is more than enough to give that extra take-off power when needed while the standard power disc brakes fitted on front provide an ever-present feeling of security.

Foam-padded, full-coil, lounge chair springs ensure a comfortable ride, especially when incoporated with the standard Rambler feature—adjustable seats which drop back to a lying position.

Surprisingly enough the swept-back treatment has made little difference to roominess in the back.

The arm-chair back seats can comfortably sit three and there is plenty of head room.

One unfortunate drawback of the sweeping rear becomes obvious when trying to park.

The narrowing rear window cuts off all view of the rear end, leaving the driver in a position where he has to guess his distance from whatever happened to be behind.

For the technically minded: Engine: 155-h.p. six; 198-h.p. V-8 or 270-h.p. V-8.

Bill knows a good thing when he sees it.*

Bill Mason is an independent surveyor. He's in business for himself. So Bill needs an automobile that makes a good impression. Like shiny shoes and a sharp trouser crease. He figured he had found what he was looking for when he spotted a Buick Wildcat convertible on a Goodwill lot. Bill was impressed with the car. And the price. But it wasn't until he heard all about the Goodwill warranty that he began to think seriously about buying.

Then he checked around and found out a lot about Goodwill Used Car dealers. He liked what he found. So he bought the Buick. That was two years ago. And because he was so pleased with his Buick he has since bought a GMC Truck for his business.

Bill Mason is a successful businessman. And he knows a good thing when he sees it. That's why Bill does business with the man who displays the Goodwill sign . . . a man who's in business to stay. He sells Pontiac, Buick, Acadian and GMC Trucks And he gives the best used car deals in town.

*Based on an actual case history of a Goodwill customer.

Canadian Aviation Hits High for Year

Canadian Aviation Electronics featured trading in the industrial section of the Vancouver Stock Exchange at noon today rising $1.75 to a year's high of $19⅛.

In the mines, Consolidated Standard continued its steady climb moving up three to 30 cents on 4,500 shares after touching a high of 30½ cents. Kamloops lost five cents to 68 cents on 69,000 shares. Earlcrest gained four to 39 cents on 50,000 shares. Torwest was up four to 90 cents.

AT TORONTO industrials were lower and senior western oils bounced higher in moderately heavy mid-afternoon stock exchange trading today.

Speculative oils were active with Provo up 6 cents to $3.05 and Asamera down 20 cents to $1.85 on volume of 107,054 shares. Asamera has found oil in the North Sumatra area of Indonesia.

Canadian Superior jumped 2⅝ to a high of 25⅝, and Calgary and Edmonton 3½ to a peak of 30 among senior oils. Great Plains rose ¼ to 13½, and Hudson's Bay ⅛ to 18¾.

Hudson Bay fell ½ to 74 among senior base metals, and Falconbridge ⅛ to 99⅞. In golds, Dome declined ⅜ to 39¼.

AT MONTREAL, stocks were mixed with fractional losses and gains. Trading was moderate.

Industrial volume was 170,200 and mines and oils 1,092,300. In industrials, Asbestos slipped ⅛. Utilities were ahead slightly with Quebec Natural Gas up ⅛. Among papers, MacMillan Bloedel added ⅛ and Consolidated dropped ¼.

AT LONDON — The stock market looked brighter today. Sentiment was helped by a fresh rise in sterling.

Gilts staged a good recovery in rails, Canadian Pacific was a dull market. Abitibi, Consolidated Paper, Tri Continental and Dome Ex were all around a point lower. On the other hand Canadian Husky, Central Del Rio and Triad were among those to improve. Bowaters was again a strong market.

AT NEW YORK a slightly higher trend prevailed in the stock market late this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5,400,000 shares compared with 5,580,000 Thursday.

Gains of fractions to a point or so outnumbered losers, but not by much.

Canadian Car Price Slice Said Feasible

WASHINGTON (CP)—An immediate Canadian price cut of perhaps 4 per cent, wholesale, seems feasible under the car-production pact signed between Canada and the United States, the United Auto Workers said Thursday.

The union said Canadian carmakers are pocketing savings from tariff cuts — initiated by Canada January 18 — which amounts to $50,000,000 over a full year.

The union urged the Canadian government to put on pressure for price cuts now and it said the American government has a right to demand the Canadian government do so.

The union was testifying before the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives, which concluded a three-day hearing on U.S. legislation to implement the American side of the car bargain with Canada.

The agreement abolishes Canadian and American tariffs on most new motor vehicles.

BRIDGE ACROSS INLET ANNOUNCED FOR CNR

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $27,000,000 expansion to handle an expected increase in rail traffic in the next five years was announced Thursday by Canadian National Railways.

The government-owned line said it will build a new $8,000,000 railway bridge across Burrard Inlet and a $10,000,000 tunnel on the Vancouver side of the inlet to connect with the new bridge.

The expansion plan also calls for doubling the size and capacity of the suburban Port Mann marshalling yard to make it the main CNR yard serving the lower mainland. Expansion of the Port Mann yard will relieve congestion in the existing downtown and waterfront yards, said a spokesman.

Fish Catch Improves But Still Trails '64

Spring salmon catches were up slightly in the second week of the fishing season but were still well down over the same period last year.

Fishermen landed 4,000 pounds of red springs at Vancouver, Steveston and Victoria last week as compared with 26,000 pounds during the same period last year.

White springs totalled 500 pounds as compared with 3,000 pounds and mixed springs 10,000 as compared with 70,000 pounds in the same period a year ago.

The first halibut of the season was unloaded at Vancouver from three boats. Totals were 4,000 pounds of chix, 78,000 pounds of medium, 30,000 pounds of large and 1,000 pounds of mixed.

HIGHER RATE

Medium halibut brought 31.8 to 34.1 cents a pound higher rate than the 21-22 cents paid last year.

Groundfish landings at the three ports totalled 473,000 pounds, three quarters of this total consisting of grey cod.

At Prince Rupert catches were heavier with 10,000 pounds of springs landed as compared with 5,000 pounds in the same week last year.

Catches of medium halibut were also up over last year with 135,000 pounds landed. In the same week last year, 104,000 pounds were landed.

Prices were high in Rupert with mediums bringing around 32 cents a pound. The price last year was 20.2 cents a pound.

Oversubscribed

VANCOUVER (CP) — A secondary offering of 100,000 shares of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. stock, made off the floor of three Canadian stock exchanges, was over-subscribed Thursday. The transactions involved nearly $4,000,000. The identity of the seller was not disclosed.

'Copper Strike Grapevine' Listed at Windfall Probe

By GORDON GRANT

TORONTO (CP) — A stock salesman testified Thursday he was told by a member of the Ontario legislature that Windfall Oils and Mines Ltd. pulled a core of 3.23 per cent copper at the time of the stock's wild activity on the Toronto Stock Exchange last July.

Three per cent copper is considered rich ore. The company 17 days later announced that no ore values had been found in the core.

Alfred Andrews of the investment firm of Nesbitt, Thomson and Co. told a royal commission he was advised that the Windfall core contained 60 feet of copper ore by Osie Villeneuve, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Glengarry.

He said Mr. Villeneuve told him the information came from Mines Minister George Wardrope of Ontario.

Mr. Andrews said he asked Mr. Villeneuve where he got the information and was told: "I was just talking with the minister of mines, who had been talking with the MacMillans."

George MacMillan is president of Windfall and his wife Viola is the company's promoter-financier,

Mr. Andrew's evidence was given to a royal commission investigating the rise of Windfall shares to $5.60 from 56 cents and their subsequent plunge to 80 cents last July. The phenomenal activity in the stock was linked to rumors of an ore find on a property near Timmins, Ont.

Reception Honors President

Major Cuthbert Holmes will step down Monday as the president of Pemberton-Holmes Ltd.

He will take on duties as the chairman of the board.

Directors of the firm held a reception at the Empress Hotel Thursday to honor the retiring president.

Frederick G. P. Maurice, a director who joined the firm in 1926 as an office boy, listed some of the "foolish statements" made by Major Holmes in the early 1930s.

"He said one day Saanich would need sewers; that taxes in Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich would one day be about equal with Victoria, and that James Bay would again become a high class residential area," said Mr. Maurice.

FERRY HALT

He added that Major Holmes was also the first man to predict that one day the CPR ferry boats would no longer sail into Victoria's Inner Harbor.

Mayor R. B. Wilson, a guest at the reception, described Major Holmes as "Mr. Planner" in Victoria and said he sparked the drive to form the Capital Region Planning Board.

Major Holmes told the gathering that Victoria was "a city of unrivalled beauty" but added that it would never be what it should be "until it is properly planned."

Laurentide Bank Bill Talked Out

OTTAWA (CP)—One of last session's controversial bank incorporation bills made its first sortie into the new session Thursday, and met the same fate.

It was "talked out" through the one-hour period set aside for private legislation and no progress was made on passage.

Ron Basford (L—Vancouver Burrard), opened second reading debate on a bill to incorporate the Laurentide Bank, which is to have its head office in Vancouver. It is being sponsored by the principals behind Laurentide Financial Corp.

Mr. Basford said the bank is needed because the interests of the west coast are not properly taken into account by the existing chartered banks, with their head offices in eastern Canada.

PERFORM AT CATHEDRAL

Bishop's Company Coming

Proceeds from the performance of Christopher Fry's play, The Boy With a Cart, in Christ Church Cathedral Saturday at 8 p.m., will go towards paying for the state trumpet organ stop which was installed in the cathedral a year ago.

The play will be presented by the Bishop's Company, a professional theatre group based at Burbank, California.

"We have guaranteed the company a modest honorarium," says Dean Brian Whitlow. "Beyond that, all proceeds will go to pay off the remaining expenses for our state trumpet."

Although the performance is free to the public, a collection will be taken. Some free tickets are still available at the three main Victoria department stores.

The visiting company is named for Bishop Kennedy of the American Episcopal Church. Its purpose is to present plays with a religious message.

CHAMBER SUPPORTING REGIONAL PARKS PLAN

Victoria Chamber of Commerce will support the plan to establish a regional parks board.

President David Lawson issued a statement Thursday congratulating the provincial government and local municipal bodies "for their farsightedness."

"This is just what was recommended in November, 1963, when Hugh Stephen brought in his report on land use planning in the capital region," he said.

"This report, which was sponsored by the chamber, also recommended that the municipalities earmark, as a beginning, one-half mill towards the purchase of regional park sites and urged the provincial government to participate."

Mr. Lawson said it was gratifying to the chamber to see its recommendations implemented.

"We feel that the Victoria chamber has again been instrumental in initiating an important project from which every citizen will benefit," he said.

Lunch-Hour Concerts Can Be Boon to City

Twenty-five cent lunch-hour concerts, offering music, ballet, comedy and drama, will be presented in the McPherson Playhouse starting Monday at 12:10 and 1:10 p.m.

Sale of tickets in leading city stores and at the Playhouse suggest that large crowds of men and women will attend—and city police are preparing to handle the traffic outside.

"We intend to keep these concerts on a high professional level," says Kenneth Gravenor, who is promoting them. "They have proved enormously successful in England, Australia and other countries, and I know we have the same kind of talent here."

Mr. Gravenor organized lunch-hour concerts in Sidney, Melbourne, Adelaide, Perth and Brisbane and says he received large-scale support.

Monday's opening concerts will feature Rosalie and George Essihos in a 40-minute program of popular and classical music.

Subsequent programs will include Marilyn McArthur, festival-winning pianist; Murray McAlpine, in folk songs; The Noon Players in dramatic sketches; John Bray, Clair Wall and Colin Bonneau and a team of ballet dancers.

ATTRACT TRADE

A number of Victoria stores and business firms have offered to handle tickets because they believe the concerts will attract trade to the city.

Black Ball Ferries report inquiries from Port Angeles, Washington, and will give tickets to passengers aboard the Mv. Coho.

Mr. Gravenor recalls that many famous artists have performed at noon-hour concerts in London's Tate Gallery, Trafalgar Square, including Myra Hess, Eileen Joyce, Joan Hammond and Sir Malcolm Sargent.

"I believe we have a great potential here," he said. "In the past we have had no suitable platform for such concerts. Surely our civic playhouse is the answer."

Tearoom Lease Granted

City council parks committee Thursday recommended an 18-month lease for Mount Douglas Park tearoom be granted to Wolfgang Guelich.

Mr. Guelich's application for the concession was considered best of three received.

He told committee he proposes to make considerable interior improvements at his own expense. He also wants to build an adjacent soft drink, coffee and hot dog stand.

This would allow the tearoom to be operated as such, he suggested, and asked if the council would spend money to make it more attractive by enclosing the veranda with large windows.

He was asked to submit plans for his proposals.

The committee turned down a suggestion by Mrs. D. Mason Hurley that former Harry Haig property on Rockland be turned into a park.

This is privately owned and the parks committee at present has no budget for acquiring such land, members pointed out.

Public works committee recommended council accept a bid by Victoria Paving Co. Ltd. to do $54,004 worth of street and incidental paving this year. It was the only tender received and was considered a fair price.

TOO EXPENSIVE FOR COUNCIL

Bastion Movie Dropped

A color movie film record of Bastion Square redevelopment Thursday was considered too expensive for city council to buy.

Special projects director Roderick Clack suggested to council beautification committee a 16 mm. sound film to run about 15 minutes would cost $700 to $1,000 to make.

It would cover progress from through construction and restoration to completion.

"I am not entirely sure this is a project I would recommend," city manager Dennis Young said.

He considered Bastion Square a different situation from Centennial Square, a much greater project with historical significance.

The completed film record of the latter will have much local interest, he said, while Bastion Square might be of more interest elsewhere as a typical example of urban redevelopment.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow moved the committee recommend the expenditure would be unwarranted and suggested the usual colored slide record be kept for future showing with commentary.

HIGHTING OF FESTIVAL AT McPHERSON TONIGHT

Medallion Contest—Strictly a Man's Affair

By AUDREY JOHNSON

First exclusively male City of Victoria Medallion competition in the history of the Victoria Music Festival, will be held tonight at McPherson Playhouse.

Only winners of open piano classes who have received a minimum mark of 85 are eligible to compete for this major trophy.

The festival's open piano classes demand performances of diploma standard. Out of four such classes, three winners achieved the required percentage and they are all young men: Kenneth Bertram, Donald James and Angus Arrol.

Tonight's Festival Highlights concert will also feature a five-way Rose Bowl contest.

The singers who will be reaching for the top—the vocal championship of this year's festival—are Betty Moyls, contralto, Marilyn Fraser, soprano, Glen Atkinson, tenor, Marion Matcham, soprano, and Norma McCurdy, mezzo soprano

In Thursday evening sessions Angus Arrol achieved his qualifying 85 in the Beethoven Sonata class and Norma McCurdy won the women's operatic solo singing the Flower Song from Carmen, thus becoming the fifth Rose Bowl contender.

Adjudicators Angus Morrison and Philip Hattey have selected 10 of the top performers and ensembles of the week, to appear on the program tonight.

One is remarkable nine-year-old Wendy Stofer, whose piano artistry brought her yet another championship today, when she topped all winners from the sonata classes.

Singer Laura Groos, the delightful Patterson Family, multi-winning pianists Nancy Meredith and Ian Forbes, and speech artists Susan Belford and Penny Tisdall, are included.

Ensembles to be heard are the Don Kyle Singers, whose performance Tuesday, gained them one of the few 90's awarded this year; also vocal duettists Marion Campbell and Marjorie Sturgeon, the Arion Male Choir, and accordion duettists, Lee Hunt and Sheila Woolsey.

Adjudicating the Arion Choir, Mr. Hattey praised their choice of song, and their well controlled dynamics and good clear words.

Tonight will be the first occasion that the highlight honor performance concert which winds up the vocal, piano and adult choral section of the festival, will have been held in the more fitting and glamorous surroundings of a theatre instead of a school auditorium.

Existence of the McPherson Playhouse has made this departure possible.

To mark the occasion, two guest artists have been invited to perform. They are last year's Rose Bowl and Medallion winners, soprano Adele Goult Lewis and pianist Marilyn McArthur.

All seats are reserved for tonight's concert and tickets are available at the McPherson. Curtain time is 8.

Fatal Crash Brings Suit

Curtis Joseph Bennett of West Summerland has brought suit before the B.C. Supreme Court seeking general and special damages of more than $18,000 against Chrysler (Canada) Ltd.

Mr. Bennett's wife and daughter were killed in the crash June 26, 1963.

Mr. Bennett claims that faulty manufacture of the car allowed a rock to lodge between the ends of the centre link and tie rods, jamming the steering mechanism as the car rounded a curve on Highway 97 between Kelowna and West Summerland.

Mrs. Katheran Bennett was driving the car. Her daughter, Sandra, was also killed and another daughter, Diane, also a plaintiff in the action, was injured.

Mr. Bennett, through his attorney, contended Mrs. Bennett was unable to straighten the car, which left the road and crashed into a rock bluff.

Mr. Justice G. F. Gregory is hearing the suit.

PICK YOUR PARTNERS

Perhaps Chicago's Moose Vasko (4) should try new deodorant. All other players had partners during this tangled tango in first period of Thursday night's Stanley Cup hockey game in Chicago. Moose could have asked aloof official at right. Another official tries to separate Dick Duff of Montreal and Stan Mikita of Black Hawks while six other players square off. Party later turned out to be success for Moose. He was hugged by all Hawks after scoring goal that started Chicago on way to 2-1 victory.

Now Stanley Cup Total Goals Deal

Habs Have Home Ice Edge for Last Game

CHICAGO (CP)—Chicago Black Hawks took a lesson from Montreal Canadiens and scored their fifth power-play goal of the playoffs Thursday night to sink the Habs 2-1 and force a seventh and deciding Stanley Cup contest in Montreal Saturday night.

The victory gave the Hawks a new lease on life, as veteran Doug Mohns sank his third playoff goal midway through the third period before more than 20,000 delirious Chicago fans.

Montreal have scored 19 power plays in the playoffs.

Chicago's winning goal came just seven seconds after Montreal defenceman Terry Harper had been given the gate for grabbing Bobby Hull as the Chicago star boomed in over the blue line.

Three minutes earlier, Elmer Vasko had made it 1-1 with his first playoff goal since 1961.

An ominous note for the Canadiens was the fact that Vasko had not scored in the playoffs since 1961—the last year the Hawks went all the way.

Mohns described the game-winning goal as he dressed:

"It hit my stick first, then hit my own skate and went in. I was waiting right in front when the pass came across from (Stan) Mikita and it was a scramble to get it as my stick was tangled behind my skate."

Hawks' captain Pierre Pilote had fired a pass to Mikita in the corner and Mikita relayed the puck directly across the goal-mouth to Mohns, waiting at the corner of the crease.

'Just Another Hockey Game'—Reay

Coach Billy Reay described Chicago's victory as "just another hockey game," but said he was glad to win it and "now we can have the real championship Saturday in Montreal."

The hard-fought contest was just under way when a brawl erupted between Henry Richard of the Canadiens and Phil Esposito of the Hawks. This was the first of two slugging contests that highlighted the opening period.

With Esposito and Richard at a standoff, several other players began picking partners. However, referee Frank Udvari banished only the two original combatants to the penalty box, with Esposito getting a double minor and Richard a single minor.

Five minutes later they again chose sides when Mikita and Montreal's Dick Duff voted to slug it out along the boards. They moved to centre ice and Terry Harper decided Mohns was just right for him. Udvari sent Mikita and Harper off with minor penalties, majors and 10-minute misconducts while Duff and Mohns retired with five-minute majors.

In all, Udvari called 56 minutes on 14 penalties in the opening period, which took 43 minutes to play. During this time, the teams were at full strength for only seven of the 20 scoreless minutes.

Both clubs received superior netminding performances, in direct contrast to the last two games which ended with a 5-1 win for Chicago and a 6-0 victory for Montreal.

Goalies Often Did the Impossible

Charlie Hodge was called on to make 22 saves for the Canadiens, while Glenn Hall came up with 21 in Chicago's winning effort.

It was Hodge who kept the Canadiens in the game in the penalty-riddled first period. He stopped 11 shots while Hall faced a relatively easy five.

Reay said the contributing factor in his club's victory was the improved play of Vasko and Pilote on the blueline.

"The difference in tonight's (Thursday's) game was that Vasko and Pilote were moving the puck out of their own zone," Reay said.

"For once, I thought we actually played well enough to win one," he added, smiling for the first time since the playoffs started.

Pilote said the Canadiens checking Hull and Mikita and other dangerous Hawks marksmen had allowed other members of the club to come up with the goals.

"When they check your big guns, someone's got to come through," Pilote said.

Hull said he felt the pressure was not as heavy as in other games, adding: "They're starting to loosen up on me a bit."

Canadiens' coach Toe Blake said a team still needed four games to take a cup.

He said he thought his team had played well enough to win, but "didn't have as many chances as we had in previous games."

Oil Kings Lead Western Final

WINNIPEG (CP) — Edmonton Oil Kings edged Winnipeg Braves 2-1 Thursday night to move within one victory of wrapping up their sixth consecutive western Canada junior hockey championship.

The win gave Oil Kings a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup semi-final. The sixth game is scheduled for Edmonton Saturday night.

NINE ACCEPT COACHING INVITATIONS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Nine men have accepted invitations to be senior coaches in British Columbia's new coaches' training scheme.

The program, jointly sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion and the B.C. Track and Field Association, will offer an extensive syllabus and examinations to candidates. The senior coaches will be the instructors.

Strong Stretch Runners Scare Bold Lad's Pilot

POST POSITIONS

1. Dapper Dan (I. Valenzuela)
2. Narushua (Dunlavy)
3. Bold Lad (Hartack)
4. Native Charger (Rotz)
5. Flag Raiser (Ussery)
6. Carpenter's Rule (Harmatz)
7. Hail to All (Ycaza)
8. Lucky Debonair (Shoemaker)
9. Tom Rolfe (Turcotte)
10. Mr. Pak (Nichols)
11. Swift Ruler (Spraker)

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — There is no doubt in Bill Winfrey's mind that Bold Lad is the best horse in the Kentucky Derby, but he admits he can't stop worrying about two or three others in the field of 11 that have reputations as strong stretch runners.

"I'm not worried a bit about any speed horses in this race," the veteran trainer said.

"My concern is with the horses that will be coming from behind. I think I'm running the best horse, but . . ."

This will be Winfrey's first Derby horse since he ran Native Dancer and Social Outcast as an entry in 1953. On that Saturday 12 years ago Native Dancer was beaten by a head by Dark Star for the only loss of his racing career.

Bold Lad was installed the 8-5 favorite for the 91st running of this historic racing classic at Churchill Downs Saturday. He will be ridden by Bill Hartack, the second most successful jockey in Derby history.

VALUE HITS $154,500

With 11 starters, the Derby will have a gross value of $154,500, making it the eighth richest in history.

The winner will pick up $112,000, while $25,000 will go to the second place finisher. Third place is worth $12,500 and fourth $5,000.

The race will be carried on national radio and television.

Bold Lad, running under the colors of Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley stable, is expected to get his main competition from those stretch runners Winfrey is worried about.

Tom Rolfe, a bay colt from the Powhatan stable of Raymond Guest, was listed by the official oddsmaker at Churchill Downs as the second choice at 4-1. Tom Rolfe won the Stepping Stone purse and will be ridden by Ron Turcotte of Grand Falls, N.B.

LISTED AT 10-1

Another horse from which Winfrey expects trouble is Hail to All, who has been out of the money only twice in 18 starts. This bay colt, owned by Mrs. Ben Cohen, will be handled for the first time by jockey Manual Ycaza. Hail to All is listed at 10-1.

Flag Raiser, a colt with blistering speed who has won three straight stakes races, will open at 10-1. Flag Raiser is owned by Isidor Bieber and ridden by Bob Ussery.

Listed at 15-1 is Ogden Phipps' Dapper Dan handled by Milo Valenzuela. At 12-1 is Arkansas Derby winner Swift Ruller, owned by Earl Allen and ridden by Larry Spraker.

RALLY NEARS END

Irate Cop Dents Car With Fist

By CLAUDE HENAULT

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — A blown radiator and a collision with an RCMP cruiser Thursday eliminated two competitors from the cross-Canada 4,000-mile auto rally.

Len Houser of Vancouver and John O'Dwyer of North Burnaby, B.C., were involved in a head-on collision with a police cruiser at Invermere, 100 miles south of Radium Hot Springs in the British Columbia interior.

Police said no charges would be laid because no one was at fault. The accident occurred on a little-used back road during a dust storm that obscured vision.

No one was injured but the Houser - O'Dwyer Valiant, in sixth place at the start of Thursday's run from Edmonton, was unable to continue.

VOLVO HOPES SMASHED

Volvo hopes from an unprecedented sweep of manufacturers, private entry, individual and women's categories were smashed when the Volvo team car driven by Blair Bunch of Montreal and navigated by Mike Kerry of Toronto blew its radiator almost at the Valiant accident scene.

The Volvo team, in first place at the start of Thursday's leg, was knocked out. All three cars in a team must complete the run from Montreal to Vancouver.

GET THE POINT?

At Thursday's half-way point in Cranbrook, Klaus Ross and John Bird of Toronto, driving a Volvo, were in first place with 58 points, five more than they had had at the end of Wednesday's leg.

At Cranbrook, a police officer was asking competitors to take a side road and not go through the centre of town, but Ewen Graham of Midnaport, Alta. and Henry Acteson of Calgary, driving a Volvo, were not informed of this.

As the car was leaving the checkpoint, it turned to head down the main street and the police officer ran shouting after it, caught up with it, and smashed his fist down on the trunk, putting a deep dent in the metal. The car took the side road.

MORE THAN A MILLION ATTEND WHL GAMES

SEATTLE (UPI) — The six-team Western Hockey League reports it passed the 1,000,000 mark in paid attendance in the 1964-65 season.

This was an increase of 95,763 in paid attendance over the figures compiled last season when an over-all paid attendance figure of 928,005 was recorded.

Paid attendance at regular season games increased by 11.51 per cent in 1964-65 compared with a year ago, but there was a drop in comparative play-off figures. Seventeen play-off games this season, the same number played to decide the title in 1963-64, drew 11,922 fewer patrons.

KIERNAN ON PARKS:

If You Don't Like It, Get Another Minister

BURNABY—Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan told delegates at the annual convention of the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs Thursday that they must not consider provincial parks inviolate.

He said land and mineral rights existing in areas since made class "A" parks must be acknowledged as valid.

In future, the policy in establishing parks would be to assure perpetuity in the natural state.

Kiernan said he will deal with public and private rights in a practical manner. If the public doesn't like it, he said, the public can get itself a new minister.

The recreation minister also said his department may introduce next year a licensing program under which first-time applicants for a firearms licence would be required to pass competency tests.

He asked federation delegates to assist as examination officers and suggested retiring federation president Kenneth Hodgson be chairman of a committee to organize a firearms safety program.

CONTROLLED AREAS

During his talk, Kiernan made it clear that part of Vancouver Island's wilderness Strathcona Park is to be taken out of class "A" park status.

The minister said that rather than class parts of Strathcona Park as class "B" areas, he would prefer to designate them as recreation-controlled areas, in order to bring logging and mining under park control.

First change in status will almost certainly be near the south end of Buttle Lake, where Western Mines is operating and several other mining claims are held.

While saying an application for a mining townsite will be studied before a final decision was made, Kiernan indicated he favored granting the application.

"While we have a responsibility to nature," he said, "our first responsibility is to people."

He explained that Western Mines would employ several hundred people for many years and the nearest suitable place for a townsite outside the park was 25 miles from the mine.

"There is no point in telling people to build homes 25 miles away simply to say we kept them out of the park."

Boucher Against National Concept

By The Canadian Press

Frank Boucher, commissioner of the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League, stood almost alone today in advocating that the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association scrap its project for developing a Canadian national hockey team.

Boucher suggested that the CAHA experiment, aimed at creating a winner for Canada in the 1968 Olympic Games, was proved ill-starred by the fourth-place finish of the second edition of the club at the world tournament this year in Tampere, Finland.

He sugested instead that the CAHA and the National Hockey League collaborate by reserving the top 60 or 70 players graduating from junior ranks each year for a representative Canadian team.

About the only part of Boucher's suggestion, made in the May 15 edition of Maclean's magazine, that was even accepted in part was that a permanent manager and coach be appointed to handle the teams over a number of years.

NHL president Clarence Campbell was unavailable for comment, but Gordon Juckes, secretary-manager of the CAHA, said the program should not be scrapped "until it is fairly tested."

He said Boucher's sugestions "were very nice" but there was no indication professional teams would co-operate or the players would be prepared to give up possible $20,000 a year contracts to join the national team.

ANGLERS' CALENDAR . . .

. . . STARTS IN TIMES TODAY

Coble and His Little Black Fishes

Grady Coble was a fisherman from the time he was big enough to dig worms. He was always a fisherman.

When he wasn't going fishing he was thinking about going fishing, or talking with others who fished.

The more he studied angling techniques and the habits of fishes, the more he was convinced that something or other, just what he did not know, governed the feeding activities of fish.

He found that the natives of his home state of North Carolina held the same belief, and many were certain that the moon in its various phases and the signs of the Zodiak governed not only the habits of fish but also plant growth and other natural phenomena.

Coble, who was publishing an almanac in the early 1920s, checked on dozens of theories, jotting down bits of information that eventually filled several notebooks. When Coble was convinced there was a pattern to the feeding activity of fish, he was ready to launch his famous calendar with its catchy slogan: "The blacker the fish, the better the day for fishing."

He introduced his calendar in his 1926 almanac and it soon became the main attraction of the almanac. Since then, millions of copies of the calendar have been sold, which appears solid evidence that there is something in his tables that has proved satisfactory to anglers and had them ordering copies of the calendar year after year.

Blacker the Fish — Better the Day for Fishing

Coble's calendar "works" or does not work, to some extent, according to the weather.

"Use discretion in selecting your fishing days," Coble suggested. "Do not go out when it is too windy, big tides against you or the water muddy. Select comparatively normal days. Then, if the fish are black, fishing should be at its best."

Commercial fishermen have been said to plan their seining operations according to Coble's calendar. Sport fishermen, however, are concerned only with when game fish feed, and it is for them that the calendar is prepared.

Starting today and continuing each Friday, the Times will carry Coble's calendar for the following week.

The calendar will have a good test in its first week in the Times. All of Coble's little fish are black, which means he is predicting good fishing through the week.

The calendar has worked for thousands of anglers. It could work for you.

Good fishing!

TORCHY'S RECORD THREATENED

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO (CP) — Twenty-two cyclists from Europe and North America start on an expenses-paid 1,750-mile trip next Sunday in an effort to prove that six-day bike racing isn't dead after all. Everything is on the house and, win or lose in this wheeling to nowhere, every contestant makes money.

A group of Montreal promoters are gambling up to $125,000 that this sport, a crowd-pleaser in Canada, the U.S. and Europe in the 1930's, can be a paying proposition in the '60s.

They are banking heavily on Toronto's big ethnic population flocking to Maple Leaf Gardens to watch the cyclists go round and round.

"Why not?" asks Rene Cyr, one of the promoters, who cycled in the depression days when Torchy Peden of Victoria was the world's best.

"Cycling in Europe, such as the big road races and so on, is a tremendous attraction and with the large communities of Italians and other Europeans in Toronto we're just hoping they'll turn out to watch what has been almost a non-existent sport in Canada for a generation."

Just about everything is laid on for the two-man cycling teams, some of whom earn up to $120,000 a year competing in road races in Europe and endorsing such unlikely products as automobiles and gasoline.

None will be allowed to leave the Gardens for a breath of fresh air during the 144 hours.

But you don't have to bleed for them.

The promoters are paying a local catering firm $2,500 to set up a restaurant in the building for the wheelmen who eat, according to Cyr, anywhere from five to seven meals a day. Their favorite food is steak, lamb chops and raw meat.

And they don't pretend to kid anybody that they are spinning around the track the full 144 hours. They start at 7 p.m. and go through until 4 a.m., when the building is closed. They grab a few hours' sleep and hit the track around 10 a.m. and go until 5 p.m. The building is cleared again of the matinee crowd and the doors reopen two hours later.

"Every rider is under contract, just like hockey, football and baseball players," says Cyr. "Our contracts for the 11 two-man teams range from $400 to $3,000 for the week.

"The big scorers in hockey and the power hitters in baseball get more than other players on their clubs. The same principle works here."

Peden was the greatest in the old days when six-day bike racing was a major attraction in Toronto.

Now, a record he set may be equalled.

Peden, now a representative of a sporting goods manufacturer in Chicago, won 38 races in a career ranging from 1931 to 1942 and it is threatened by Rick Van Steembergen, 41-year-old cyclist from Belgium, who starts here Sunday with 37 victories in the last 21 years.

Palmer's Putter Finally Working

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Arnold Palmer broke out of a long putting slump Thursday and shot a six-under-par 66 to take the first-round lead in Nevada's $75,000 Tournament of Champions.

Palmer toured the 7,209-yard, par-36-36—72 Desert Inn country club course in 34-32—66.

Jack Nicklaus, heavily favored defending champion, faded back with 37-37—74.

Sam Snead, at 52 the oldest player in the field, would have matched Palmer but for a two-over-par 6 on the 13th hole. He finished with 35-33.

Bill Casper Jr., made the trip in 34-34, and 25-year-old Dick Sikes had 35-33.

"This is the best I've putted in a year," said Palmer.

Snead's trouble came when he had to shoot from under a tree and the ball wound up in a thick bush.

Nicklaus, seeking his third straight victory here, registered only one birdie, on the 15th.

Pete Brown of Los Angeles, the first Negro to qualify for the tournament, complained of muscle spasms in his back and had a 78. He said he might not be able to continue in the second round.

Arnold Palmer	34	32—66
Sam Snead	33	35—68

BOWLER OF WEEK

Back for another shot at winning Times Trophy and cash prize in Bowler-of-the-Year rolloff on May 9 is Wendy Merluk, a stenographer for B.C. government. Wendy, who qualified for rolloff last year in ninth week of 28-week contest, waited until final week this time to earn women's fivepin award in Times Bowler-of-the-Week competition. She made it with 239-211-329—779 series in Tuesday Afternoon League at Town and Country Lanes, edging Etta Rubynuk of Chemainus by four points.

Millwall's Victory Assures Promotion

LONDON (Reuters) — Millwall made sure of promotion from the fourth to the third division of the English Football League Thursday night by beating Notts County 2-1 at Nottingham.

The win gave Millwall 62 points for the completed 46-match season and second place in the table, one point behind Brighton and Hove Albion.

Chemainus Bidding For Baseball Berth

The Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League has the money, but not the players, to staff a fifth team. To fill the gap the league will probably take in a Chemainus entry.

This curious state of affairs came about when the Victoria and District Amateur Baseball Association handed over $1,200 to the league. This would support a fifth franchise but when insufficient players could be found, Chemainus filed an entry. The league will decide May 9 if Chemainus is in.

Teams will play a 27-game season starting May 22 with a doubleheader at Royal Athletic Park, followed by another doubleheader May 23. Single games will be played Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays starting at 6:30 p.m.

COLUMBUS HERE SUNDAY

United Recalls Royals' Favors

If the truth must be known, Victoria United executives get along best with their counterparts in New Westminster when the soccer brass gets behind the Pacific Coast League haggling table.

For that reason, there is added incentive for United to defeat Vancouver Columbus in their Sunday match at Royal Athletic Park.

The obvious and main reason, of course, is third place. A victory over Columbus would cinch third place for Victoria.

A Columbus setback would leave the men of Peter Mainardi holding the fouth and last playoff berth by a single point over New Westminster. Since United remembers past favors, the Victorians would like to help New Westminster's cause.

KEY MEN MISSING

Both Columbus and United will be missing a key man for Sunday's game — the only one scheduled in the Coast circuit this weekend. Columbus winger Bobby Smith, the league's leading scorer, and Victoria fullback Dave Stothard both will be in Mexico to assist Vancouver Firefighters in the international Kennedy Cup tournament.

The international tournament gets under way Saturday.

CORNER KICKS: Fort Lewis Army will play Hourigan's Kickers in an exhibition at Athletic Park Saturday . . . PCSL action will be limited the following weekend as well . . . Sheffield United and Blackpool of the English League will play in Vancouver's Empire Stadium May 9 . . . Victoria All-Stars, down 3-2 in their annual inter-city series, face the mainland select Sunday afternoon at Callister Park . . . Vancouver's Seggie Cup (junior league) final has the field Saturday . . . The 1965 FA Cup final between Liverpool and Leeds United will be telecast by CBC-TV on May 8 . . . The final itself will be played Saturday.

Cricket Season Opens Saturday

Four games are scheduled for city pitches Saturday and Sunday as Victoria Cricket League teams swing into action.

Albions and Alcos meet at Beacon Hill Park and Oak Bay hosts Incogs at Windsor Park in Saturday games. Castaways and Cowichan at Beacon Hill and Alcos and HMS Kent at Windsor Park are Sunday's fare.

All matches start at 2:15 p.m.

Jim Hady Winner Of Battle Royal

In other matches on the pro wrestling card, Hady defeated Nikita Kalmikoff, Roy Heffernan took Eric Froelich, Al Costello and Johnny Kostas went to a draw and Don Leo Jonathan and Klondike Bill were disqualified

Mrs. Green Captures Women's Par Event

Mrs. F. Green, finishing one down, won silver division honors in a ladies' par competition at Colwood Golf Club Thursday.

Runnerup was Mrs. M. Grant. Mrs. G. Shook topped the bronze field while Mrs. J. Shields paced "C" division.

Esks Sign Back

EDMONTON (CP) — Ken Hines, 22, a 212-pound fullback and defensive specialist from Colorado State University, has signed a 1965 tryout contract with Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference. The six-foot-one back had a tryout last season with Washington Redskins of the National League.

Cold Shoulder In Milwaukee

(By Associated Press)

Despite 67-degree weather, the fans continued to apply the cold shoulder Thursday night as Atlanta-bound Milwaukee Braves defeated world champion St. Louis Cardinals 4-1.

"This isn't baseball weather," has been the cry of Braves' officials during a cold wave that had attendance plunging as low as a topless bathing suit.

But, unofficial as it is, there seems little doubt that there will be a fan boycott of the Braves this season.

Attendance for the entire three-game set against the world champions totalled 5,183. And in their last six games the Braves haven't drawn enough to fill County Stadium once, with only 14,740 paying customers.

In other games, Don Drysdale outdueled Juan Marichal in Los Angeles Dodgers' 2-1 victory over San Francisco Giants and Chicago Cubs whipped Cincinnati Reds 6-3 while Baltimore Orioles edged Washington Senators 5-4 in the American League.

Hank Aaron hit his first homer for the Braves in the eighth inning but they already had put the game away in the fifth inning when a throwing error by Curt Flood and a wild pitch by Curt Simmons led to two runs.

ALLOWS TWO HITS

Pitcher Bob Sadowski of the Braves, forced to retire when he injured his knee sliding into third, allowed only two hits before he left. Billy O'Dell finished up a four-hitter.

Tommy Davis drove in both Dodger runs in support of Drysdale.

Davis tripled in the fourth inning, following a single by Wes Parker, to tie the score. In the sixth, Maury Wills singled, took second on a bunt, stole third and came home on another Davis single.

The Cubs got the job done with a four-run sixth inning that broke up a scoreless duel between Cal Koonce and the Reds' Jim O'Toole.

Billy Williams opened the sixth with a double and Ron Santo followed with a single. Pete Rose then dropped a throw on Ernie Banks' grounder, allowing Williams to score. A walk loaded the bases before Koonce singled one run home and Glenn Beckert singled in two more.

LOWER SCORES WERE A PROMISE

NOW THEY'RE A FACT. When Terpolymite—a new synthetic compound 35% harder than the wood commonly used for wood-headed clubs, was introduced by Spalding, company researchers promised it would not warp, chip, crack, scratch or fade. ☐ ☐ They promised it would keep its smooth molded shape. ☐ ☐ Now last year's promises are this year's facts. ☐ ☐ With a Spalding Terpolymite your score will be lower. ☐ ☐ Because the harder the club head the greater your hitting power. ☐ ☐ Don't believe us? Ask your pro. ☐ ☐ He has the new Spalding Terpolymite "woodless wood". ☐ ☐ One test swing will show you why good woods don't have to be made from wood anymore.

Amateur Tennis Payoff Keeps Stars From Pros

NEW YORK (AP)—The professional tennis tour is having trouble getting new blood because it can't outbid the amateur associations, Barry MacKay said today.

"These associations are supposed to be purely amateur but they're as professional as we are," the former United States Davis Cup ace, now tour director for the pros, added. "The only thing is — they've got more money than we have."

MacKay said the Professional Tennis Players Association needs a constant infusion of fresh talent to survive but that recently it has been running into a stone wall.

"We offered Roy Emerson $85,000 for three years and we dangled similar contracts for $75,000 under the noses of Dennis Ralston, Rafael Osuna and Manuel Santana.

"We got turned down cold. These boys apparently were persuaded that they could make more money by remaining amateur. It's tough competition So far, we haven't been able to meet it."

ALL TOP RATED

Emerson of Australia is the world's top - ranking amateur while Ralston of the U.S., Mexico's Osuna and Spain's Santana are the top Davis Cup players of their respective countries.

"We had a good case of this increased pressure to keep leading players amateur recently with Jan-Erik Lundquist of Sweden," MacKay continued.

"We made Lundquist a good offer to meet Pancho Gonzales in a series of matches. He was interested. He announced he was ready to accept. Then suddenly he changed his mind. It was made attractive enough for him to stay amateur.

"Of course, the classic case is that of Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy. In 1960, he already had signed his contract. The announcement was made. Then Nikky reneged. The Italians talked him out of it. With words? Hardly."

Night Off Wins Classic For Fillies

NEWMARKET, England (Reuters)—Night Off, a 9-to-2 favorite, won the One Thousand Guineas, the first British fillies' classic of the flat racing season here Thursday, beating the French filly Yami by a neck.

Mabel was third, three lengths away, among the 16 runners.

Players' Group Not a Weapon

HAMILTON (CP)—The newly formed Canadian Football League Players' Association is not intended "as a club to be held over the CFL's head," says John Agro, a Hamilton lawyer and pro tem legal adviser to the association.

Agro and quarterback Bernie Faloney, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat who was traded in the off season to Monteral Alouettes and a prime mover of the association, expressed concern Thursday for what they believed were erroneous implications concerning the group's aim.

Both men said the association's sole purpose is to improve pro football in Canada and this can best be accomplished through improved player-management relations.

OBJECTS TO QUOTE

Faloney said a wire service story from Ottawa on comments he made Tuesday at a dinner gathering had been lifted out of context. He had been reported as saying players were not "cattle or chattels" any more.

He said in that particular instance he had been referring to players being first notified of trades or sales by other than team management.

The association's brief will be presented to the CFL's annual meeting in June when Agro hopes "to obtain formal recognition of the group's existence. . ."

Vancouver Gets Women's Curling

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian women's curling championship will be played in Vancouver next year, it was announced Thursday.

The announcement was made at the annual meeting of the Southern Ontario Ladies' Curling Association attended by delegates from 75 clubs.

Lawn Bowlers Open

Past president Stan Baker will roll the first ball when the Canadian Pacific Lawn Bowling Club officially opens its season Saturday at 2 p.m.

Your Mercury dealer invites you to COMPARE
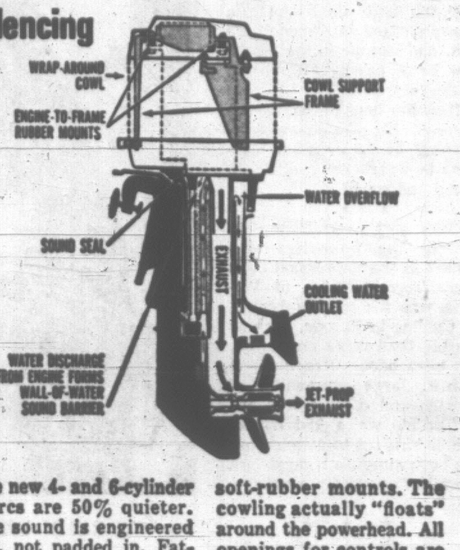
Merc's sound-engineered quiet with the "fat-padding" method of silencing



The new 4- and 6-cylinder Mercs are 50% quieter. The sound is engineered out, not padded in. Fat-padding would have ruined Merc's slim, trim silhouette. Merc's silencing came, primarily, from two new principles:

- A wall of engine cooling water surrounds Merc's new internal exhaust pipe and prevents noise from escaping through the sides of the drive shaft housing. This wall-of-water also damps out mechanical vibration. Unlike ordinary outboards, which pay for noise reduction by sacrificing power, Merc's new silencing system actually boosts power to the prop.
- Mercs have a new, non-broadcasting cowling that is isolated from the vibrating powerhead by large, soft-rubber mounts. The cowling actually "floats" around the powerhead. All openings for controls are sealed with neoprene to insure that sound is trapped inside the cowling.

Dyna-Float, aircraft-type suspension . . . an elastically isolated steering arm . . . offset wrist pins . . . small-bore, short-stroke design . . . and exclusive Jet-Prop exhaust are just a few more of the reasons why Mercs are 50% quieter.

Make the sound comparison yourself. Drop by your Mercury dealer today . . . he's got it on the record. He can also give you more reasons why you get more RUN for your money with Mercury . . . 100, 90, 65, 50, 35, 20, 9.8, 6 and 3.9 hp.

VIET NAM IN FORE

Triumph, Disappointment In LBJ's First 100 Days

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson completes today the first 100 days of his four-year term—a 100-day blend of triumph, struggle, elation and disappointment.

The first three days Johnson served as president in his own right set a symbolic pattern for the peaks and valleys he has been negotiating ever since.

First came the triumph of inauguration day, formalizing a record election victory.

In a larger and more significant context, Johnson's post-inaugural ups and downs have been equally marked:

—In dealings with the heavily Democratic Congress, the president achieved a clear triumph in his first 100 days. More major bills moved farther and faster than in any comparable period since the early days of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

—In the foreign field, however, frustration, tragedy and disappointment overtook Johnson's January hopes of making 1965 a year for building global peace. Though these hopes may yet be restored, attention now is focused on an enlarged war in Viet Nam.

SENSITIVE TO CRITICISM

The Viet Nam dilemma also has produced the first significant criticism of Johnson that cuts across party lines. Ever sensitive to criticism, the president has withheld any direct and sharp response but, personally and through members of the cabinet, has tried to deal indirectly with many of the points raised by dissidents. If the global outlook has been sharply altered in 100 days, there have been less dramatic changes in the appearance and actions of the 57-year-old president himself.

The human whirlwind of 1964 is working as hard as ever—perhaps harder—but the pace may be taking a toll.

More often than before, Johnson has looked tired in recent months. Those who see him infrequently have noticed it most. Recently, however), he has seemed more like his old self.

Doctors say his health remains excellent. But they have urged him to allot more time for relaxation — something he seems to do best at his Texas ranch.

Of course, any changes in Johnson's pattern of behavior certainly mirror his preoccupation with the war there and his personal involvement in promoting his legislative program.

Formal speaking engagements outside Washington have approached the vanishing point. There have been only three in 100 days and two of these dealt with Viet Nam.

LITTLE BANG TO START COLUMBIA

He will set off a small charge of explosives May 19 at the site of the Duncan Dam, north of Nelson, while more than 120 special guests look on.

Invitations have gone to Prime Minister Pearson, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and former U.S. president Dwight Eisenhower to be among the spectators but so far replies have not been received. Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Eisenhower were signatories of the first Columbia River Treaty, which was scrapped by B.C.'s rejection.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1965—PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

Even though more than a day has now passed since we were flapped so rudely by Victoria's second-worst recorded earthquake, I am not going to give up my right to answer Thursday's universal question:

"Where were you when it happened?"

Well, I was in bed, that's where, mopping drearily at a streaming head cold.

Up on the road, a truck went by. Nothing strange about that. But another, much heavier vehicle was rumbling in from the southwest. Even in my bemused state, this struck me as odd, since in that quarter, there's only bush and salt water.

I looked through the window and saw the balsam flip their tops as if to a hard and sudden breeze.

Then the floor began to undulate, the bed to cavort, and while it was still bucking, I got out of there like a scared cat.

"Where were you?" I asked my wife.

"In the hall," she reported, "and I'm seasick."

In the next hour, we learned a lot about who had been where, and how they had fared in the quake. Presently the milkman jangled down the drive, and after reporting how the water had surged to and fro in the tropical fish tank, we asked the inevitable question.

"I can't say exactly where I was," the milkman told us. "In fact, I didn't know there was a quake until a customer told me." He nodded toward his laden truck.

"When you drive one of those rigs," he said, "it's like being in an earthquake every day!"

We have in this town a problem of a sort that shouldn't overtake anyone except possibly Walt Disney, who is largely responsible for it.

I refer to the way his film version of "Mary Poppins," the nursemaid who is wafted through the air by her magic umbrella, has bewitched a three-year-old viewer called Judy.

Judy's is no mere fit of running about with an umbrella pretending to fly like the marvellous Miss Poppins.

The kid is of sterner stuff . . . she's going to be airborne by her mother's umbrella; and no use to tell her that Mary P. is just a nice, made-up person in a wonderful story, darling.

The bumbershoot, of course, must be constantly open and ready for takeoff. At bedtime, this creates a spiky problem, which is made even more so by Judy's insistence on transferring to her parents' nest at earliest dawn.

"Some day Judy will grow out of this," her patient mother told me. "Anyway, we don't get jabbed so painfully since we got her a child's parasol."

Our tough black cat, Cleopatra, has come in where I am laid low, has drunk from my goldfish's bowl, and with a pass of her meathooks at my dangling foot, has returned to her kittens.

To bring you up to date, we found Cleo had birthed four of the little creatures, when with a stern air of dutiful motherhood, she fetched them out from under a shelf.

For a full day she carried each tiny squeaker — three grey and one tortoise-shell — to various hiding places in house and basement.

Then, with an assist from us, she rallied them in the front hall closet, where they continue to gain in stature, and, we hope, wisdom.

Our chief concern was the runt of the litter, whose provisional name is "Grey-Face." Cleopatra, who has surprised us by making a truly fine mamma does her best for him at the milk bar, but he loses his spigot all too easily still.

For a time, we wondered if his eyes were doomed never to open. Today, though, he cracked his peepers, and at once displayed his parentage by taking a swipe with a midget, velvet paw.

So much for this day, except to assure restaurant association chief Bill Webb, whose name got mangled here Thursday, that only by accident would I bite the hand that fed me so bountifully.

'NUNS MUST OBEY THE POPE'

Vatican Order Behind Closure

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The Roman Catholic Church said today the "real issue" in the Good Shepherd Shelter controversy is that the nuns there must obey the Pope.

The Pope is the highest superior of all sisters and obedience is due him and the Sacred Congregation in Rome which represents him, the church said in a public statement.

The church said its action does not imply the sisters are being persecuted, that animal welfare work is being condemned or that the persons involved hate animals.

"Such conclusions are unwarranted and only confuse the real issue of obedience to legitimate superiors."

Asked for the specific reasons for the order to close the shelter by next Tuesday, Monsignor Michael O'Connell, chancellor of the Victoria diocese and spokesman for Bishop Remi de Roo in his absence, said:

- ● Complaints have been made by neighbors of the shelter near Albert Head to the Pope and Congregation in Rome;
- ● The sisters can't live an accepted religious life at the shelter so they must return to St. Mary's Priory where such a life is possible;
- ● in the judgment of a priest who studied the situation, works being done at the shelter are not in keeping with the nuns' vocation as sisters.

Msgr. O'Connell said Rev. Andrew Keber of Mission City was appointed by Rome to study the situation.

When this authority was questioned, the Congregation in Rome wrote Bishop De Roo requesting him to inform the sisters to abide by Father Keber's decisions. This was done three days ago.

The church's statement said the shelter for abandoned animals, started at 3842 Duke Road two years ago, "has expanded to such an extent that it has an adverse affect on the lives of the families living near it."

"Many of the families living near the Good Shepherd Shelter are concerned about their rights as property owners and, in justice, the church wishes to defend publicly these rights."

At the same time, the church wished to publicly acknowledge "truly heroic work" performed by the sisters for old and sick persons at the priory.

Father Keber, contacted at the Benedictine Abby in Mission City, said the order to close still stands.

"May 4—that's the date for them to leave the shelter," he said.

If the shelter isn't closed, "there will be other steps taken."

This could mean disciplinary action against the shelter's founder, Mother Cecilia Mary, he said.

In reply this morning, Mother Cecilia, who is 75, said the church officials are "overstepping their authority."

"Obedience is to the rule of the order, not to the bishop," she said.

"We are simply going to sit tight. We are not going to close, that's certain."

She said the 24-acre property is in her own name and the sisters have property rights as well as the neighbors.

She only knew of four neighbors really opposed to the shelter, but Msgr. O'Connell said there were "many more" than four complaints.

Since last year, there have been complaints of noise from dogs from some of the neighbors.

Asked if the church was conducting a vendetta against her, she replied: "Something like that."

She said it is "quite untrue" the sisters' vows have been broken.

"It makes no difference to our vows," she said. "We are doing works of mercy. We are living the same life as at the priory."

She also said Mother Superior Ursula has been ordered to stop the $400-a-month allowance for the six nuns at the shelter after Tuesday.

She said no authority exists for Father Keber to give such an order.

Since news of the closure order was disclosed in Thursday's Times, Mother Cecilia said the telephone has rung constantly.

She said of more than 100 telephone calls, none were in support of the church's stand.

"They are all on our side. Some said they are ashamed of being Roman Catholics because of what is being done."

Animal lover Mrs. Florence Barr called Mother Cecilia "a wonderful woman" and said she and her friends think the church's action is "disgusting."

END OF THE LINE

This pot-bellied little lady followed in the tracks of many other 70-year-olds today when she arrived in Victoria to retire. A Scottish aristocrat, she spent most of her life pulling royalty and nobility along a short stretch between Inverness and Golspie. Dunrobin by name, she is unloaded from the freighter Dongedyk at Ogden Point after her journey from Britain. Along with a luxuriously appointed carriage, she will spend the rest of her days preening at the Imperial Pageantry Centre, 1010 Government.

WOODSMEN FELL PRINCE IN SORROW

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Victoria's oldest cherry tree "Black Prince" is dead.

The tree planted 101 years ago in the Elliott Street garden of Sir James Douglas, B.C.'s first governor, died at exactly 7:23 a.m. today.

Two gardeners, supervised by Leonard Butterworth, B.C. superintendent of grounds, carried out the death-dealing operation.

The only other witnesses were a raven, three robins and several song sparrows.

Death came quickly. First the gnarled branches were cut. Then a power saw sliced through its trunk.

The tree situated on the Government parking lot, facing Elliott Street and west of Helmcken House, was removed to make way for the construction of a new provincial museum.

But Mr. Butterworth said it was in effect a "mercy killing."

"It was ailing," he said, "Rot had set in its trunk."

But Mr. Butterworth said Black Prince will live again.

"Two years ago we took three scions from the tree and planted them in the Government House nursery," he said. "They are all doing well."

ISLAND TALKS NEXT

Truckers End Their Strike

The mainland cartage industry shutdown was settled Thursday night and negotiations will be held with six Vancouver Island companies next week.

Drivers, helpers and warehousemen at 53 mainland companies voted 83 per cent to approve a four-year contract.

The new contract provides for an extra 80 cents an hour on a basic $2.33 and no extension of existing leasing arrangements of trucks and equipment without mutual agreement.

Wages here are 10 cents an hour less than the mainland and the union hopes to achieve parity during the next four years.

Five companies and 150 men are involved in Victoria—Heaney's, Dowell's, Capital Freightways, Ideal Fuel and Alert Service.

A further 50 men are involved at West Coast Freight in Nanaimo.

Negotiator for the union will be Blair Whitelock of Vancouver, president of General Truck Drivers and Helpers Union, Local 31.

The mainland agreement was reached after a strike-lockout shut down nearly 40 companies for the first time since 1919. Agreement resulted from meetings called by deputy labor minister William Sands.

Airing Delayed In Ferry Row; But No Strike

Decision has been delayed on whether a hearing will be set for a suspended shop steward involved in a wildcat work stoppage last week on the Queen of Esquimalt.

Civil Service Commission chairman Dr. H. M. Morrison said today, "I've just received the letter asking for a hearing and have had no time to study or consider the matter," he said today.

A potential wildcat tieup of Swartz Bay terminal this morning did not materialize over the case. Both management and B.C. Government Employees' Association officials had commented that a walkout was rumored but not confirmed.

The request for a hearing under grievance procedures was sent by the B.C. Government Employees' Association which represents the ferry crews.

REPORT DENIED

Meanwhile, Ron Worley, assistant manager of the ferry authority, issued a press release denying a report by several ferry workers. It said ferries are undermanned and personnel underpaid.

The workers charged that ferries had sailed without full crews as required by the Canada Shipping Act for protection of passengers.

Mr. Worley countered that the crew complement of the government ferries meets requirements of the act and compares favorably with the crew numbers of the Black Ball Transport Inc. and the Washington State Ferry System.

34 PER 1,000

He said complement of the B.C. ferries is 34 crewmen for every 1,000 passengers compared with 13 on Black Ball and 27 on Washington State.

"Wages for B.C. Ferry personnel compare very favorably with other operations in B.C., namely, Northland Navigation, Canadian National Steamships and Canadian Pacific Steamships," he said.

He said B.C. Ferries' monthly pay of $355 for seamen and $335 for stewards tops the list.

B.C. crews also have numerous fringe benefits, including "protection of the regulated civil service grievance procedue," he said.

Joint Project Hopes Dashed at City Hall

By AB KENT
Times City Hall Reporter

The result may be that Victoria will undertake its own permanent Canadian Centennial project.

Finance committee decided to send council delegate Ald. Robert Baird to Greater Victoria centennial committee with the invitation for other municipalities to join the city in Athletic Park restoration.

The city is committed to the task in any case, and favors the application of its own $150,000 grant toward the $300,000 estimated cost.

COUNCILS SPLIT

But the surrounding councils have expressed other ideas—Saanich favoring a major stadium complex to be built in Saanich; Esquimalt solidly in support of Gorge waterway improvement.

Oak Bay is uncommitted and Central Saanich appears uninterested in a joint project, although Reeve R. Gordon Lee has declared that he supports the idea as an individual.

Between $420,000 and $500,000 will be available for centennial projects in the capital region.

Those favoring a stadium declare this would be enough to make a firm start, although more than $1,000,000 would be needed ultimately.

"We need Royal Athletic Park for this area," said Ald. Austin Curtis. "Whether we need a stadium is another question."

The finance chairman added, "I think we are stuck with this, unfortunately."

"I don't think it is unfortunate. I think it is wonderful," Ald. Clyde Savage said, referring to the Bate plan for reconstruction of fields and stands following a fire last fall.

CONTROVERSIAL commentator Pat Burns will speak in Victoria Wednesday. Formerly with CJOR in Vancouver, Mr. Burns is now a Vancouver Times columnist. He will address an inter-service clubs' social evening at the Ingraham Hotel at 8:30. More than 250 members of 19 clubs are expected to attend. The evening is restricted to club members. Mr. Burns was invited to Victoria by the Vic Van Isle Kinsmen.

2 Plus 2 Equals 3 When Some Add Up Their Income Tax Debt

By JIM HUME
Times Business Editor

Victorians don't add well but they multiply worse.

That's the message from the income tax office as the blackest day of the year zooms to its midnight close.

C. E. Wesson, director of taxation for this area, says the major problem faced by his overworked staff at this time of the year comes from errors in adding and multiplication.

"They're not deliberate errors," he said when interviewed this morning. "It's just that some people seem to have a problem with simple addition and more have a problem with multiplying by 18 per cent to find out how much we get and how much Premier Bennett gets."

FORGET SLIPS

Other errors that slow down the processing operation arise when the faithful and efficient who file early forget to attach medical and donation receipts or their T4 slip.

"But they are very few," said Mr. Wesson.

For those who miss the midnight deadline there is a 5 per cent penalty added to the unpaid tax and interest at 6 per cent per annum as long as it remains unpaid.

There is one word of comfort for those who having added and multiplied correctly find they still owe money to the government: drop in to the income tax office and get some help in working out suitable payments.

"We have a job to do, but we're not head-hunters," said Mr. Wesson. "If anyone owes the government money after midnight tonight we would be happy to help work out a system of payments amicable to us both."

Ask The Times

Q. The increase in cost of living is stated to be 37.3 per cent since 1949. Have you the percentage for increase in wages over the same period? M.M.

A. According to a report received here recently from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the average salary of a wage-earner in the manufacturing group in 1949 was $43.97 per week.

Today he is making an average of $88.80 per week which is an increase of about 100 per cent.

Q. What's the address of the Fish and Game Commission of B.C.? S.C.

A. There is no provincial commission—it's a federal department. But the wildlife branch, department of recreation and conservation, will be able to help you.

PROFESSOR SCOLDS INDUSTRY

URGES PUBLIC PROTEST

Consumer Bears Brunt of 'New Drug' Advertising Costs

Flooding the market with so-called new drugs will result in chaos unless curbs are introduced, says Professor M. Pernarowski.

Dr. Pernarowski, a member of the faculty of pharmacy at the University of British Columbia, made the statement Thursday in an address to the annual meeting of the Consumers' Association of Canada.

"Many of these so-called new drugs are not new at all," he said. "They are established drugs under a new brand name. I am well aware of the importance of competition and free enterprise, but I am also alarmed at the vast number of drugs, all the same, being pushed at the public under different names. Each needs its own advertising, each its own production and labelling, and of course the consumers pick up the tab.

"Drugs are supposed to serve mankind not pad the pockets of manufacturers," he added. "I am not a socialist and I do believe in free enterprise—but I strongly deplore the methods of some drug manufacturers. Unless something is done about the introduction of new drugs the result will be chaos."

Dr. Pernarowski also criticized the methods of advertising used by many drug manufacturers.

"I have been accused of being overly-conscious of drug advertising on TV," he said. "But the fact remains that many manufacturers are misrepresenting the therapeutic value of their products. The claims for some remedies are deplorable.

"Pressure must be brought to bear on these manufacturers to accept some responsibility."

Dr. Pernarowski, a member of the federal advisory council on food and drugs to the federal government, suggested that if every TV viewer who objected to certain drug advertising fired a protest postcard to the manufacturer, voluntary curbs would soon follow.

"I have a friend in the United States who keeps a flock of postcards on hand," he said. "Every time he sees an objectional commercial he shoots off a postcard to the manufacturer saying that he will never buy their product until the commercial is changed.

"With 10,000 more like him I think the manufacturers would soon change their ways," he said.

"If the industry does not soon change its ways voluntarily, then the government will have to make the changes for him," he said.

Dr. Pernarowski also knocked the advertising of companies producing dry cereals.

"We conducted a series of tests with dry cereals using all the well-known brands," he said. "We discovered that when mixed with milk there was very little difference in the protein content of any of them.

"And we further discovered that none of them are a good source of protein."

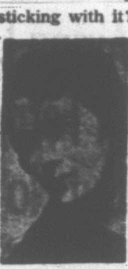
Pendray Hall will be the scene of a May Day coffee party, Saturday, sponsored by the Metropolitan United Church Women, from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The affair will be opened by Mrs. A. E. King, at right. General convener is Miss Leora Foster, centre. Mrs. George Callan, at left, is in charge of serviteurs.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

What Urges Women to Talk About the Diets They're On?

Q. Why do women have to talk about their diet when they are supposedly sticking with it? I am all for losing overweight, but nothing is more tiresome than hearing someone always talk about being on a diet. It seems to me that dieting is a personal matter. I suspect that lots of women who talk continually about their diet and pick at the food at the table sit down and eat a big meal when the family is not around.



Lowman

I think it makes husbands nervous. They can't sit down and enjoy the food they want to eat in peace. Whenever I diet my husband and family never know it.

A. I am of two opinions about this. I suppose women talk about it in order to reinforce their determination. And family interest in the effort is a great incentive. However, I agree that the first requirement for a successful loss of weight is the woman's own desire to lose and will to lose.

It is entirely possible for a woman to reduce and not let her family know what she is doing. She can pass up a roll, leave gravy off of her meat, take smaller helpings, put low calorie salad dressing on her salad, pass up dessert and no one will notice unless she has been talking about dieting. Then of course her family will watch her food intake like the RCMP does a criminal.

I guess it depends on the individual woman and her family. I do think that the most "fun" idea is to slip up on the family—surprise them. Then when unexpectedly, one sunny morning, your husband says, "You look wonderful"; your child "Mother, you have lost weight"; and your friends say, "What have you been doing? You look 10 years younger," it all seems worth the effort!

Q. My problem is an embarrassing one. It is excessive perspiration. I am about 20 pounds overweight and I perspire so much that my underarms are almost always dripping wet. I have used countless antiperspirants but none has been effective. I bathe daily, change underclothes daily, use powder and cream sachet, but I worry about my excessive perspiration constantly. I am around people every day and this problem is always prevalent.

A. Extreme nervousness is usually the main problem. This can cause excessive perspiration such as you mention. Then, of course worrying about it makes you even more nervous. It's a vicious circle. Lead as healthful a life as possible. Mild exercise, especially outdoors during these spring days, would be relaxing. I suggest that you see your doctor. He may feel that you need tranquilizers or medication of some sort. A loss of weight would help too.

If any of my readers would like to have the names of some antiperspirants which some of my readers have found to be effective, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

TODAY'S RECIPE

SALMON CROQUETTES

One (15½ oz.) can salmon, 1 (10 oz.) can cream of mushroom soup, 2 tbsp. lemon juice, 1 medium onion, finely chopped, dash tabasco sauce, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup coarse cracker crumbs, 1 egg, beaten; ⅛ cup milk and ¾ cup fine cracker crumbs.

Drain and flake salmon, saving liquid. Add one cup mushroom soup to salmon. Add lemon juice, onion, tabasco, pepper and coarse cracker crumbs; combine thoroughly. Shape into eight or 10 croquettes. Add milk to beaten egg. Roll each croquette in fine cracker crumbs, then in egg mixture, and again in crumbs.

Fry in deep hot fat, 375 deg. F., for 3 to 5 minutes, until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve with or without sauce. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Combine and heat remaining soup and salmon liquid for sauce; heat.

'Around the World' On Your Tablecloth

By Penny Saver

When we were out to dinner last night, our hostess served us a huge, beautifully prepared dinner of all Scandinavian dishes—cooked a la Sweden. It was delicious and so, like a typical female, I sneaked out to the kitchen when everyone was finishing their coffee, to see if I could have her recipes for some of the dishes. "Better than that," my hostess laughed, "I'll give you the name of my recipe book."

In one store, I found not only the Swedish cookbook but also a number of others, featuring dishes from countries all over the world utilizing food you can pick up at any corner store.

The book of Swedish cooking gives you traditional as well as modern dishes—and also contains recipes for a complete, authentic Scandinavian smorgasbord. Price of the book is $5.

For French cooking—straight from Paris kitchens—is a book entitled "The Art of French Cooking" and it's almost unbelievable what the French can do with left-overs! Selling for $1.25, this book gives you added information about the use of spices and wines to add a cosmopolitan touch to any meal.

Like Italian cooking? Selling for 79 cents is a book of authentic Italian dishes with recipes ranging from pizza—a teenager's delight—to elaborate menus for the more sophisticated palate.

There are books with food ideas from more than 18 countries of the world—Hungary, Germany, Spain and many others.

Of course, if you are an indifferent cook like I sometimes am, there is a novelty cookbook called, "I Hate to Cook Book."

This gives some of the simpler recipes, complete with hilarious accompanying remarks by the author. Chapter headings are really humorous—"Left-overs, or Every Family Needs a Dog." But, there are some good food ideas in here, especially for a quick meal in a minute. Price is $4.75.

For food with a foreign flavor, give Penny a call—382-3131—and find out where to shop.

Six Celebrate Birthday at Recent Party

A special birthday cake marking a total of 171 years and decorated with the six names of the guests of honor centred the refreshment table at a birthday party held at Fulford Harbor, Salt Spring Island. Mrs. J. B. French was hostess and the honor guests included her husband, Mr. French; Mrs. J. French, her daughter-in-law from Vancouver; and tiny granddaughter Dawn French, and the Misses Jayney French, Ronda Lee and Diane Hobday, the last three all celebrating their 17th birthdays. The trio, who were all born within hours of one another in the Lady Minto hospital at Ganges, have celebrated their respective birthdays together every year since their birth.

SENT EAST BY ONTARIO VISITOR

Dandelions Now Being Exported

By DINA STEWART

"When I retire, I'm going to come back to Victoria and grow dandelions!"

"The first thing I saw when I arrived in Vancouver last week," continues Mrs. A. South, "was a lot of beautiful green grass between the runways. And among the grass, loads of lovely dandelions!"

Why this preoccupation with dandelions? Cathy South loves to make dandelion wine! "British Columbia's latest export to Ontario (she comes from Brampton, Ont.) is now dandelions. I picked two from beside the Empress Hotel and sent them to my children."

The attractive mother of two boys has a very attractive job—she's family moving adviser for a national moving company—the only such person in Canada.

"I started working in October and went through a training schedule—first to see the drivers in training, through the warehouses to see how the packing is done, and then discussions with drivers themselves.

"It's my job to make sure people have the easiest and most comfortable move possible . . . with the experiences the drivers have had and told me about and through surveys."

"Before I took this job as family moving adviser," says Mrs. Cathy South, "I had travelled extensively in Europe as a dairy princess. Everyone overseas that I talked to about Canada was sure I had travelled all over this country, too. It was terribly embarrassing to admit I'd never been out of my own province before."

CAC SPEAKER

Much of her work involves speaking to women's associations and clubs, doing television and radio interviews. She came to Victoria to speak to the provincial annual meeting of the Consumers' Association of Canada, Thursday.

Cathy's speaking ability has come from long practise and another "first"—she was dairy princess of Ontario and Canada—the first married woman to gain the title. With the title, she took off for Europe—and toured the entire continent and the United Kingdom.

Mr. South is a dairy farmer and Cathy is quite proficient in milking cows and cleaning the dairy. At home she makes her own bread, loves to cook and makes her own clothes.

"The dress I wear to some meetings," she chuckles, "is one I made myself. It's a black and white sheath and together with the trim, thread and all, it cost $1.09. It took a whole afternoon to make, too."

One item Cathy wears everywhere she goes is a very attractive silver bangle bracelet.

"This has quite a history" she remembers laughingly. "When I was in England, the dairy people threw a party for us, and present was the women's editor of the largest agricultural magazine in Great Britain.

"She was wearing a very unique bracelet and when I asked her about it, she unclipped it and guess what it was? A ring for a bull's nose! She said that a dairy princess ought to have it and she gave it to me.

SILVER-PLATED

"I wore it in its original shape for awhile . . . but I became rather tired of using cleansing powder to remove the green from my wrist. So I had it silver-plated."

Cathy isn't too sure when she is going to be able to return home, but she's hoping about the end of May.

"I left the two boys, aged 9 and 12, with their grandmother but I'd really like to go back and find out how things are going. I try to phone them as often as I can . . . just recently I phoned them from Vancouver and the reception was extraordinarily clear.

SKEPTICAL

"I was chatting with my youngest for awhile when all of a sudden he said 'Are you sure you're in Vancouver?' !"

Cathy would like to caution all parents with young children who are moving to keep the youngsters occupied while everything is being packed.

"One driver I was talking to is dead against children playing outside while moving. One small boy had been sent out-of-doors while the men moved the furniture. The youngster crawled into the van and hid behind the chesterfield and not a peep was heard until all the family's goods were in the truck. They had to unload the whole thing again!"

McKinstry and family; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice H. Webb and Mr. A. Riddle.

Visiting City

Mrs. J. G. Patterson will arrive from her home in Calgary on Saturday and will be staying with Mrs. J. Thompson at Craigflower Manor, Admiral's Road. Also during her stay, Mrs. Patterson will be visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Patterson at their home on Transit Road.

Couple Wed

Mrs. A. G. Voyer, 1250 Richardson Street, announces the marriage of her younger daughter, Ellen Catharine, to Mr. Michael Thomas Coppinger, only son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Coppinger, 820 Towner Park Road, Sidney. The wedding took place last Saturday in St. Joseph's Church with Fr. Bernard Hanley officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Reside, 2225 Harlow Drive, announce the forthcoming marriage of their elder daughter, Glenna Margaret, to Mr. David William Rees, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rees, 460 Burnside Road. The wedding will take place on Friday, May 7, at 8 p.m., in St. Aidan's United Church. Rev. A. G. McLeod will officiate.

GIVEN GOWN OF EMPRESS

MEXICO CITY (CP)—A dress that belonged to Empress Carlotta (1840-1927) has been presented to the Carlotta-Maximilian Collection in Chapultepec Castle by Dr. Gabriel Moreno Robles. Carlotta's husband Maximilian was placed on the throne of Mexico by Napoleon III of France, but overthrown and executed in 1867.

Honeymoon in California Follows Recent Justice-Vinen Wedding

The bride, the former Jo-Anne Vinen, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Vinen, 1664 Derby Road, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. David R. Justice, 1419 Mt. Douglas Cross Road. Mr. Vinen gave his daughter in marriage.

Baskets of white and pink gladioli, stocks and narcissi decorated St. Aidan's United Church for the candlelit double-ring ceremony at which Rev. A. G. McLeod officiated.

Mrs. Vera Barclay was organist.

EMPIRE GOWN

The bride wore a floor-length gown of silk taffeta, styled on empire lines, featuring a watteau train extending from a bridal bow at the back waistline. The Chantilly lace bodice was highlighted with a scalloped sabrina neckline and sleeves ending in lily points. Her tiered veil of silk illusion net misted from a coronet of Chantilly lace and seed pearls. Pink rapture roses and stephanotis were in her cascade bouquet.

Matching gowns of shrimp pink organza over taffeta, featuring floral-trimmed overskirts, were the choice of bridesmaids, the Misses Carolyn McAllister and Cathie Watson. Toning flowers, edged with net, were in their hair and they carried cascade bouquets of white carnations. Only jewelry was sterling silver bracelets, gift of the bride.

Best man was Gary Scales. Ushering guests to pews marked with gladioli and ribbon were Donald Wilson and James Steen. All wore white dinner jackets.

A three-tier white wedding cake, made by the bride's mother and topped with doves holding wedding rings, centred the bride's table for the reception which followed in the War Amputations Hall. Pink candles and silver candelabra completed table decor. The guests' tables were centred with arrangements of pink and white carnations.

ACCESSORIES EN TONE

Pink and White Brocade Worn By Wendy Whittle

Fashioned on princess lines, the gown had a sheath front with back fullness accented by a self fabric bow. She wore a petal hat en tone and carried a crescent bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Kathleen Whittle, 3354 Browning Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Cole, 311 Foul Bay Road.

Rev. Murray Henderson conducted the late afternoon service in Belmont Avenue United Church.

R. P. Knott gave his granddaughter in marriage.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Brian Perry, sister of the bride, wore a deep pink sheath-style dress of silk. Her organza hat was en tone and she carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and feathered gladioli.

Brian Perry was best man.

A buffet supper highlighted the reception held at the home of the bride's mother. A three-tier cake in pink and white, topped with an heirloom vase containing pink rosebuds, centred the bridal table. Uncle of the bride, W. K. Hardy, proposed the toast.

Leaving on a honeymoon up-Island, the new Mrs. Cole wore an imported white wool coat. Red roses and stephanotis were in her corsage.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Forthright but Foolish!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If a man wants to date a widow or divorced woman with several small children, shouldn't he include the children on the date?

I am a widow with four small children and I am very hesitant about dating any men before I see how they act towards my children. If a man is not going to be a good father to my children, I don't want him. No man is that important to me.

DEVOTED MOTHER.

DEAR DEVOTED: I appreciate the fact that you are a devoted mother, and I respect you for it. But, unless you are equally determined to be a devoted wife, you had better forget about remarrying. If a man is interested in dating you, make it a twosome at first. And if he shows further interest, invite him to your home to meet your children. No man wants to feel that he is being "used." And if all a woman has in mind is finding a home for herself and her fatherless brood, she won't fool the man long.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is the cleanest man in the world. Every time he turns around he washes his hands. Abby, I believe in being clean, but I think he is carrying it too far. When I tell him that it is not necessary to wash his hands so many times, he tells me that nobody can be too clean. Is there something the matter with a man who acts like this? Or is it me?

GETTING WORRIED.

DEAR GETTING: Mysophobia (fear of dirt) is an affliction characterized by compulsive hand-washing. Perhaps your husband should see a doctor. On the other hand—perhaps he DOES dirty his paws often.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "STATIONED IN HONOLULU": Send her the engagement ring, Sailor, and more power to you. Engagements have been broken via the mails, so why shouldn't they be made that way?

MORRIS-SKINNER VOWS

Brocade and Chiffon Gown Made by Bride for Wedding

A gown of white brocade in floor length which she had made herself, was worn by Miss Sharon Frances Skinner when she exchanged vows with Dennis Gilbert Morris. A chiffon train flowed from the shoulder line at the back. The dress was fashioned with a high empire waistline. Her scalloped veil cascaded in a four-tier effect and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and salmon pink gladioli.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Skinner, 2535 Garden Street was given in marriage by her father at the ceremony held in the chapel of First United Church. Rev. R. J. Morris officiated.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Morris, 1564 Charlton Road.

Daffodils and spring flowers decorated the chapel.

During the signing of the register, soloist Miss Joan Stallybrass sang "O Perfect Love" and "I'll Walk Beside You."

Royal blue floor length gowns of peau de soie were worn by the trio of attendants the Misses Linda Curry, Sandra Michael and Marla Brayshaw. The sleeveless dresses were styled with scooped necklines. Dainty headpieces of blue forget-me-nots highlighted with wispy veiling completed the ensembles. They carried bouquets of yellow carnations.

Best man was Tom Skinner, the bride's brother and ushers were Jim Morris, brother of the groom and Len Lightfoot.

For a honeymoon trip to Portland, Ore., the bride wore a green double-knit suit. The jacket was highlighted by a mink collar. Her hat was en tone and she complemented the outfit with beige accessories.

BE SMART—

The true secret for keeping young is to have a young, vibrant body, firm and resilient. How to achieve this? Many ways. Lots of walking is one, but we advocate exercise classes on a regular basis . . . or a ballet or modern dance class for body tone.

Salt Spring News

OFF-SHORE RIGHTS

Terms to Court 'Shocks' Bonner

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner of British Columbia said Thursday night he is "shocked" that the federal government has made a unilateral presentation to the Supreme Court of Canada on the dispute over offshore mineral rights.

Mr. Bonner said B.C. understood top officials of both governments would confer on the text of the reference, which will seek a ruling in the complex matter.

The reference was announced in the Commons Thursday afternoon by Prime Minister Pearson. The text was later released.

"We have never heard these words before," Mr. Bonner said in an interview.

NOT APPROACHED

"My deputy advises me neither he nor any member of the department has been approached to offer any comment on the wording."

The attorney-general said he could not make any statement on the text of the presentation.

"This reference has got off to a very bad start," he said.

Prime Minister Pearson said the terms had been sent to B.C.'s Premier Bennett in case he wishes to comment on them.

Under the terms of reference the court will be asked to decide:

In respect of the lands, including the mineral and other natural resources, of the sea bed and subsoil seaward from the ordinary low water mark on the coast of the mainland and the several islands of British Columbia, outside the harbors, bays, estuaries and other similar inland water:

Are the said lands the property of Canada or British Columbia?

Has Canada or British Columbia the right to explore and exploit the said lands?

Has Canada or British Columbia legislative jurisdiction in relation to the said lands?

The conflict on off shore mineral rights began when the province began selling oil exploration rights, claiming it had a constitutional right to do so.

BOTH ISSUE PERMITS

Since 1961, the federal government has issued exploration licences for 15.3 million acres of the B.C. coast while the provincial government has licenced the exploration of about 12-million acres.

In many instances the licensed areas overlap and at least one oil company has taken out permits from both governments.

The provincial government has taken the stand that the province never relinquished any off-shore rights to any other government under the terms of the BNA Act.

Ottawa claims international conferences have decided unexploited resources over and under the continental shelf belong to the adjacent state—and international law recognizes only one state, the federal government.

A date for the start of the Supreme Court hearing of the argument has not been set.

MORE JOBS AVAILABLE

Jobs rose 5.7 per cent to give 610,000 British Columbians employment last month, the provincial bureau of economics and statistics reported Thursday.

The job expansion cut em-employment by 27 per cent, bringing the provincial jobless rate down to 5.1 per cent of the labor force.

Mayor Refuses Raise

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Mayor Stuart Gifford has again refused a $2,100-a-year raise. Mr. Gifford had last year refused the increase, which proposed increasing the mayor's salary to the $8,500 maximum set by the Municipal Act.

'HAZARD ZONE' RANKING

B.C. Fortunate in Escaping 'Quake Damage

VANCOUVER (CP) — Population centres of British Columbia have generally escaped earthquake damage although the area is ranked as a "hazard zone," an expert said today.

"We are in a hazard area and we have been very fortunate in the past that we have not had anything serious," Dr. Shedon Cherry said in an interview.

Dr. Cherry, a professor of civil engineering at the University of B.C., is chairman of the Canadian National Committee on earthquake engineering.

Records show the province has frequently trembled, but generally avoided serious damage or injuries.

In February, 1946, Vancouver reported no casualties and little damage when a 'quake caused $500,000 damage in Seattle alone.

The only earthquake death reported in B.C. occurred in June, 1946, when Capt. Harry Fiddler of Vancouver was drowned in a 'quake-caused tidal wave which overturned his boat off Vancouver Island.

On April 13, 1949, five persons were killed and 39 injured in neighboring Washington and Oregon states but B.C. residents escaped injury.

On August 22, 1949, an earthquake off the Queen Charlotte Islands was described by experts as "five times" more severe than a 'quake in Ecuador two weeks earlier which took 6,000 lives. There were no B.C. injuries.

By 1959 B.C. was recording about 250 minor 'quakes a year, and experts ranked the province's hazard as equal to that of California.

The only other comparable danger area in Canada is the Laurentian shield in eastern Canada.

Just over one year ago 163 died and damage totaled $350,000,000 when an earthquake rocked Alaska. Four tidal waves spawned in the upheaval swept down on the Vancouver Island communities of Port Alberni and Alberni, but despite heavy damage no deaths were reported.

The same tidal wave action claimed 10 lives in Crescent City, California.

Buy More Rubber

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — Purchases of Malaysian rubber by Russia and Communist-bloc countries are picking up after a sizeable drop last year, the Malay Mail reports. The newspaper says the Communist bloc bought 50,000 tons of rubber in the first two months of this year, equivalent to 34 per cent of their purchases last year.

Test drive Meteor– you too will agree it's best!

best in ride! best in handling!
best in performance! best in luxury!

Best for you!

Meteor is a car that turns heads wherever it goes. Now is the time you went further than just admiration. Meteor is a big car with the most beautiful styling (note those clear-cut, elegant fender lines and the gracefully sloping trunk deck). Meteor fits neatly into the popular-priced class. But then, everything about Meteor is made to be popular—especially with you!

Meteor gives you the newest, most comfortable ride! You enjoy undisturbed motoring comfort when you ride in Meteor. It all begins with a wheelbase that stretches to a road-smoothing 123 inches (longest in its class) and a new "torque-box" frame that flexes its muscles to absorb road shock and vibration. When you test-drive Meteor, head for the roughest road you know. Then you'll see how Meteor's gliding ride can tame it!

Meteor handles with the least effort, the most smoothness! Meteor's improved all-coil suspension keeps cushioned comfort between you and the road—without that "floating" sensation. Meteor's handling advances include new 15" low-profile tires that provide broader, surer road contact. When you put Meteor through its paces, you'll find that its handling is engineered to handle you with care.

Meteor's performance has never been more impressive! The road-hungry 352 and 390 V-8's give you an exciting insight into high performance. And the hot new 240 cubic inch 'Avenger' Six has pioneered a combination of power and economy that makes it the front-runner in '6' performance! Pair any of Meteor's engines with the 3-speed automatic transmission that has the performance advantage of a low range and two driving ranges. And you can go gear-changing with the smooth 3- and 4-speed manual transmissions, both fully synchromesh in all forward gears. When you take a test-drive in Meteor, you'll take the long way back!

Meteor has luxury in the most elegant manner. Plush thick-pile carpeting, padding in broad arm rests front and back, sumptuous colour-keyed upholsteries and trim, deep foam cushioning, a double-edged key that works on either side, a suspended accelerator pedal, curved side window glass for added interior width . . . and so much more. Never has luxury like this been so affordable!

New 240 cubic-inch 'Avenger' Six! 150 horsepower and 234 pounds feet of torque achieve a new height in high performance! Refinements in efficiency and durability mean a smoother quieter "6" with greater economy, especially with Meteor's 3-speed dual range automatic transmission. Saves like a "6"—goes like a V-8 . . . it's the best! Meteor offers you the best of everything in the popular-priced class. You'll agree when you test-drive Meteor at your Mercury dealer's.

Arena Planners Suffer Setback

NORTH COWICHAN—Architects chosen by the municipal recreation commission to draw plans for a centennial ice arena presented a $245,000 project Thursday.

This is $30,000 more than the maximum figure quoted by the commission.

The commission reserved judgment and will meet again with Wade, Stockdill and Armour of Victoria in two weeks.

DUNCAN — Gilbert Sam of Duncan was sent to jail for 14 days Thursday and banned from driving for two years.

He was the driver of the car Oct. 31 in which passenger Rennie Wilson died after a crash on Tzouhalem Road.

A special bus provided by the garden club will serve people coming from Ganges and north Salt Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McMinn and Mrs. T. T. Vaulkard of Victoria will act as judges for floral and decorative classes.

GANGES—Salt Spring Island Garden Club spring flower show, to be held Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. in Fulford Habor community hall, will feature an exhibition of paintings by local artists and a display of ceramics by night school students.

Protection Sought

VANCOUVER (CP) — Forest Lawn and Ocean View cemeteries will seek police protection for about 40 men who will cross picket lines to start work with the strike-bound firms.

FIGHT BACK WITH ORTHO!

By Monday morning, WEED-B-GON can kill your lawn weeds—roots and all!

That's right. Between now and Monday, your lawn weeds can be killed. Without hard work. Without even bending over. The miracle-worker is ORTHO WEED-B-GON.

This hormone compound forces weeds to grow. Within 48 hours, weeds actually grow themselves to death, roots and all . . . without affecting your grass. WEED-B-GON gets rid of dandelion, chickweed, thistle, plantain, dock. Even woody plants like poison oak, poison ivy, sumac and brambles are easy to kill.

Used as directed, it's safe and as easy as watering. Inexpensive, too. For $1.79, you can treat a full 5,000 square feet of lawn.

ISLAND DIGEST

CHATTING with the men as he inspects the ranks at RCAF Comox is Lieutenant-General G. Walsh, vice-chief of defence staff. The general paid a quick visit to the base this week, his first since taking over the chief of defence post for the three armed services. The general also visited other service installations in the west coast area.

ANNOUNCE PROMOTION FOR RCMP NON-COMS

Seven RCMP officers on Vancouver Island have been promoted.

The announcement from RCMP headquarters today said all the men will remain at their present postings.

They are Sgt. G. A. Perry of Campbell River to staff-sergeant; Cpl. R. E. Milmine of Nanaimo to sergeant; Cons. S. R. Langdon of Nanaimo to corporal; Cpl. R. L. Woodfin of Alberni to sergeant; Cpl. D. R. Winn of Alert Bay to sergeant; Cons. W. Y. Baillie of Duncan to corporal, and Cons. S. W. Henswold of Cumberland to corporal.

Poisonous Mushroom Foiled by Hospital

Sooke brothers, Marque and James Blanchard, were in satisfactory condition today after swallowing a poison mushroom.

The boys' lives were saved late Thursday after a dash from their Sooke home to the poison control centre at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Marque, 2, and James, 5, earlier went into a coma after eating pieces of deadly Panther Agaric mushroom.

Mrs. Elaine Blanchard did not know what was wrong until one of the boys entered the house, a piece of the mushroom in his hand.

She called RCMP who rushed both boys to a doctor and then to Jubilee.

It was 10 p.m. before doctors were able to say the boys would survive.

The battle over, a warning was issued to parents—beware of the "panther."

It has a pale tan to dark brown cap, white or cream-white warts; is first rounded, then flat, about 4½-inches across with a ring under the stem which is larger at the base. The base is surrounded by a cup.

The plants generally grow near Douglas firs.

'PROBLEM BOYS' GET OWN SCHOOL

MILL BAY—A former Mill Bay hunting lodge is being converted into a private school for boys with "personality problems."

Mr. Merrick says it will accommodate 24 resident boys and 12 day boys in the 8-12 age group.

He said: "Each boy will work to an individual progress book and there will be a teacher for each eight boys in academic subjects."

SELF EXPRESSION

Afternoons will be devoted to "expression" subjects such as art, music and gardening.

Animal care will be part of the school program with facilities to board pets.

Mr. Merrick said while the school would stick to the basic B.C. curriculum the program would be geared to boys with personality problems. It would strive for a family atmosphere.

Mr. Merrick, a demonstration teacher at McDonald College, Montreal, before coming to Duncan, also ran a public residential school in England.

Mrs. Merrick is a registered nurse and will be school matron.

The school will be fee-paying but non-profit. Mr. Merrick expressed hope that once his school is established the provincial mental health and social welfare departments might refer boys to it.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Most people pass about three pints of liquid a day or about three pounds of liquid-waste. Now, if kidneys become sluggish, urinary irritation and bladder discomfort may follow. The result can be backache and restless nights. This is when Dodd's Kidney Pills can help bring relief. Dodd's stimulate kidney action, help relieve the irritated condition that causes the backache. Take Dodd's and see if you don't feel better, rest better. Don't wait. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills, at any drug counter. Used successfully by millions for over 70 years. Advt.

Send more.

They want more.

In Operation Gold Keg we're testing our celebrated beer in the pubs and taverns of England, where some of the world's best beer-drinking men are to be found.

And we're delighted to report that Englishmen class Gold Keg with the best of British beers.

Many of them hold that it's every inch as good as Younger's, Bass, Whitbread's and Worthington's.

They like Gold Keg's bouquet. They like its amber colour. They like its mellow taste.

Ah, but we expected as much.

Because we know a thing or two about beer on this side of the pond, too.

Too old to buy insurance?

Being over 65 is no barrier to the purchase of new life insurance. And for many people in their sixties or seventies it can be a very wise "buy."

Here's an example. A man age 75 has a substantial number of investments. At death, estate taxes will have to be paid. To raise the cash, income-producing assets have to be sold, often with severe losses to the beneficiaries. Life insurance can prevent this loss by providing the necessary cash.

Manufacturers Life has a sound reputation for its liberal approach to insuring older people for the purpose of estate conservation or for guaranteeing the continuity of a business. Our representatives are qualified to provide competent counsel to help our senior citizens meet these special needs.

14 ANNOUNCEMENTS

Opening for the Season
Friday, May 14
SHAWNIGAN BEACH HOTEL
Shawnigan Lake

Come up to the well-known change of air at Shawnigan — warmer — softer.

Good, too, for tensions — good for nerves — or just if you are a bit run down.

Try a day or two, or stay longer. You will notice the difference and feel great.

A very comfortable family hotel with a beautiful setting in 30 acres of grounds. Owned and operated for many years by the Hurleys.

Peaceful surroundings. Plenty to do if you want to, or just sit.

Home of "The Fire That Is Never Out." Fine library, bridge, "socializing," pitch and putt golf, tennis, boats, fishing, woodland walks and many other things.

PRICES AND INFORMATION?

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

South was a bridge authority who, in general, does not approve of opening four card major suits but in rubber bridge an authority is apt to depart from his own writings and make a spur of the moment bid that seems indicated.

Opening lead—♣K.

Of course, he had a good reason. North was a somewhat inferior dummy player and in case the hand were going to play in spades, South wanted to be the declarer.

It was a sound idea because the spade opening got South to a doubled five spade contract requiring considerable dummy playing ability to bring home.

If West had opened a trump South would almost surely have gone down but West led the king of clubs. South ruffed and commenced operations by leading the ten of hearts. East's king won the trick and East led a second club. South ruffed that also and led the queen of hearts.

West won with the ace and played a trump but it was too late. South won in his own hand and noted that East had shown out. This didn't worry South in the slightest. He could see that the rest of the tricks were going to be his provided that West would hold at least one diamond.

He won the trump in his hand and entered dummy with the ace of diamonds. Then he ruffed out dummy's last club with his own last trump and got back to dummy by ruffing the six of hearts. The king, queen and jack of trumps were now led in order to pull the rest of West's trumps and give South a chance to discard his three losing diamonds. He wound up by winning the last two tricks with his king of diamonds and jack of hearts.

BEVEL
SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln-dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

With its "grow-in" workability, weather resistance and lasting good looks "Keystone" clear Western Red Cedar Siding has long been recognized as the standard of quality home construction.

It has a distinctive "shadow line" which enhances any architectural style in any setting, and is used to create a variety of interesting decorative effects on indoor surfaces as well as exterior.

DURABILITY

Western Red Cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heartwood is highly resistant to decay and can be counted on for long and worthy service when conditions favoring decay prevail.

The Associates' Home Owner's LOAN PLAN!

Now you can borrow the money you need to pay off large outstanding bills — to finance a university education — to remodel your entire home — purchase a summer cottage — or for any good money reason. It's the Associates' Home Owner's Loan Plan; big money for today's bigger needs. Here's how it works. If you're a home owner, you can use the equity in your home as collateral for the loan. And you may qualify whether your home is paid for or not. You get cash at a reasonable rate of interest — no bonus charge or hidden fees added.

Stop or phone and ask about our HOME OWNER'S LOAN PLAN.

141 MORTGAGE LOANS AND INSURANCE

MONEY BURIED IN YOUR HOUSE?

Use it to Consolidate Your Debts Through CORONATION CREDIT CORPORATION LIMITED

Take the value of your house — subtract the balance owing on your mortgage—and the resulting figure is called "home equity," or the investment you have made so far in your home. You can borrow against this investment to settle your debts or make a major purchase. You may take up to 15 years to repay, there are no hidden charges, no appraisal fees. Consolidate your debts now in one low monthly payment—there's no easier way to solve your financial problems.

THE LAZY CREEK THAT EBBS AND FLOWS

For several hundred feet along this property is tidal water that can take you to the far ends of the world. Along the other side of the land is nearly three hundred feet of road frontage presenting interesting possibilities for subdividing. There is 1.67 acres of good fertile soil approximately one acre of which is cleared and under cultivation. An older type 3-bedroom now on the property may not be your ultimate dream home but it is a sound comfortable house with part basement and oil package heating. Plumbed for washer too. When one considers that this interesting property is situated within the 3-mile circle it is a good bet that it will be SOLD TODAY. $3,900 cash handles.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Stephen

Unfortunately we can't get overly excited at this stage by the young lady's performance though there is no denying she, at 23, is the owner of an overabundance of talent.

Hers is an individualistic style which moves her out of a strata which embraces such well known performing greats as the Carol Burnett and Judy Garland types. But it is also a style which will take some getting used to. You just don't burst onto the scene with so much talent without allowing the viewer to absorb and completely assess it.

Suffice to say that she ran the gamut of song range and emotion with the greatest of ease and effect.

It was an experience to witness this talent that has the show business world in a tailspin and we'll look forward to future appearances with a little more preparation of what to expect.

Show producers go to any length to create authenticity for their programs while press agents go to all lengths to tell you about it.

NBC-TV's press corps is very high on the upcoming Lorne Green's American West program to be seen next week. One of their releases dealt with frontier beauties.

"The feminine legends of frontier days, gals with names like Big Nose Kate, Pick-Handle Annie and Go-To-Heck Helen will be shown as they really were on the colorcast."

"The art of make-p was unknown in those days," says producer George Schlatter. "The gals painted their faces, but they didn't know how to do it right, and as a result most of the frontier ladies had an appearance that would take away a vulture's appetite."

"They didn't have good dentists in those days either, and hair stylists didn't move West until things were really settled down. As a result most saloon girls had straight hair and were minus a tooth or two."

The short saloon sequence of the program will see some of Hollywood's prettiest dancers turned into bar girls who look as though they've been run over by a wagon train.

TID-BITS: Shirley Booth, who is television's best-known maid on NBC-TV's Hazel series, will be employed by a new fictional "family" when the show returns on a different network, CBS-TV, in the fall . . . The long awaited CBS Reports hour about TV ratings is expected to be broadcast in late May or early June.

damage were reported in those states.

Both railway stations in Seattle were damaged and huge chunks of concrete fell from the roof of the Union Pacific railway depot in Tacoma.

High up in the rotunda, columns had been sheared off at the base and the five-ton chandelier that dangles at the end of a 110-foot chain turned in a small orbit for more than an hour.

Panes in the skylight clattered down on desks of the legislators whose morning sessions had not yet begun. Legislators, in session for a record 106 days, went home until Monday.

Ironically, the state civil defence department had planned an earthquake drill next week. The governor said the drill was planned because a study of the Alaska earthquake indicated the next major tremor was likely to occur in the Pacific Northwest.

Boulders rolled down on the Stevens Pass highway in the Cascade Mountains east of Seattle and chunks of earth slouched off some peaks. Damage to the Tacoma Narrows Bridge, whose predecessor plunged into Puget Sound in a high wind 25 years ago, was estimated at $10,000.

A slide carved out a block-and-a-half long, 15-foot-deep, 50-foot-wide hole in nearby Edmonds, swallowing up an abandoned water shed.

White Ensign Flying Again At Esquimalt

By RON SUDLOW
Times Marine Reporter

The white ensign flew in Esquimalt harbor today for the first time since Canada adopted the new maple leaf flag.

It was fluttering from the jackstaff of the formidable Royal Navy guided missile destroyer, HMS Kent.

Kent is the first RN ship to pay a call on Victoria since the 15,000-ton cruiser HMS Belfast which visited here in May, 1962.

Volleys of cannonfire echoed and re-echoed across the approaches to Esquimalt Harbor today as Kent slipped past the Black Rock saluting base.

Kent fired a 13-gun salute to Rear Admiral M. G. Stirling, flag officer Pacific coast.

The 48-man band of HMCS Naden was down on A jetty to welcome her with swing-era tunes, military marches and Hello Dolly as the gangway was lowered.

Kent is a large, 6,200-ton, 520-foot County class destroyer with a complement of 448. By comparison, Canada's destroyer-escorts displace 2,800 tons, measure 366 feet overall and carry 222 officers and men.

On Kent's forward funnel is mounted a rearing white stallion, crest of the British county for which she was named.

IN FAR EAST

"We went straight out—the quick way through the Suez to the Indian Ocean," said Capt. Lewis.

"We have been in Far East waters until March 31. A normal tour of duty is a year away from England. June 17 is the day we return."

Kent, based in Singapore, called at Hong Kong, Philippines and Manila on her way here.

While U.S. planes were carrying out raids on Vietnamese installations, Kent was "not particularly on the alert," her captain said.

"We did a certain amount of patrolling but had no brushes with infiltrators," he added.

And Kent appears to be well equipped for that. Mounted on her quarter deck is a medium range Seaslug missile system.

'You Get Nowhere By Running Away'

Magistrate William Ostler, Thursday in Saanich court, reluctantly gave an 18-month suspended sentence to a city youth involved in two thefts this month.

The 16-year-old pleaded guilty earlied to stealing a bicycle and then in company with another youth stealing a boat from Oak Bay Marina.

They took the boat to Anacortes, Wash., and were later arrested by police in Seattle.

"You don't get anywhere by running away," the magistrate told him.

HOME GARDEN

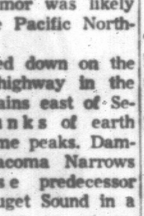
By HILDA BEASTALL

There are many associations of bedding plants to make eye-catching pictures so let us not be bound by those we see every year, colorful though they may be.



Hilda

Sometimes a contrast of unusual colors will do the trick, such as navy blue Salvia horminum Blue Bird (15 inches tall) surrounded by salmon pink petunias.

Pink cosmos about two feet tall add an elegant touch of height to a bed of pink and pale blue lobelia, while white cosmos waving over a pink annual dianthus interplanted with mistly blue ageratum could be another season-long picture.

Nicotines (tobacco-flower) and white alyssum are the two most fragrant of the summer bedding plants, and should be planted near special sitting-out places, or by a door much used in summer evenings.

The fragrance is hauntingly sweet, without being annoying. Ten-week or seven-week stock planted with these two white annuals add the heavier colors of purple, mauve and pink, in addition to their own spicy perfume.

French marigolds in bronze and orange tones make a low edging for the three-foot, much-branched salpiglossis in unusual [illegible] tones of bronze, gold and purple.

If none of these ideas please you, make pictures of your own designing. You, too, can have fun with color, dramatic color.

You will be repaid when your friends bring around their color cameras to record the results for posterity.

16th Century Atmosphere

A quartet of musicians rendered quiet 16th Century airs. Paul Mannering discussed Romeo and Juliet and Shakespeare's influence on the theatre.

Langford Man Admits To Impaired Driving

Court was told Keith Starling, 2766 Millstream Road, was driving on Burnside April 27 at speeds up to 55 m.p.h. and his car weaved over the centre line at Tillicum nearly causing a head-on collision.

Two small children were riding in the vehicle at the time. A pre-sentence report was asked to determine the need for Starling to retain his licence.

Vancouver Times To Sell More Stock

Special to The Times

VANCOUVER — Shareholders agreed Thursday night to let directors of Vancouver Times Publishing Ltd. sell another $1,000,000-worth of common stock.

About 1,000 holders of Class A shares crowded into a ballroom at the Vancouver hotel for the second annual meeting of the company — the first since the Times began publication Sept. 5.

William Val Warren, president of the company, told them the Times needs more money to pay off its debts, get working capital, and build up credit.

He told the meeting there is no further market for debentures — the Times' floated an issue last December—and only another issue of common stock would bring in the money.

"But this will be the last issue," he said.

Mr. Warren said the money will be enough to keep the newspaper going until the fall, when it should be out of the red.

Shareholders going into the meeting were given copies of the company's annual report, with a financial statement for the year ending Dec. 31.

It said the Times lost a little more than $903,000 in its first four months of publication.

The resolution eventually approved by shareholders called for increasing authorized common stock from 300,000 class A shares to 700,000, with a maximum value of $10 per share.

Mr. Warren said the shares would be sold for about $5, and it was planned to sell about half of the new stock.

NEW DIRECTORS

Shareholders also elected three directors—half the board, over which class A stock has control. They were Times publisher Major General Victor Odlum, company comptroller R. W. Thacker, and R. W. Burleigh.

Mr. Warren announced that class B shareholders had chosen himself, former finance company man W. J. Bell, and electronics engineer Ed Chisolm as directors.

Mr. Warren said the Times' position has improved considerably in recent weeks. It could not meet part of its payroll a few weeks ago, and appealed to the public for financial help.

He said the newspaper sold $104,000 worth of national advertising in the first two weeks of April, compared with a total of $108,000 worth in January.

But shareholders said lack of news coverage is hurting the paper.

One man at the meeting said lack of news about the suburb of Surrey cost the paper 12,000 subscriptions there.

One man asked Mr. Warren his salary as president, and when told it is $25,000 annually, shouted: "You aren't worth half that."

The marathon meeting ended after nearly four hours, but by that time only about 200 shareholders were still in the ballroom.

Journalist Held

SALISBURY (Reuters)—John Parker, president of the Rhodesian Guild of Journalists, was committed to prison Wednesday for refusing for two days to answer questions on how he obtained secret documents. Parker gave notice he would appeal and the magistrate suspended the prison order.

SOLUTION MONDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to David L. Siegfried, age 12, of Allentown, Pa., for his question:

How long do mosquitoes live?

Some mosquitoes live for almost a year, and some finish their life spans in less than one month. The pesky creatures thrive throughout the tropics, the temperate zones and even on the polar tundras. As a rule the cold climate mosquitoes live much longer than those in the steamy tropics.

We know of about 2,000 species of mosquito, and more varieties are being discovered all the time. All mosquitoes share the same basic features, though each species has its own special differences. Under the same conditions, all species most likely would finish their life spans in the same length of time. But the world's mosquitoes live under vastly different conditions. Different conditions cause them to progress slowly or rapidly through the four stages of the mosquito life cycle.

Every mosquito is an amphibious insect. Its egg, larva and pupa stages are spent either in water or heavy moisture. Only the adult winged mosquito takes to the air. In summery weather the creature may pass through the first three stages from egg to larva to pupa and become an adult in two weeks. Barring accidents, the adult may die of old age after only 10 days. The batch of mosquitoes that pester our midsummer picnics can expect to live no longer than a month. The average life span of tropical mosquitoes is less than a month.

The eggs are like miniature bullets with round bases and pointed tops. Dozens of them are placed neatly on end and packed side by side to form a flat disk. This clutch of mosquito eggs may float like a raft on stagnant water or rest among the moist mosses under the Arctic snows. It may lie dormant through an Arctic winter or through the cold season of our temperate climate. In the tropics and in our summer season the eggs may hatch into wriggly larvae after five days.

Changes Into Adult Insects

The whiskery larvae shed their skins four times, growing bigger with each molt. With a fifth molt they become pupae and rest inside their tough skins while the larvae change into adult insects. The change may take two to four days, but the winged adults do not emerge unless the air is warm and sunny. Adults that hatch in the late fall may find shelter, survive through the winter and come out to lay their eggs in early spring. Eggs laid late in the fall often survive the winter. Some mosquitoes as adults or as dormant eggs live almost a year. However, the life expectancy of the average mosquito is about one month.

In our temperate climate the dormant eggs hatch around May or June, and in about two weeks the winged adults are ready to start dive bombing us. The females lay batches of 50 to 200 eggs every few days.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Jottings in Pencil—Reporters covering the unsolved murder of Barnum & Bailey clown Paul Jung in the Forrest Hotel would do well to keep in mind the ancient French motto "Cherchez la femme." Top investigators believe the wealthy funnyman's companion on the evening of his death was a woman—who may have had a male accomplice. Police have never revealed what the weapon was—they merely said they had it and it was a "blunt instrument," leading some newsmen to speculate that it might have been a flashlight, but there's a better theory when you consider the locale of the crime. How about the heavy nozzle of a fire hose, the kind that can be seen on the walls of hotels and other public buildings, on every floor? Another query for the investigators: Weren't Jung's hands tied behind his back with a woman's stocking?

Pearl Bailey's friends are deeply concerned about her decision to play the starring role in The Solid Gold Cadillac in Bucks County this Summer. Her heart condition is far too serious. She should take a long rest from performing—and certainly shouldn't attempt the grind of eight performances a week . . . Actress Mary Ure (Mrs. Robert Shaw in private life) expects a baby in September . . . Just call Marlene Dietrich professor. She will lecture at the Sorbonne on the topic Films Today and Yesterday.

Rock Hudson will be back in New York for film shooting in a few days, girls . . . The puzzlement of the year is the announcement that Martha Raye will be playing in Some Like It Hot on the strawhat circuit. The movie starred Marilyn Monroe, Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis—that's all. So what part is Martha going to play? . . . Pamela Mason's divorce will be final in August, leaving her free to marry again if she chooses—and her chums think she'll choose to say "I do" to producer Ed Fitzgerald.

Bennett Cerf took John O'Hara to lunch at Cardinal Spellman's. Author and prelate hit it off marvelously, and seemed to enjoy each other immensely . . . Movieland Revives Motorcycling Fad

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Honey, let's go for a bike ride."

With a roar, off ride the Kirk Douglases, Polly Bergen and her husband, agent Freddie Fields, or Barbara Rush and husband, publicist Warren Cowan, gunning over the Hollywood hills on their motorcycles.

Motorcycling, a popular sport here among he-men actors of the 1940s, is making a comeback among stars of both sexes.

FOR BUSINESS TOO

Bob Brandt, husband of Janet Leigh, biked up to the swank Beverly Hills Hotel for a luncheon date the other day on his machine, briefcase under arm.

Cowan uses his bike for quick trips to the office at night or on weekends from his nearby home. But actor Robert Wagner rides all the way from his San Fernando Valley home to the movie set on his — sometimes with his wife riding tandem.

Helmet Law For Starters, Says Champ

By JACQUES ROUSSEAUX

Starting July 1, the law will require motorcyclists to wear a helmet while riding their machine.

"It should be compulsory for young, inexperienced motorcycle operators to wear a helmet," he says, "but for those with years of experience it will be nothing but an unnecessary encumbrance."

Veteran drivers learn to respect their machines, Mr. Amor says. The younger set tends to become overconfident and subsequently careless. No one should ever think they have mastered a motorcycle, he says.

Mr. Amor says that although helmets will check motorcycle accidents' injuries, they will not curb the accident rate.

"We're looking at this problem all wrong," he said.

Two points responsible for more than 90 per cent of motorcycle accidents should have been taken up first, according to the champion.

Motorcycles of 100 cc or less should be restricted to one passenger. They're unsafe for more because of lack of necessary passing power or brake power.

All motorcycles should have natural rubber tires.

Mr. Amor says that riding in the rain on synthetic tires is like riding on ice. They're so hard they won't hang on.

'SPIRIT OF GOODWILL COULD SETTLE CRISIS'

VIENNA (AP)—UN Secretary-General U Thant said today the Viet Nam problem could be settled on the basis of the 1954 Geneva agreement on Indochina "if there only is a spirit of goodwill on the part of all concerned."

Thant made the statement at a press conference after a two-day meeting of the United Nations administrative committee for co-ordination in Vienna.

Asked to comment on the Soviet agreement to take part in an East-West conference on Cambodia, he said:

"The calling of an international conference to consider and discuss the neutrality of Cambodia is a very useful step toward stabilizing this area in Southeast Asia."

Quake Damage In Millions; Schools Close

SEATTLE (AP)—Washington State counted five dead today, scores injured and damage in the millions of dollars in the wake of the Pacific Northwest's worst earthquake in more than a decade.

In Seattle, the hardest hit area, Frank Brock, assistant superintendent of schools, said the loss to the system "should easily be in excess of $1,000,000."

Eight public schools were closed and two may not be back in operation for some time, he said.

Ensley Llewellyn, state civil defence director, said it was impossible to give an accurate damage estimate until reports from around the state had been compiled.

Llewellyn estimated damage to light fixtures and elevator shafts in the state Capitol building at Olympia at $200,000 and damage to road and railway in the area at possibly another $200,000.

BRIDGES SWAYED

Some roads heaved upward, others sagged downward; bridges swayed and some freeway ramps buckled as the tremor rolled through at 8:29 a.m. Thursday.

Raymond Haughton, 52, and Eugene Goulet, 40, were near a 14-storey tower at the Fisher Flouring Mills when a 50,000-gallon wooden water tank atop the structure exploded. Torrents of water and twisted timbers cascaded down upon them. Haughton died, Goulet was critically injured.

Adolphus Lewis, 60, was killed downtown when a concrete parapet fell on him.

Mrs. James Johnson, 56, of Seattle, died while talking on the telephone. Mrs. Ethel Webb, 75, Tacoma, and Zenola Lorenz, Olympia, were found dead. All were victims of heart attacks.

More than 30 persons were injured and treated at hospitals in the Seattle area. Dozens were reported to have suffered minor injuries elsewhere.

Seismologists said the earthquake registered 6.5 to 7 on the Richter scale. The Alaska earthquake of March 27, 1964 was rated at 8.3 on the Richter scale. That one killed 113.

TREMOR KILLED EIGHT

Sixteen years ago the Pacific Northwest was jolted by an earthquake that registered 7 on the scale. That tremor April 13, 1949, killed eight persons and did $25,000,000 in property damage.

The epicentre of Thursday's quake was in the vicinity of Dabob Bay on Hood Canal, about 30 miles west-northwest of Seattle.

Buildings swayed and windows rattled on Vancouver Island and 300 miles inland at Trail, B.C. It was felt in northern Idaho, western Montana and Oregon, but no injuries or

Indian Terms Rejected

A government spokesman said the Indian - Pakistan fighting could not end on terms suggested by Indian Prime Minister Shastri.

India demanded restoration of the status quo before the fighting erupted April 9. This would mean Pakistan would have to withdraw from areas it considers to be Pakistani.

London and Washington are both trying to bring an end to the fighting in the barren wasteland about 150 miles southeast of Karachi. British and American envoys in both countries have been actively working for a ceasefire.

An official Indian spokesman charged in New Delhi Thursday night that a Pakistani brigade—about 3,000 fighting men — was moving southwest from Biar Bet deeper into Indian territory in the Kutch and was being shelled by Indian guns.

Pakistani Defence Minister Y. B. Chaven would not give details of the fighting, saying "it would not be in the interests of the security of the forces fighting there."

An official Indian spokesman said the Indian Army would make a stand "at a place advantageous to us."

India has claimed 300 Pakistanis have been killed, wounded or captured. It put Indian losses at 65. The Indians also claim to have destroyed 10 U.S.-supplied Pakistani tanks.

Pakistani Maj. - Gen. Tikka Khan said 350 Indian troops have been killed. He said 45 Indians have been captured, including two officers.

Canadians Quit Santo Domingo

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has been in contact with all Canadians in the Dominican Republic to find out whether they want to be evacuated from the country because of civil strife.

The external affairs department reported today that all Canadian women and children in the capital of Santo Domingo, except for one family have been evacuated.

Canadians 'Prisoners' For 3 Days

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says that close to 1,000 tourists including Canadians were virtual prisoners for three days in a Santo Domingo luxury hotel during the civil strife in the Dominican Republic.

In a story by Martin Goodman from San Juan, Puerto Rico, the paper says Stanton J. Burkett of Leaside, Ont., and T. Gordon Ramsay, a Canadian living in Nassau, Bahamas, were playing golf at Santo Domingo last Saturday when shooting broke out in the capital.

Accompanied by their wives, they were attending a convention of the Master Brewers' Association of America. They were called back to the sanctuary of their hotel.

'Friendship Can Stand Frankness'

By VICTOR MACKIE

BURLINGTON, Vermont — Prime Minister Pearson said here today it was not inconsistent with good neighborhood for Canadians to be "worried at times about the decisions which the United States government may make and which are bound to affect and even involve Canadians."

The prime minister was referring to the critical situation in Viet Nam. He had just received an honorary degree of doctor of laws at the honors day convocation of the University of Vermont. It was presented by U.S. Senator George Aiken (Rep.—Vermont), a strong critic of President Johnson's bombing raids policy in Viet Nam.

Mr. Pearson reaffirmed the right of Canadians to criticize in a friendly, good-neighborly fashion the policies of the U.S.

But the speech was a far cry from the outspoken vigorous statement on American Viet Nam policy he made earlier this month in Philadelphia, proposing a "pause at the right time" in American bombing of North Viet Nam.

ANNOYED LBJ

That Philadephia proposal was reported from Washington to have aroused the annoyance of President Johnson. And the Burlington speech was non-controversial in comparison and contained a strong plea that Canadians and Americans continue to judge each other more criti-

Anarchy Near In Dominica, Troops Land

Big Battle Raging In Capital

SANTO DOMINGO (CP) — U.S. marines with five tanks at their command today established an "international zone" of nine square miles in strife-torn Santo Domingo, capital of the Dominican Republic.

Without incident, they set up their lines to protect American lives in a strip running three miles along the waterfront and inland for 15 blocks to the U.S. Embassy.

Officials said the situation was rapidly approaching anarchy—a total absence of government law and order.

As the marines moved into Santo Domingo, 1,000 troops of the U.S. 82nd Airborne Division were landed at San Isidro air base, 20 miles east of the city. U.S. officials said in all 4,000 will be landed, swelling U.S. forces in Santo Domingo to more than 5,000.

The Organization of American States was said to have sanctioned the international zone for the safety of refugees while rival Dominican forces fought on.

The U.S. said the troops were landed only to protect American lives and property.

The official said casualties totalled several hundred dead and wounded.

Before today's fighting, estimates of casualties in the civil war ranged between 400 to more than 1,000 dead and more than 1,200 wounded.

ASKED FOR HELP

The military junta formed two days ago announced it had appealed for intervention by American troops to help restore order, but U.S. officials said action other than to protect American lives and property would require authorization from the Organization of American States.

However, President Johnson's administration was authoritatively reported in Washington to be on the alert for action to meet any Communist threat to take over the Dominican Republic or plunge it into a Communist "war of liberation."

The rebellion was launched by a group of young army artillery officers seeking to return ousted president Juan Bosch to office But U.S. officials in Santo Domingo and other observers believe no one now is in control—or could regain control—of the armed rebel bands, which include many young civilians.

U.S. officials hinted strongly that it would be necessary for U.S. troops to occupy Santo Domingo to end the fighting.

Armed with light machine-guns and other automatic weapons, several thousand rebels were reported still holding out in the centre of this bullet-

U.S. URGES ALLIES TO GIVE ASSISTANCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States pressed its OAS allies today to take up immediately the task of saving lives and restoring peace and order in the revolt-torn Dominican Republic.

Officials said that, under action by the Organization of American States, Washington would welcome quick participation by the troops of other American states in the Dominican rescue operation.

Steel Takeover Gamble Pushed By U.K. Labor

LONDON (UPI)—The British Labor government announced today in a white paper it plans to nationalize 13 of Britain's biggest steel firms.

Wilson's white paper came one day after the announcement that Britain's private enterprise steel industry set a new output record in 1964 of 25.8 million tons. The industry is propelled largely by the 13 firms affected.

A nationalization bill to be presented to Parliament later is expected to touch off one of the most explosive political battles here in years. Some observers believe it could bring down the Wilson government which has only a four-vote majority in Parliament.

Wilson campaigned on a platform calling for nationalization of steel. Both the opposition Conservatives and the Liberals came out strongly against it. Wilson's majority is expected to be cut to three in a local election next Thursday—and three Laborites do not go along with steel nationalization.

The price tag is expected to run between $1.2 billion and $1.4 billion.

STATE CONTROL

A 14th firm, Richard Thomas and Baldwin, also was named in the white paper. But all but a small part of that firm was nationalized 15 years ago and has been under state ownership since. Inclusion was believed to be merely a bookkeeping detail.

The 13 firms named, plus Richard Thomas, own all 22 integrated iron and steel works in Britain and 42 other iron and steel works. From their plants come more than 90 per cent of Britain's annual production of iron ore, pig iron, crude carbon steel, heavy steel products and sheet steel.

Another 300 firms will be left in private hands but they are only the small fry of the industry.

WIRE BRIEFS

Jobs Seeking Trained Men

TORONTO (CP) — William Thompson, director of the National Employment Service, says Canada is confronted with the tightest labor market for skilled workers since 1958.

Mr. Thompson said in an interview the shortage, particularly in professional and semi-professional categories, extends across Canada.

Special U.S. Message

NEW YORK (AP)—Pope Paul will deliver a special message to the American people Monday in a live television broadcast from Vatican City, via the Early Bird satellite, NBC announced today.

Canada Not Asked

OTTAWA (CP) — There has been no suggestion made to the government that Canada supply military personnel or equipment in Viet Nam, External Affairs Minister Martin said today in the Commons.

U.S. Warning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The state department said today the United States would take defensive measures if necessary to protect U.S. planes flying over international waters. The department issued the warning in condemning what it called an "unprovoked attack" by two North Korean MiGs on a U.S. RB47 reconnaissance plane Wednesday.

QUESNEL (CP)—Workers today completed a canal to divert flooding Baker Creek from West Quesnel. However town officials said a state of emergency would continue for about three days.

DISGUISED BEATRIX RECOGNIZED BY PHOTOGRAPHER

Princess Tours 'Red Light' District

BEATRIX
. . . eager student

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (UPI)—Salvation Army Maj. Alida M. Boshardt admitted today it was "stupid" for her to enter a cafe in the heart of Amsterdam's "red-light" district with Crown Princess Beatrix.

The Dutch princess, an eager student of social welfare conditions at all levels, donned a pair of old-fashioned spectacles, a shabby overcoat and a wig, took an armful of Salvation Army pamphlets and accompanied Major Boshardt on her usual round through the red-light district Wednesday night.

One of the cafes they entered was "Hoppe's," known to be a meeting place of journalists and photographers. It was there that Princess Beatrix was recognized by Peter Zonneveld, a photographer for the Amsterdam daily newspaper "Ce Telegraaf."

"It was very stupid for me to enter that cafe," Major Boshardt said. "I should have known better."

The Salvation Army woman officer said the trip had been agreed upon two years ago and that the princess had been warned of the risks involved, such as drunks and fights. But Princess Beatrix insisted on going and so the two women went out on the town Wednesday night.

Two plainclothes policemen who discreetly followed the two women convinced Zonneveld that he had recognized the princess, despite her disguise. He knew the policemen from past assignments.

When the photographer suddenly started taking pictures of her, Princess Beatrix leaped on the back seat of Major Boshardt's bicycle and the two women fled down a dark street.

Major Boshardt said she and the princess visited a few prostitutes in their rooms. They also visited the apartment of a large destitute family where the birthday of the youngest member was being celebrated.

Princess Beatrix was served coffee and cake and took part in the conversations with the family after Major Boshardt introduced her as "someone interested in the social work of the Salvation Army."

It was only the next morning that the mother saw the pictures of the princess in her disguise in the Telegraaff.

Major Boshardt said the woman telephoned to ask her, "I haven't said anything crazy, have I."

Marine Landing Arouses 'Bitterness' Among Latins

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The U.S. landing in the Dominican Republic aroused criticism and bitter memories among Latin Americans today. "They'll be stoning U.S. embassies all over," said one Latin American diplomat at the United Nations.

President Raul Leoni of Venezuela, in telegrams to President Arturo Illia of Argentina and Eduardo Frei of Chile, was reported to have termed the U.S. action an "invasion" and a "violation of the treaties of the Organization of American States."

Frei replied that he agreed completely.

Argentine Foreign Minister Angel Zavala Ortiz said he wouldn't pass judgment on the American action—"the Organization of American States must do that."

"Perhaps the United States had reason in this occasion to intervene in the Dominican Republic with the purpose of protecting its citizens," he said.

(Article 17 of the OAS charter states that the territory of any member state "may not be the object, even temporarily, of military occupation or of other measures of force taken by another state, directly or indirectly, on any grounds whatever.")

URGES COMMON ACTION

Frei called for "common action to bring to an end the bloodshed among the Dominican people . . . and to avoid a dictatorship of any kind."

Peruvian Foreign Minister Fernando Schwalb said it was understandable that the U.S. government wanted to protect its citizens." But, he added, "in this case this has been done in detriment of the sovereignty of an independent nation."

The Mexican foreign ministry, referring to previous U.S. marine occupations of the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Nicaragua and Mexico's Veracruz, the ministry said it "regrets, without disregard to the humanitarian reasons invoked, that the U.S. government has been forced to order a step which evokes painful thoughts among several countries of this hemisphere."

Latin American diplomats at the UN greeted with public reserve U.S. chief delegate Adlai E. Stevenson's letter to the Security Council stating U.S. forces had been sent to the Dominican Republic "to protect American citizens still there and to escort them to safety from the country."

But privately the diplomats predicted that the public reaction in Latin America would be bad. Some said the affair would help Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

From the Communist camp came the expected condemnations.

The Cuban Communist party newspaper Hoy said the landing of the marines was "cynical, shameless and monstrous."

WASHINGTON—The marines like cantle pieces and that's one reason why the U.S. government spends hundreds of thousands of dollars too much on raincoats, says Comptroller General Joseph Campbell.

A cantle piece, Campbell explained to a joint economic subcommittee of Congress, is a triangular piece of cloth sewn into a man's coat at the back vent, and its original purpose was: "To provide a rider on horseback with additional protection from inclement weather since it spreads over the cantle or back part of the saddle when the vent opens."

Campbell didn't go into the question how many present-day marines ride horses, but he did say the army has agreed to give up cantle pieces on its raincoats while "the marine corps has decided to retain the cantle piece, in our opinion, without adequate justification."

If the marines would surrender and use the back-pleat design adopted by the army, auditors said, marine raincoats would cost 51 cents less. Navy raincoats have a slit vent, while air force coats have no vent at all. If all the services used the air force design, the auditors said, $711,700 could be saved during the next three years.

ELMWOOD, Ill. — Frank Dismang, a 66-year-old former truck driver, sat down for breakfast Aug. 10, 1963, and hiccupped. He hasn't stopped since.

It's not only monotonous, it's just about gotten me down," Dismang said Thursday.

He has been to three hospitals and has undergone one operation without success. The doctors, Dismang said, are stumped.

"I'm not a drinking man," said Dismang, "but I drank whisky out of an aluminum pan and drank lemon juice and vodka and things people told me would cure my hiccups. They didn't work.

Dismang, who now works as a porter, estimated he hiccups twice a minute. He said he tries to hold his breath to control the constant strain, which tends to make him nervous.

"It's not funny," said Dismang.

LONDON—British lawyers now are permitted to appear before the House of Lords in what to traditionalists must rank as devastatingly informal attire. To be precise, shortie wigs have been approved.

The House of Lords, besides being the Upper House of the legislature, also acts as Britain's highest court of appeal. In the old days, whenever a case got that far, counsel had to appear before their lordships in full-bottomed wigs which dangled down to the collar.

The old style was much criticized on the ground that its weight made for scratchiness on a bald pate and its length contributed to hardness of hearing.

VENICE, Italy—The gondoliers of Venice, fed up with motorboats, went on strike Thursday in protest against the machines that threaten to put them out of business.

The 54 gondoliers who operate from St. Mark's Square protested the issuance of a municipal docking permit for four motorboats.

The pier has space for only 36 gondolas and the motorized competition is just too much to bear, the gondoliers complained.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—"Boy, this place is like an oven!" Mrs. Richard D. McCormick said Thursday that she returned home after a week's vacation with her two children and found her house baked to a turn.

Mrs. McCormick blamed a faulty shut-off furnace valve for raising the temperature to 200 degrees for seven days, practically cooking every item in the home. Her husband was away with a golf team.

The heat loosened glue in all the furniture, split plaster in the walls and ceilings and melted phonograph records and golf balls. It even cooked stored food—including 700 pounds of meat in the freezer.

"Doors won't open, windows won't shut," she added. Walls, lamp shades, rugs and furniture all were baked an even light brown.

pocked capital where leftist elements have been trying for seven days to topple the government of Donald Reid Cabral.

Loyalist planes under the command of Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, the maintay of government support against the rebels, were reported to have bombed rebel positions in Santo Domingo today.

One unit of marines guarded the U.S. Embassy Thursday they killed two rebel snipers who fired at them from a rooftop and apartment windows.

Embassies of El Salvador, Peru, Mexico and Ecuador reported similar sniper attacks.

SEEKS CEASEFIRE

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, attending a meeting of the OAS council which lasted until the early hours today, proposed that the hemispheric organization send a peace committee to Santo Domingo to seek a ceasefire.

The OAS called a meeting in Washington Saturday of foreign ministers to deal with the "grave situation."

In Santo Domingo, U.S. Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett said he had conferred several times with leaders of both sides in quest of a ceasefire but had failed to each attempt.

Thousands were reported injured in the fighting or in strafing and bombing attacks by planes operating from the junta's headquarters at the San Isidro air base, 20 miles from the centre of Santo Domingo.

In many cases, emergency surgery was performed without anesthetics. The city was largely without electricity or water.

SET UP CENTRE

The U.S. marines had set up an evacuation centre at a polo field near the posh Embajador (Ambassador) Hotel on the outskirts of Santo Domingo. U.S. officials said Thursday night that 1,400 refugees had been evacuated. They said 650 were waiting at the hotel and at the polo grounds, and many others were still in Santo Domingo.

Evacuees taken to the polo field waited for helicopters to take them to the aircraft carrier Boxer offshore.

AFTER FIVE-DAY PARLEY WITH FRENCH

Close, Converging Views Says Gromyko

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS (AP)—Foreign Minister Gromyko of Russia said today he had been happy to learn that the French position on Germany "starts from the existence of two German states."

Later, French officials said Gromyko had used language that could lead to a misunderstanding. "The French government accepts the fact that Germany is still divided and this does not imply on its part any recognition of the East German Republic."

Gromyko spoke at a press conference ending five days of talks with French President de Gaulle and other French officials.

Concerning Germany, he said he was happy to learn of the "realistic position of the French government, whose position starts with the existence of two German states."

Since the Second World War, the official position of the Western Allies has been that the only legal government in Germany is that of West Germany and that it ultimately will be reunited with East Germany.

Gromyko said France and the Soviet Union had "close and converging" views on two aspects of the German situation.

One, he said, was the unchangeability of frontiers determined by four-power agreements after the war and the other was "prevention of the nuclear armament of the federal government of (West) Germany."

H. added that East Germany repeatedly had proposed that West Germany join in an agreement to ban nuclear arms from both territories.

He reiterated the promise of Soviet aid to North Viet Nam to defend itself against U.S. bombardment and again demanded withdrawal of all American troops from Viet Nam.

While he agreed that a conference should be called to settle the problem of Viet Nam, "the decisive settlement rests directly with the parties most directly concerned—the United States and Viet Nam," Gromyko said.

New Yukon Highway

OTTAWA (CP)—Construction of a major new highway in the Yukon will begin this year, Resources Minister Arthur Laing said Thursday. It will run for 140 miles between Ross River and Carmacks and will cost an estimated $3,800,000.

Pope Hits 'Growing War' In Reference to Viet Nam

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul condemned guerrilla warfare and "ever growing" acts of war today in clear reference to the Viet Nam conflict. He appealed for "conversations and negotiations at all levels."

In the second encyclical letter of his reign, the pontiff noted that the month of May is especially dedicated to Mary. He said that it should be a time for special prayers to her, with the international situation "darker and more uncertain than ever, now that grave new threats are endangering the supreme benefit of world peace."

In an Easter Sunday speech, Pope Paul had spoken of "war and guerrilla operation" in an obvious reference to Viet Nam. His encyclical today was broader.

It denounced "acts of guerrilla warfare and of terrorism" as well as the "practice of holding hostages and of taking reprisals against unarmed civilians."

He also made a comment that appeared aimed at any policy of escalation in Viet Nam or at any recruitment of volunteers by Communists outside Southeast Asia. Entire nations, he said, "are subjected to unspeakable sufferings caused by agitation, guerrilla warfare, acts of war, ever growing in extent and intensity, which could at any moment produce a spark for a terrible fresh conflict."

CAREELESS DRIVERS

In Saanich court Thursday:

Larry David Hardisty, 400 Niagara Street, went out of control April 27 on Queenston Street and hit a cement mixer, fined $60, licence suspended.

Kenneth D. Alexander, 2787 Dunlevy, chased by police April 18 at speeds up to 80 mph on Mackenzie Street, fined $75, licence suspended.

Robert Wayne Scott, 1015 Nicholson, lost control of his vehicle April 20 on West Saanich Road and barely avoided a head-on collision with an on-coming car, fined $50, licence suspended.

Laurel F. Benham, 1675 Donnelly, drove into a gravel bank April 19 on Saanich Road, fined $50, licence suspended.

$14 Million Refit

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP)—The carrier Kitty Hawk left here Wednesday for San Diego, Calif., after a $14,000,000 overhaul and conversion at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard. The navy said the giant carrier will spend today and part of Friday on sea trials, then put into Port Angeles, Wash., briefly before heading south.

PLEA FOR DONATIONS

Moore Reverses Stand on U-Fund

Jack Moore, the labor official who earlier withdrew support of the Three Universities Capital Fund, today issued a strong plea to individual members of union locals to support the fund.

Mr. Moore, who is regional president of the International Woodworkers of America, resigned his position with the mainland fund shortly after Murray Drew, Victoria president of the IWA, resigned his position with the fund.

Both of the men had been co-chairman of the employees division of the fund.

At the time they said they quit the fund because they believed the government was responsible for higher education.

In an apparent reversal, Mr. Moore said in a statement released today:

"I have expressed my willingness to assist with the campaign to the extent of contacting shop stewards in various plants to back up the in-plant solicitation."

"It is essential that we make these facilities available to our young people who have the inherent ability to absorb such education and not just the few whose parents can afford the price."

Mr. Moore also said until the governments accept their long-range responsibilities toward education, people will have to fill the gap by contributing to drives such as the Three Universities Fund.

Youth Supplied Girls With Wine

A bearded youth was fined a total of $60 Thursday in Saanich court for supplying teen-agers with liquor and failing to obey a restriction on his driver's licence.

Ralph T. Paul, 19, of 2830 Seaview Road, was fined $50 for supplying teen-age girls with a gallon of wine which he bought from the Humboldt Street liquor store.

He was fined an additional $10 when stopped on Mayfair Drive, driving without glasses.

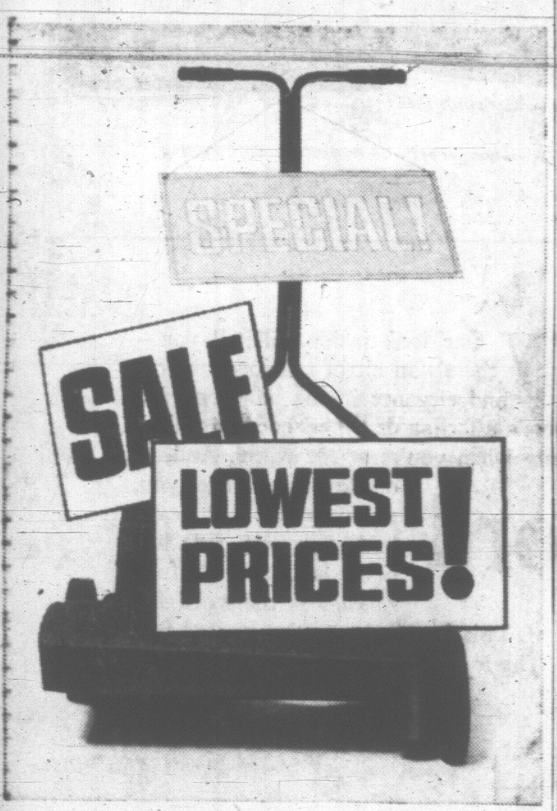
only Lawn-Boy has a 2-year warranty



that's as long as some mowers last

Power Mowers with low price tags usually have short lives and shorter warranties. Lawn-Boy has a long warranty (twice as long as anyone else's) and a long life (eight or nine years is common). In fact, if you work it out on a "what-will-it-cost-me-per-year basis," Lawn-Boy is the biggest bargain of all. But, pay what you like, you won't find any mower with all these Lawn-Boy features:

FINGER-TIP START—makes starting as easy as lifting a finger.

CLOG-PROOF GRASS-CATCHER—comes on or off in seconds, empties in a shake or two.

SPRING STEEL BLADE—has an exclusive stiffener, keeps blade level to cut level. See the 1965 Lawn-Boy at your dealer's soon.

AT THE WHEEL

Raciness Plus in the New Marlin

There was a time when car designers could satisfy the hungry public with nothing more elaborate than a tin body on wheels.

The main thing was an engine which ticked and wheels which stayed inflated.

Today it's different.

The motorist has come to expect an efficient engine. He takes for granted such things as comfort and reliability.

Consequently the multi-million dollar car sales business leans more and more towards styling.

Latest people to realize this are Rambler.

Turning Point

The car is the Marlin.

Unlike anything Rambler has produced in the past it embodies all the comfort of a family sedan, the sleek lines of a sports car and the glamor of more expensive automobiles.

There is no denying the Marlin is little more than a straight crib from the drawing boards of the Chrysler Corporation from whence the Barraccuda originated.

Although some people disagree, Rambler has made a better job of their remodelling.

One noticeable feature of the Marlin is its tear-shaped rear windows which help give the overall impression of raciness.

Short Supply

Only a few hundred will be on the market this year.

Although orders are being taken, there is no set delivery date.

"Fastback" aside, the Marlin is a competitive automobile that hits the streets at a not unreasonable price of $4,100.

The test model incorporated most of the optional equipment, including power brakes and steering, automatic shift, bucket seats, de luxe pile carpets, wire wheels, and the large 270 horse-power V-8 engine, bringing the total price to $5,234.

The floor shift has the advantage of an automatic with the control of a stick shift.

The driver has a choice of first, second and drive, allowing him to slow down by use of the revs.

The 270-horse engine is more than enough to give that extra take-off power when needed while the standard power disc brakes fitted on front provide an ever-present feeling of security.

Foam - padded, full - coil, lounge chair springs ensure a comfortable ride, especially when incoporated with the standard Rambler feature—adjustable seats which drop back to a lying position.

Surprisingly enough the swept-back treatment has made little difference to roominess in the back.

The arm-chair back seats can comfortably sit three and there is plenty of head room.

For the technically minded: Engine: 155-h.p. six; 198-h.p. V-8 or 270-h.p. V-8.

Bill Mason is an independent surveyor. He's in business for himself. So Bill needs an automobile that makes a good impression. Like shiny shoes and a sharp trouser crease. He figured he had found what he was looking for when he spotted a Buick Wildcat convertible on a Goodwill lot. Bill was impressed with the car. And the price. But it wasn't until he heard all about the Goodwill warranty that he began to think seriously about buying.

Then he checked around and found out a lot about Goodwill Used Car dealers. He liked what he found. So he bought the Buick. That was two years ago. And because he was so pleased with his Buick he has since bought a GMC Truck for his business.

Bill Mason is a successful businessman. And he knows a good thing when he sees it. That's why Bill does business with the man who displays the Goodwill sign . . . a man who's in business to stay. He sells Pontiac, Buick, Acadian and GMC Trucks And he gives the best used car deals in town.

*Based on an actual case history of a Goodwill customer.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Canadian Aviation Hits High for Year

Canadian Aviation Electronics featured trading in the industrial section of the Vancouver Stock Exchange at noon today rising $1.75 to a year's high of $19⅛.

In the mines, Consolidated Standard continued its steady climb moving up three to 30 cents on 4,500 shares after touching a high of 30½ cents. Kamloops lost five cents to 68 cents on 69,000 shares. Earlcrest gained four to 39 cents on 50,000 shares. Torwest was up four to 90 cents.

AT TORONTO industrials were lower and senior western oils bounced higher in moderately heavy mid-afternoon stock exchange trading today.

Speculative oils were active with Provo up 6 cents to $3.05 and Asamera down 20 cents to $1.85 on volume of 107,054 shares. Asamera has found oil in the North Sumatra area of Indonesia.

Canadian Superior jumped 2⅝ to a high of 25⅝, and Calgary and Edmonton 3½ to a peak of 30 among senior oils. Great Plains rose ¼ to 13½, and Hudson's Bay ⅛ to 18¾.

Hudson Bay fell ½ to 74 among senior base metals, and Falconbridge ⅛ to 99⅞. In golds, Dome declined ⅜ to 39¼.

AT MONTREAL, stocks were mixed with fractional losses and gains. Trading was moderate.

Industrial volume was 170,200 and mines and oils 1,092,300. In industrials, Asbestos slipped ⅛. Utilities were ahead slightly with Quebec Natural Gas up ⅛. Among papers, MacMillan Bloedel added ⅛ and Consolidated dropped ¼.

AT LONDON — The stock market looked brighter today. Sentiment was helped by a fresh rise in sterling.

Gilts staged a good recovery in rails, Canadian Pacific was a dull market. Abitibi, Consolidated Paper, Tri Continental and Dome Ex were all around a point lower. On the other hand Canadian Husky, Central Del Rio and Triad were among those to improve. Bowaters was again a strong market.

AT NEW YORK a slightly higher trend prevailed in the stock market late this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5,400,000 shares compared with 5,580,000 Thursday.

Gains of fractions to a point or so outnumbered losers, but not by much.

Arthur Mayse

Even though more than a day has now passed since we were flapped so rudely by Victoria's second-worst recorded earthquake, I am not going to give up my right to answer Thursday's universal question:

"Where were you when it happened?"

Well, I was in bed, that's where, mopping drearily at a streaming head cold.

Up on the road, a truck went by. Nothing strange about that. But another, much heavier vehicle was rumbling in from the southwest. Even in my bemused state, this struck me as odd, since in that quarter, there's only bush and salt water.

I looked through the window and saw the balsam flip their tops as if to a hard and sudden breeze.

Then the floor began to undulate, the bed to cavort, and while it was still bucking, I got out of there like a scared cat.

"Where were you?" I asked my wife.

"In the hall," she reported, "and I'm seasick."

In the next hour, we learned a lot about who had been where, and how they had fared in the quake. Presently the milkman jangled down the drive, and after reporting how the water had surged to and fro in the tropical fish tank, we asked the inevitable question.

"I can't say exactly where I was," the milkman told us. "In fact, I didn't know there was a quake until a customer told me." He nodded toward his laden truck.

"When you drive one of those rigs," he said, "it's like being in an earthquake every day!"

We have in this town a problem of a sort that shouldn't overtake anyone except possibly Walt Disney, who is largely responsible for it.

I refer to the way his film version of "Mary Poppins," the nursemaid who is wafted through the air by her magic umbrella, has bewitched a three-year-old viewer called Judy.

Judy's is no mere fit of running about with an umbrella pretending to fly like the marvellous Miss Poppins.

The kid is of sterner stuff . . . she's going to be airborne by her mother's umbrella; and no use to tell her that Mary P. is just a nice, made-up person in a wonderful story, darling.

The bumbershoot, of course, must be constantly open and ready for takeoff. At bedtime, this creates a spiky problem, which is made even more so by Judy's insistence on transferring to her parents' nest at earliest dawn.

"Some day Judy will grow out of this," her patient mother told me. "Anyway, we don't get jabbed so painfully since we got her a child's parasol."

Our tough black cat, Cleopatra, has come in where I am laid low, has drunk from my goldfish's bowl, and with a pass of her meathooks at my dangling foot, has returned to her kittens.

To bring you up to date, we found Cleo had birthed four of the little creatures, when with a stern air of dutiful motherhood, she fetched them out from under a shelf.

For a full day she carried each tiny squeaker — three grey and one tortoise-shell — to various hiding places in house and basement.

Then, with an assist from us, she rallied them in the front hall closet, where they continue to gain in stature, and, we hope, wisdom.

Our chief concern was the runt of the litter, whose provisional name is "Grey-Face." Cleopatra, who has surprised us by making a truly fine mamma does her best for him at the milk bar, but he loses his spigot all too easily still.

For a time, we wondered if his eyes were doomed never to open. Today, though, he cracked his peepers, and at once displayed his parentage by taking a swipe with a midget, velvet paw.

So much for this day, except to assure restaurant association chief Bill Webb, whose name got mangled here Thursday, that only by accident would I bite the hand that fed me so bountifully.

NEW PRESIDENT of Royal Jubilee Hospital board of directors is Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele. He succeeded Joseph Casey, president for the last two years, who will continue as a director. Courtney Haddock was elected vice-president and I. C. Dinning honorary treasurer.

'NUNS MUST OBEY THE POPE'

Vatican Order Behind Closure

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The Roman Catholic Church said today the "real issue" in the Good Shepherd Shelter controversy is that the nuns there must obey the Pope.

The Pope is the highest superior of all sisters and obedience is due him and the Sacred Congregation in Rome which represents him, the church said in a public statement.

The church said its action does not imply the sisters are being persecuted, that animal welfare work is being condemned or that the persons involved hate animals.

Asked for the specific reasons for the order to close the shelter by next Tuesday, Monsignor Michael O'Connell, chancellor of the Victoria diocese and spokesman for Bishop Remi de Roo in his absence, said:

- Complaints have been made by neighbors of the shelter near Albert Head to the Pope and Congregation in Rome;
- The sisters can't live an accepted religious life at the shelter so they must return to St. Mary's Priory where such a life is possible;
- In the judgment of priest who studied the situation, works being done at the shelter are not in keeping with the nuns' vocation as sisters.

Msgr. O'Connell said Rev. Andrew Keber of Mission City was appointed by Rome to study the situation.

When this authority was questioned, the Congregation in Rome wrote Bishop De Roo requesting him to inform the sisters to abide by Father Keber's decisions. This was done three days ago.

The church's statement said the shelter for abandoned animals, started at 3842 Duke Road two years ago, "has expanded to such an extent that it has an adverse affect on the lives of the families living near it."

"Many of the families living near the Good Shepherd Shelter are concerned about their rights as property owners and, in justice, the church wishes to defend publicly these rights."

At the same time, the church wished to publicly acknowledge "truly heroic work" performed by the sisters for old and sick persons at the priory.

Father Keber, contacted at the Benedictine Abby in Mission City, said the order to close still stands.

"May 4—that's the date for them to leave the shelter," he said.

If the shelter isn't closed, "there will be other steps taken."

This could mean disciplinary action against the shelter's founder, Mother Cecilia Mary, he said.

In reply this morning, Mother Cecilia, who is 75, said the church officials are "overstepping their authority."

"Obedience is to the rule of the order, not to the bishop," she said.

"We are simply going to sit tight. We are not going to close, that's certain."

She said the 24-acre property is in her own name and the sisters have property rights as well as the neighbors.

She only knew of four neighbors really opposed to the shelter, but Msgr. O'Connell said there were "many more" than four complaints.

Since last year, there have been complaints of noise from dogs from some of the neighbors.

Asked if the church was conducting a vendetta against her, she replied: "Something like that."

She said it is "quite untrue" the sisters' vows have been broken.

"It makes no difference to our vows," she said. "We are doing works of mercy. We are living the same life as at the priory."

She also said Mother Superior Ursula has been ordered to stop the $400-a-month allowance for the six nuns at the shelter after Tuesday.

She said no authority exists for Father Keber to give such an order.

Since news of the closure order was disclosed in Thursday's Times, Mother Cecilia said the telephone has rung constantly.

She said of more than 100 telephone calls, none were in support of the church's stand.

"They are all on our side. Some said they are ashamed of being Roman Catholics because of what is being done."

Animal lover Mrs. Florence Barr called Mother Cecilia "a wonderful woman" and said she and her friends think the church's action is "disgusting."

2 Plus 2 Equals 3 When Some Add Up Their Income Tax Debt

By JIM HUME
Times Business Editor

Victorians don't add well but they multiply worse.

That's the message from the income tax office as the blackest day of the year zooms to its midnight close.

C. E. Wesson, director of taxation for this area, says the major problem faced by his overworked staff at this time of the year comes from errors in adding and multiplication.

"They're not deliberate errors," he said when interviewed this morning. "It's just that some people seem to have a problem with simple addition and more have a problem with multiplying by 18 per cent to find out how much we get and how much Premier Bennett gets."

FORGET SLIPS

Other errors that slow down the processing operation arise when the faithful and efficient who file early forget to attach medical and donation receipts on their T4 slip.

"But they are very few," said Mr. Wesson.

For those who miss the midnight deadline there is a 5 per cent penalty added to the unpaid tax and interest at 6 per cent per annum as long as it remains unpaid.

There is one word of comfort for those who having added and multiplied correctly find they still owe money to the government: drop in to the income tax office and get some help in working out suitable payments.

"We have a job to do, but we're not head-hunters," said Mr. Wesson. "If anyone owes the government money after midnight tonight we would be happy to help work out a system of payments amicable to us both."

Ask The Times

Q. The increase in cost of living is stated to be 37.3 per cent since 1949. Have you the percentage for increase in wages over the same period? M.M.

A. According to a report received here recently from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the average salary of a wage-earner in the manufacturing group in 1949 was $43.97 per week.

Today he is making an average of $88.80 per week which is an increase of about 100 per cent.

Q. What's the address of the Fish and Game Commission of B.C.? S.C.

A. There is no provincial commission—it's a federal department. But the wildlife branch, department of recreation and conservation, will be able to help you.

WOODSMEN FELL PRINCE IN SORROW

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Victoria's oldest cherry tree "Black Prince" is dead.

The tree planted 101 years ago in the Elliott Street garden of Sir James Douglas, B.C.'s first governor, died at exactly 7:23 a.m. today.

Two gardeners, supervised by Leonard Butterworth, B.C. superintendent of grounds, carried out the death-dealing operation.

The only other witnesses were a raven, three robins and several song sparrows.

Death came quickly. First the gnarled branches were cut. Then a power saw sliced through its trunk. Black Prince was no

The tree situated on the Government parking lot, facing Elliott Street and west of Helmcken House, was removed to make way for the construction of a new provincial museum.

But Mr. Butterworth said it was in effect a "mercy killing."

"It was ailing," he said. "Rot had set in its trunk."

But Mr. Butterworth said Black Prince will live again.

"Two years ago we took three scions from the tree and planted them in the Government House nursery," he said. "They are all doing well."

ISLAND TALKS NEXT

Truckers End Their Strike

The mainland cartage industry shutdown was settled Thursday night and negotiations will be held with six Vancouver Island companies next week.

Drivers, helpers and warehousemen at 53 mainland companies voted 83 per cent to approve a four-year contract.

The new contract provides for an extra 80 cents an hour on a basic $2.33 and no extension of existing leasing arrangements of trucks and equipment without mutual agreement.

Wages here are 10 cents an hour less than the mainland and the union hopes to achieve parity during the next four years.

Five companies and 150 men are involved in Victoria—Heaney's, Dowell's, Capital Freightways, Ideal Fuel and Alert Service.

Negotiator for the union will be Blair Whitelock of Vancouver, president of General Truck Drivers and Helpers Union, Local 31.

The mainland agreement was reached after a strike-lockout shut down nearly 40 companies for the first time since 1919. Agreement resulted from meetings called by deputy labor minister William Sands.

Joint Project Hopes Dashed at City Hall

By AB KENT
Times City Hall Reporter

Chances of a joint Greater Victoria centennial project grew dim today as city hall discussion favored Royal Athletic Park reconstruction.

The result may be that Victoria will undertake its own permanent Canadian Centennial project.

Finance committee decided to send council delegate Ald. Robert Baird to Greater Victoria centennial committee with the invitation for other municipalities to join the city in Athletic Park restoration.

The city is committed to the task in any case, and favors the application of its own $150,000 grant toward the $300,000 estimated cost.

COUNCILS SPLIT

But the surrounding councils have expressed other ideas—Saanich favoring a major stadium complex to be built in Saanich; Esquimalt solidly in support of Gorge waterway improvement.

Oak Bay is uncommitted and Central Saanich appears uninterested in a joint project, although Reeve R. Gordon Lee has declared that he supports the idea as an individual.

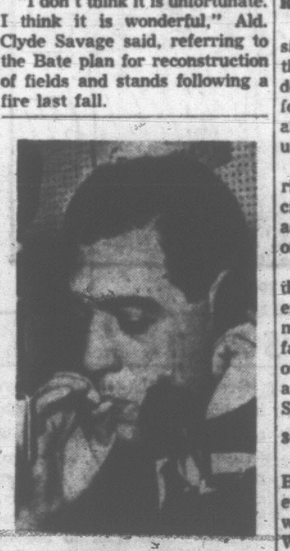
Between $420,000 and $500,000 will be available for centennial projects in the capital region.

Those favoring a stadium declare this would be enough to make a firm start, although more than $1,000,000 would be needed ultimately.

"We need Royal Athletic Park for this area," said Ald. Austin Curtis. "Whether we need a stadium is another question."

The finance chairman added, "I think we are stuck with this, unfortunately."

"I don't think it is unfortunate. I think it is wonderful," Ald. Clyde Savage said, referring to the Bate plan for reconstruction of fields and stands following a fire last fall.



CONTROVERSIAL commentator Pat Burns will speak in Victoria Wednesday. Formerly with CJOR in Vancouver, Mr. Burns is now a Vancouver Times columnist. He will address an inter-service clubs' social evening at the Ingraham Hotel at 8:30. More than 250 members of 19 clubs are expected to attend. The evening is restricted to club members. Mr. Burns was invited to Victoria by the Vic Van Isle Kinsmen.

Airing Delayed In Ferry Row; But No Strike

Decision has been delayed on whether a hearing will be set for a suspended shop steward involved in a wildcat work stoppage last week on the Queen of Esquimalt.

Civil Service Commission chairman Dr. H. M. Morrison said today, "I've just received the letter asking for a hearing and have had no time to study or consider the matter," he said today.

A potential wildcat tieup of Swartz Bay terminal this morning did not materialize over the case. Both management and B.C. Government Employees' Association officials had commented that a walkout was rumored but not confirmed.

The request for a hearing under grievance procedures was sent by the B.C. Government Employees' Association which represents the ferry crews.

REPORT DENIED

Meanwhile, Ron Worley, assistant manager of the ferry authority, issued a press release denying a report by several ferry workers. It said ferries are undermanned and personnel underpaid.

The workers charged that ferries had sailed without full crews as required by the Canada Shipping Act for protection of passengers.

Mr. Worsley countered that the crew complement of the government ferries meets requirements of the act and compares favorably with the crew numbers of the Black Ball Transport Inc. and the Washington State Ferry System.

34 PER 1,000

He said complement of the B.C. ferries is 34 crewmen for every 1,000 passengers compared with 13 on Black Ball and 27 on Washington State.

"Wages for B.C. Ferry personnel compare very favorably with other operations in B.C., namely, Northland Navigation, Canadian National Steamships and Canadian Pacific Steamships," he said.

He said B.C. Ferries' monthly pay of $355 for seamen and $335 for stewards tops the list.

B.C. crews also have numerous fringe benefits, including "protection of the regulated civil service grievance procedue," he said.

URGES PUBLIC PROTEST

Consumer Bears Brunt of 'New Drug' Advertising Costs

Flooding the market with so-called new drugs will result in chaos unless curbs are introduced, says Professor M. Pernarowski.

Dr. Pernarowski, a member of the faculty of pharmacy at the University of British Columbia, made the statement Thursday in an address to the annual meeting of the Consumers' Association of Canada.

"Many of these so-called new drugs are not new at all," he said. "They are established drugs under a new brand name. I am well aware of the importance of competition and free enterprise, but I am also alarmed at the vast number of drugs, all the same, being pushed at the public under different names. Each needs its own advertising, each its own production and labelling, and of course the consumers pick up the tab.

"Drugs are supposed to serve mankind not pad the pockets of manufacturers," he added. "I am not a socialist and I do believe in free enterprise—but I strongly deplore the methods of some drug manufacturers. Unless something is done about the introduction of new drugs the result will be chaos."

Dr. Pernarowski also criticized the methods of advertising used by many drug manufacturers.

"I have been accused of being overly-conscious of drug advertising on TV," he said. "But the fact remains that many manufacturers are misrepresenting the therapeutic value of their products. The claims for some remedies are deplorable.

"Pressure must be brought to bear on these manufacturers to accept some responsibility."

Dr. Pernarowski, a member of the federal advisory council on food and drugs to the federal government, suggested that if every TV viewer who objected to certain drug advertising fired a protest postcard to the manufacturer, television copy would soon follow.

"I have a friend in the United States who keeps a flock of postcards on hand," he said. "Every time he sees an objectionable commercial he shoots off a post-card to the manufacturer, saying he will never buy their product until the commercial is changed.

"With 10,000 more like him I think the manufacturers would soon change their ways," he said.

"If the industry does not soon change its ways voluntarily, then the government will have to make the changes for him," he said.

Dr. Pernarowski also knocked the advertising of companies producing dry cereals.

"We conducted a series of tests with dry cereals using all the well-known brands," he said. "We discovered that when mixed with milk there was very little difference in the protein content of any of them.

"And we further discovered that none of them are a good source of protein."

AT THE WHEEL

Racinéss Plus in the New Marlin

By TERRY IZZARD

There was a time when car designers could satisfy the hungry public with nothing more elaborate than a tin body on wheels.

The main thing was an engine which ticked and wheels which stayed inflated.

Today it's different.

The motorist has come to expect an efficient engine. He takes for granted such things as comfort and reliability.

Consequently the multi-million dollar car sales business leans more and more towards styling.

Latest people to realize this are Rambler.

Turning Point

The car is the Marlin.

Unlike anything Rambler has produced in the past it embodies all the comfort of a family sedan, the sleek lines of a sports car and the glamor of more expensive automobiles.

There is no denying the Marlin is little more than a straight crib from the drawing boards of the Chrysler Corporation from whence the Barracuda originated.

Rambler has done the same—the front end of the Marlin embodying the lines of their '64 Classic series, with no noticeable changes.

Although some people disagree, Rambler has made a better job of their remodelling.

One noticeable feature of the Marlin is its tear-shaped rear windows which help give the overall impression of raciness.

Short Supply

Only a few hundred will be on the market this year.

Although orders are being taken, there is no set delivery date.

"Fastback" aside, the Marlin is a competitive automobile that hits the streets at a not unreasonable price of $4,100.

The test model incorporated most of the optional equipment, including power brakes and steering, automatic shift, bucket seats, de luxe pile carpets, wire wheels, and the large 270 horse-power V-8 engine, bringing the total price to $5,234.

The floor shift has the advantage of an automatic with the control of a stick shift.

The driver has a choice of first, second and drive, allowing him to slow down by use of the revs.

The 270-horse engine is more than enough to give that extra take-off power when needed while the standard power disc brakes fitted on front provide an ever-present feeling of security.

Foam - padded, full - coil, lounge chair springs ensure a comfortable ride, especially when incoporated with the standard Rambler feature—adjustable seats which drop back to a lying position.

Surprisingly enough the swept-back treatment has made little difference to roominess in the back.

The arm-chair back seats can comfortably sit three and there is plenty of head room.

One unfortunate drawback of the sweeping rear becomes obvious when trying to park.

The narrowing rear window cuts off all view of the rear end, leaving the driver in a position where he has to guess his distance from whatever happened to be behind.

For the technically minded: Engine: 155-h.p. six; 198-h.p. V-8 or 270-h.p. V-8.

Bill Mason is an independent surveyor. He's in business for himself. So Bill needs an automobile that makes a good impression. Like shiny shoes and a sharp trouser crease. He figured he had found what he was looking for when he spotted a Buick Wildcat convertible on a Goodwill lot. Bill was impressed with the car. And the price. But it wasn't until he heard all about the Goodwill warranty that he began to think seriously about buying.

Then he checked around and found out a lot about Goodwill Used Car dealers. He liked what he found. So he bought the Buick. That was two years ago. And because he was so pleased with his Buick he has since bought a GMC Truck for his business.

Bill Mason is a successful businessman. And he knows a good thing when he sees it. That's why Bill does business with the man who displays the Goodwill sign . . . a man who's in business to stay. He sells Pontiac, Buick, Acadian and GMC Trucks. And he gives the best used car deals in town.

$12.5 Million 'Quake Damage

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—The Washington State civil defence department today estimated damage at $12,500,000 to public and private property from the jarring earthquake that rocked the State of Washington Thursday.

The department, in compiling figures obtained from local officials, said the 'quake inflicted $8,200,000 damage to private property, and another $4,200,000 to public facilities.

N.Z. Troops Available 'If Needed'

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—Defence Minister Dean Eyre of New Zealand said here tonight his government would consider sending troops to South Viet Nam "if the need arose and if the Saigon government asked for them."

U.K. Soccer Season Extended

LONDON (Reuters)—The 1965-66 English soccer season will be extended by one month to end May 28, a meeting of the English Football Association agreed today.

The extension will apply only to next season and is aimed at avoiding any congestion of schedules as a result of England's staging of the 1966 World Cup tournament July 12-30.

Bourguiba Wants to Meet Nasser

TUNIS (AP)—Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba has asked President Gamel Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic to meet with him in an attempt to iron out their bitter dispute over Arab policy toward Israel.

Quake Damage In Millions; Schools Close

SEATTLE (AP)—Washington State counted five dead today, scores injured and damage in the millions of dollars in the wake of the Pacific Northwest's worst earthquake in more than a decade.

In Seattle, the hardest hit area, Frank Brock, assistant superintendent of schools, said the loss to the system "should easily be in excess of $1,000,000."

Eight public chools were closed and two may not be back in operation for some time, he said.

Ensley Llewellyn, state civil defence director, said it was impossible to give an accurate damage estimate until reports from around the state had been compiled.

Llewellyn estimated damage to light fixtures and elevator shafts in the state Capitol building at Olympia at $200,000 and damage to road and railway in the area at possibly another $200,000.

BRIDGES SWAYED

Some roads heaved upward, others sagged downward; bridges swayed and some freeway ramps buckled as the tremor rolled through at 8:29 a.m. Thursday.

Raymond Haughton, 52, and Eugene Goulet, 40, were near a 14-storey tower at the Fisher Flouring Mills when a 50,000-gallon wooden water tank atop the structure exploded. Torrents of water and twisted timbers cascaded down upon them. Haughton died, Goulet was critically injured.

Adolphus Lewis, 60, was killed downtown when a concrete parapet fell on him.

Mrs. James Johnson, 56, of Seattle, died while talking on the telephone. Mrs. Ethel Webb, 75, Tacoma, and Zenola Lorenz, Olympia, were found dead. All were victims of heart attacks.

More than 30 persons were injured and treated at hospitals in the Seattle area. Dozens were reported to have suffered minor injuries elsewhere.

Seismologists said the earthquake registered 6.5 to 7 on the Richter scale. The Alaska earthquake of March 27, 1964 was rated at 8.3 on the Richter scale. That one killed 113.

TREMOR KILLED EIGHT

Sixteen years ago the Pacific Northwest was jolted by an earthquake that registered 7 on the scale. That tremor April 13, 1949, killed eight persons and did $25,000,000 in property damage.

The epicentre of Thursday's quake was in the vicinity of Dabob Bay on Hood Canal, about 50 miles west-northwest of Seattle.

Buildings swayed and windows rattled on Vancouver Island and 300 miles inland at Trail, B.C. It was felt in northern Idaho, western Montana and Oregon, but no injuries or

Indian Terms Rejected

A government spokesman said the Indian-Pakistan fighting could not end on terms suggested by Indian Prime Minister Shastri.

India demanded restoration of the status quo before the fighting erupted April 9. This would mean Pakistan would have to withdraw from areas it considers to be Pakistani.

London and Washington are both trying to bring an end to the fighting in the barren wasteland about 150 miles southeast of Karachi. British and American envoys in both countries have been actively working for a ceasefire.

An official Indian spokesman charged in New Delhi Thursday night that a Pakistani brigade—about 3,000 fighting men—was moving southwest from Biar Bet deeper into Indian territory in the Kutch and was being shelled by Indian guns.

Pakistani Defence Minister Y. B. Chaven would not give details of the fighting, saying "it would not be in the interests of the security of the forces fighting there."

An official Indian spokesman said the Indian Army would make a stand "at a place advantageous to us."

India has claimed 300 Pakistanis have been killed, wounded or captured. It put Indian losses at 65. The Indians also claim to have destroyed 10 U.S.-supplied Pakistani tanks.

Pakistani Maj.-Gen. Tikka Khan said 350 Indian troops have been killed. He said 45 Indians have been captured, including two officers.

Canadians Quit Santo Domingo

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has been in contact with all Canadians in the Dominican Republic to find out whether they want to be evacuated from the country because of civil strife.

The external affairs department reported today that all Canadian women and children in the capital of Santo Domingo, except for one family have been evacuated.

Marine Landing Arouses 'Bitterness' Among Latins

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The U.S. landing in the Dominican Republic aroused criticism and bitter memories among Latin Americans today. "They'll be stoning U.S. embassies all over," said one Latin American diplomat at the United Nations.

President Raul Leoni of Venezuela, in telegrams to President Arturo Illia of Argentina and Eduardo Frei of Chile, was reported to have termed the U.S. action an "invasion" and a "violation of the treaties of the Organization of American States."

Frei replied that he agreed completely.

Argentine Foreign Minister Angel Zavala Ortiz said he wouldn't pass judgment on the American action—"the Organization of American States must do that."

"Perhaps the United States had reason in this occasion to intervene in the Dominican Republic with the purpose of protecting its citizens," he said.

(Article 17 of the OAS charter states that the territory of any member state "may not be the object, even temporarily, of military occupation or of other measures of force taken by another state, directly or indirectly, on any grounds whatever.")

Frei called for "common action to bring to an end the bloodshed among the Dominican people . . . and to avoid a dictatorship of any kind."

Peruvian Foreign Minister Fernando Schwalb said it was understandable that the U.S. government wanted to protect its citizens." But, he added, "in this case this has been done in

Wilson Sets Big Gamble

LONDON (UPI)—The British Labor government announced today in a white paper it plans to nationalize 13 of Britain's biggest steel firms.

Wilson's white paper came one day after the announcement that Britain's private enterprise steel industry set a new output record in 1964 of 25.8 million tons. The industry is propelled largely by the 13 firms affected.

A nationalization bill to be presented to Parliament later is expected to touch off one of the most explosive political battles here in years. Some observers believe it could bring down the Wilson government which has only a four-vote majority in Parliament.

Wilson campaigned on a platform calling for nationalization of steel. Both the opposition Conservatives and the Liberals came out strongly against it. Wilson's majority is expected to be cut to three in a local election next Thursday—and three Laborites do not go along with steel nationalization.

The price tag is expected to run between $1.2 billion and $1.4 billion.

STATE CONTROL

A 14th firm, Richard Thomas and Baldwin, also was named in the white paper. But all but a small part of that firm was nationalized 15 years ago and has been under state ownership since. Inclusion was believed to be merely a bookkeeping detail.

The 13 firms named, plus Richard Thomas, own all 22 integrated iron and steel works in Britain and 42 other iron and steel works. From their plants come more than 90 per cent of Britain's annual production of iron ore, pig iron, crude carbon steel, heavy steel products and sheet steel.

Another 300 firms will be left in private hands but they are only the small fry of the industry.

MARINE DIES IN DOMINICAN REBEL FIGHT

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — One U.S. marine was killed and at least six others were wounded today as American troops fought beside Dominican troops against a rebel army of young civilians and soldiers.

These were the first announced marine casualties since U.S. forces landed with the announced intention of protecting U.S. lives and property in the Dominican Republic.

The marine casualties came after they moved out of their staging area at El Embajador Hotel at the edge of the sea and took over nine square miles between the hotel and the U.S. Embassy.

Dominica War Halt Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — A formula has been reached for a ceasefire in the Dominican Republic, the Organization of American States announced today.

An emergency meeting of the OAS council decided to send Secretary-General Jose A. Mora to Santo Domingo at once to help in efforts to restore peace.

The OAS announcement said that the ceasefire was to take place at a time set after various conditions are accepted.

A diplomatic source had said earlier that the papal representative in Santo Domingo had informed Mora the parties were ready to agree to a ceasefire. The OAS had asked the papal representative to check on the possibility.

Before today's fighting, estimates of casualties in the civil war ranged between 400 to more than 1,000 dead and more than 1,200 wounded.

ASKED FOR HELP

The military junta formed two days ago announced it had appealed for intervention by American troops to help restore order, but U.S. officials said action other than to protect American lives and property would require authorization from the Organization of American States.

However, President Johnson's administration was authoritatively reported in Washington to be on the alert for action to meet any Communist threat to take over the Dominican Republic or plunge it into a Communist "war of liberation."

The rebellion was launched by a group of young army artillery officers seeking to return ousted president Juan Bosch to office But U.S. officials in Santo Domingo and other observers believe no one now is in control—or could regain control—of the armed rebel bands, which include many young civilians.

U.S. officials hinted strongly that it would be necessary for U.S. troops to occupy Santo Domingo to end the fighting.

Armed with light machine-guns and other automatic weapons, several thousand rebels were reported still holding out in the centre of this bullet-

LADY CHURCHILL

Lords Seat For Lady Churchill

LONDON (Reuters) — Lady Clementine Churchill, 80-year-old widow of British wartime leader Sir Winston Churchill, was named a life peeress Friday with the right to sit in the House of Lords.

The announcement from 10 Downing Street, official residence of Prime Minister Wilson, means she is accepting an honor her husband always resisted for himself, preferring to remain a commoner.

Churchill, who was returned to office in October, 1951, after leading the Conservative party in opposition during the immediate post-war years, was knighted in 1953 when he was awarded the Order of the Garter.

However, he refused to accept a peerage entitling him to sit in the upper House of Parliament.

TO BE NEUTRAL

Lady Churchill was not expected to take a very active part in parliamentary affairs and was thought likely to sit on the cross-benches, indicating political neutrality.

She will make her first public appearance in London for some time Monday, when she will attend the premiere of a movie biography of the Duke of Windsor, A King's Story.

The announcement of her life peerage was separate from the list of 10 other life peers issued from 10 Downing Street Friday. Nine are associated with the governing Labor party, whose forces in the upper house have recently been depleted by deaths.

'Friendship Can Stand Frankness'

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

BURLINGTON, Vermont — Prime Minister Pearson said here today it was not inconsistent with good neighborhood for Canadians to be "worried at times about the decisions which the United States government may make and which are bound to affect and even involve Canadians."

The prime minister was referring to the critical situation in Viet Nam. He had just received an honorary degree of doctor of laws at the honors day convocation of the University of Vermont. It was presented by U.S. Senator George Aiken (Rep.—Vermont), a strong critic of President Johnson's bombing raids policy in Viet Nam.

Mr. Pearson reaffirmed the right of Canadians to criticize in a friendly, good-neighborly fashion the policies of the U.S.

But the speech was a far cry from the outspoken vigorous statement on American Viet Nam policy he made earlier this month in Philadelphia, proposing a "pause at the right time" in American bombing of North Viet Nam.

That Philadelphia proposal was reported from Washington to have aroused the annoyance of President Johnson. And the Burlington speech was non-controversial in comparison and contained a strong plea that Canadians and Americans continue to judge each other more criti-

FIGHT BACK WITH ORTHO!

By Monday morning, WEED-B-GON can kill your lawn weeds—roots and all!

That's right. Between now and Monday, your lawn weeds can be killed. Without hard work. Without even bending over. The miracle-worker is ORTHO WEED-B-GON.

This hormone compound forces weeds to grow. Within 48 hours, weeds actually grow themselves to death, roots and all . . . without affecting your grass. WEED-B-GON gets rid of dandelion, chickweed, thistle, plantain, dock. Even woody plants like poison oak, poison ivy, sumac and brambles are easy to kill.

Used as directed, it's safe and as easy as watering. Inexpensive, too. For $1.79, you can treat a full 5,000 square feet of lawn.

Canadians 'Prisoners' For 3 Days

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says that close to 1,000 tourists including Canadians were virtual prisoners for three days in a Santo Domingo luxury hotel during the civil strife in the Dominican Republic.

In a story by Martin Goodman from San Juan, Puerto Rico, the paper says Stanton J. Burkett of Leaside, Ont., and T. Gordon Ramsay, a Canadian living in Nassau, Bahamas, were playing golf at Santo Domingo last Saturday when shooting broke out in the capital.

Accompanied by their wives, they were attending a convention of the Master Brewers' Association of America. They were called back to the sanctuary of their hotel.

WIRE BRIEFS

Jobs Seeking Trained Men

TORONTO (CP) — William Thompson, director of the National Employment Service, says Canada is confronted with the tightest labor market for skilled workers since 1958.

Mr. Thompson said in an interview the shortage, particularly in professional and semi-professional categories, extends across Canada.

Special U.S. Message

NEW YORK (AP)—Pope Paul will deliver a special message to the American people Monday in a live television broadcast from Vatican City, via the Early Bird satellite, NBC announced today.

Canada Not Asked

OTTAWA (CP) — There has been no suggestion made to the government that Canada supply military personnel or equipment in Viet Nam, External Affairs Minister Martin said today in the Commons.

The Mexican foreign ministry, referring to previous U.S. marine occupations of the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Nicaragua and Mexico's Veracruz, the ministry said it "regrets, without disregard to the humanitarian reasons invoked, that the U.S. government has been forced to order a step which evokes painful thoughts among several countries of this hemisphere."

Latin American diplomats at the UN greeted with public reserve U.S. chief delegate Adlai E. Stevenson's letter to the Security Council stating U.S. forces had been sent to the Dominican Republic "to protect American citizens still there and to escort them to safety from the country."

But privately the diplomats predicted that the public reaction in Latin America would be bad. Some said the affair would help Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

From the Communist camp came the expected condemnations.

'PROBLEM BOYS' GET OWN SCHOOL

MILL BAY—A former Mill Bay hunting lodge is being converted into a private school for boys with "personality problems."

Mr. Merrick says it will accommodate 24 resident boys and 12 day boys in the 8-12 age group.

He said: "Each boy will work to an individual progress book and there will be a teacher for each eight boys in academic subjects."

SELF EXPRESSION

Afternoons will be devoted to "expression" subjects such as art, music and gardening.

Animal care will be part of the school program with facilities to board pets.

Mr. Merrick said while the school would stick to the basic B.C. curriculum the program would be geared to boys with personality problems. It would strive for a family atmosphere.

Mr. Merrick, a demonstration teacher at McDonald College, Montreal, before coming to Duncan, also ran a public residential school in England.

Mrs. Merrick is a registered nurse and will be school matron.

The school will be fee-paying but non-profit. Mr. Merrick expressed hope that once his school is established the provincial mental health and social welfare departments might refer boys to it.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Most people pass about three pints of liquid a day or about three pounds of liquid-waste. Now, if kidneys become sluggish, urinary irritation and bladder discomfort may follow. The result can be backache and restless nights. This is when Dodd's Kidney Pills can help bring relief. Dodd's stimulate kidney action, help relieve the irritated condition that causes the backache. Take Dodd's and see if you don't feel better, rest better. Don't wait. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills, at any drug counter. Used successfully by millions for over 70 years. Advt.

Bel and the Dragon Hotel

Send more.

They want more.

In Operation Gold Keg we're testing our celebrated beer in the pubs and taverns of England, where some of the world's best beer-drinking men are to be found.

And we're delighted to report that Englishmen class Gold Keg with the best of British beers.

Many of them hold that it's every inch as good as Younger's, Bass, Whitbread's and Worthington's.

They like Gold Keg's bouquet. They like its amber colour. They like its mellow taste.

Ah, but we expected as much.

Because we know a thing or two about beer on this side of the pond, too.

Too old to buy insurance?

Being over 65 is no barrier to the purchase of new life insurance. And for many people in their sixties or seventies it can be a very wise "buy."

Here's an example. A man age 75 has a substantial number of investments. At death, estate taxes will have to be paid. To raise the cash, income-producing assets have to be sold, often with severe losses to the beneficiaries. Life insurance can prevent this loss by providing the necessary cash.

Manufacturers Life has a sound reputation for its liberal approach to insuring older people for the purpose of estate conservation or for guaranteeing the continuity of a business. Our representatives are qualified to provide competent counsel to help our senior citizens meet these special needs.
